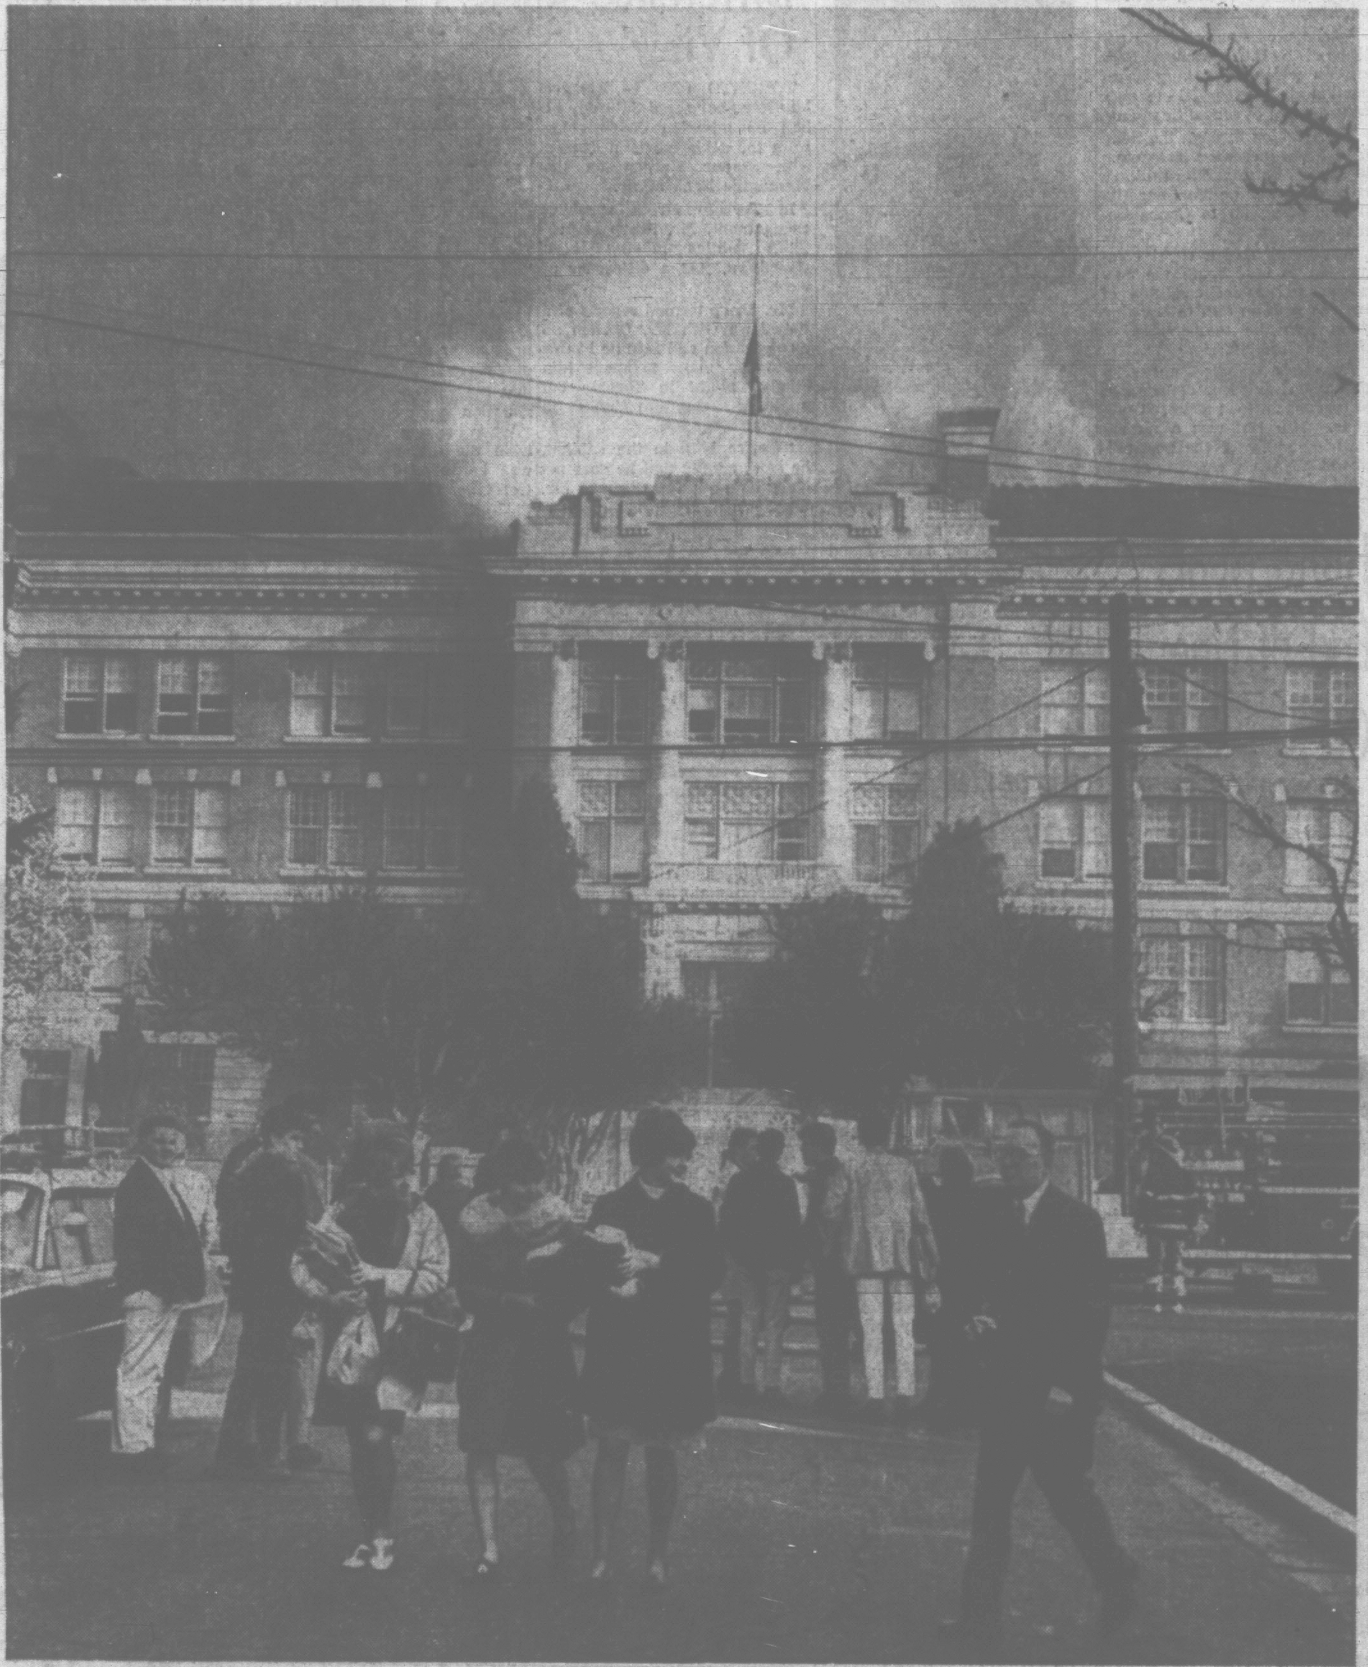
SPECIAL OBSERVANCES BY PUPILS PLANNED

British Columbia schools likely will be asked by the provincial government to hold special observances Wednesday when funeral services are held in Ottawa for Governor-General Georges Vanier.

No formal announcement was issued but there were indications that British Columbia would follow Ontario's footsteps where the education department had made the request to all schools. Premier Bennett was to pay a tribute to the late Governor-General at the opening of this afternoon's sitting.

State Funeral Wednesday For Gov.-General Vanier



CROWN OF SMOKE covered roof of four-storey Victoria High School this morning. Students arrived to find array of city and Oak Bay fire trucks surrounding school and a smouldering fire eating through attic areas. Youngsters were sent home until Tuesday. Damage in class areas was light, attic storage area was charred and blackened and rare slate tiled roof suffered when firemen battered holes for ventilation and hoses. Stricken Sunday At Age 78

OTTAWA (CP) — Georges Philias Vanier, the frail, white-haired and keen-witted army general who in 1959 became Canada's second native-born head of state, died peacefully in his bedroom at Rideau Hall Sunday.

He was stricken by a heart seizure even as three heart specialists were assessing the results of tests taken last Wedneday to determine whether the 78-year-old Governor-General was fit for the gruelling schedule of Centennial Year ceremonies due to begin next month.

A state funeral here Wednesday and a simple service in Quebec City Thursday will be held for Governor-General Vanier. He will be buried later in the chapel of the Royal 22nd Regiment at the Citadel in Quebec.

Until the 11 a.m. state funeral Wednesday at the Basilica here, his body will lie in state in the mourning-draped Senate chamber where government officials, foreign dignitaries and the general public may pay their respects.

The body of Gen. Vanier was to be taken from Rideau Hall with a mounted RCMP escort to Parliament Hill later today.

At the request of the Vanier family, the state funeral service at the Basilica will be ecumenical. It will be conducted either by Maurice Cardinal Roy or Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger with participation of representatives of other Christian denominations.

TO TELEVISE FUNERAL

The family has given approval for full television coverage of state funeral services in the Basilica here.

Following services in Quebec City's Notre Dame Basilica, the body will be placed in the church crypt until a place is prepared in the Citadel chapel.

The Senate and Commons met at 2:30 p.m. today and adjourned to Thursday afternoon after paying tribute to General Vanier.

Prime Minister Pearson said the Governor-General told him Friday that he would not be able to continue in office during Centennial Year.

The Prime Minister told a hushed House of Commons that the Governor-General's health would not have been able to sustain the rigorous pressures of the Centennial celebration.

The Prime Minister said he immediately tried to think of some way of maintaining General Vanier's association with the historic celebration.

"What we should do is give you some position which would involve nothing to tax your

Terror-Stricken, 17 Orphans Die

TANINGES, France (CP) — Fire swept through a winter sports lodge for orphan boys in the French Alps early today, killing at least 17 boys.

Eye witnesses said 26 boys and four adult employees were taken to hospitals in nearby towns with critical injuries after they jumped out of upper-floor windows.

About 120 boys were in the lodge of Taninges, a settlement of about 2,000 persons 35 miles from Annecy.

Officials said the fire raged for almost five hours. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Cries of pain and appeals echoed through the crackling of the fire as the firemen fought the blaze.

The building was a 13th-century cloister that had been converted by the haute-savoie department into a winter orphanage. The children ranged from 8 to 16 years.

The dormitories were all on the top floor of the three-storey building. The blaze spread with alarming rapidity, and the boys panicked. Many leaped from the windows, as did the orphanage director and several of his assistants.

Others, terror-stricken, raced across the countryside through the pines and snow. Still others were caught by the collapse of huge ceiling beams which supported the roof, and died in the flames.

When the fire was finally extinguished only the shell of the building was still standing.

Reinforcements Called To Quell School Blaze

By PETE LOUDON

A smouldering fire blackened the attic areas of Victoria High School early today, closing it for classes until Tuesday.

It drew the greatest array of equipment marshalled for any fire in Victoria's recent history.

Some 1,400 students and teachers watched apprehensively from the school grounds as smoke billowed high over the four storey historic brick building.

No one was injured. And while damage was heavy, teaching areas were left almost untouched.

The fires was reported at 8:10 a.m. while Victoria firemen were already fighting a fire at Smith's Cedar Products. (See Page 21) A service truck and a pump which had been in use there were immediately sent to the school.

OAK BAY CALLED

Equipment was sent in from James Bay. Oak Bay department was called and sent a pump truck and crew, then a service truck.

An aerial truck fired its metal ladders to the school's roof. A service ambulance was sent in. In a matter of minutes eight trucks surrounded the school.

Two hoses were taken in the Grant Street main entrance. About a dozen early students helped firemen wrestle them up three flights of stairs.

HOLES CUT

Two more hoses were hoisted up the sheer front of the building to ventilators on the roof where firemen hacked holes in the slate tiles.

They said the attic was black with smoke and to find the fire they had to ventilate the area, create a draft to make the flames come to life so they could see and isolate the fire.

Fans and smoke masks were brought into use.

It was 9 a.m. before Deputy Fire Chief Carl Coates was able to report, "We've got it now, I think.

"It's a mess but we're lucky it's not worse."

The deserted corridors of the school were puddled by the snaking hoses. Water dripped from the ceiling of the fourth floor. A stairway leading to the attic storage area was white with broken plaster, black with

THIEVES STEAL TRUCK LOAD OF WHISKY

MONTREAL (CP)—Thieves hijacked a $50,000 tanker truck loaded with $152,000 worth of bourbon whisky in west-end Montreal early today and were believed headed for Ontario.

The truck, owned by Mercury Tank Lines of Calgary, was stolen from a motel parking lot where drivers Gordon Wyatt, 29, and Vern Funk, 35, both of Calgary, had stopped for the weekend before delivering the liquor today.

The 5,500 gallons of bourbon had been picked up in Bardstown, Ky., Friday and was to be delivered to Melchers Distilleries Ltd. in Berthierville, 50 miles northeast of here.

There's Gnawing at Vitals Of PCs From Within: Dief

VANCOUVER (CP) — Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker lashed out at the Liberals, stressed the need for party loyalty and proposed new policies Saturday as Davie Fulton and George Hees listened.

He assailed the "mercenaries" he said were trying to undermine him and drive the party to "suicide."

But in speaking to reporters later at the British Columbia Progressive Conservative Association convention he declined to say whether he would stand for re-election as party leader.

He was not ready to announce his intentions "at this time or for some time to come."

Questioned about his reference at the start of his speech to "fellow candidates" — Mr. Hees and Mr. Fulton sat at the head table with him—Mr. Diefenbaker was noncommital.

Did this mean he was going to be a candidate at the Septemer leadership convention in Toronto?

"If you want to interpret it that way, you are entirely on your own," said the Tory chief.

"It only deepened the mystery," commented Mr. Fulton when asked for his interpretation of Mr. Diefenbaker's speech.

The 600 B.C. Conservatives gave their national leader three standing ovations as he warned the party that unity was vital and "you don't build a party by placing mercenaries in the front seats."

"The Conservative party is tearing itself apart and is in danger of committing political suicide," he said. There is a "gnawing at the vitals of the Conservative party from within."

He said he had remained silent despite personal and other attacks on him from outside and from within the party.

Turning his guns on the Liberals and Prime Minister Pearson, the Opposition leader said Mr. Pearson is going to Washington for talks with President Johnson on the condition that nothing is said about the Vietnam war.

"We need something better than a leader with putty for a spine," he said.

The cabinet was divided three ways in its economic policies, as represented by Walter Gordon, Mitchell Sharp and middle-of-the-roader Paul Martin.

Mr. Diefenbaker also attacked what he called the Liberals' two-nation policy and said Canada is one nation.

He had some words for Defence Minister Hellyer—there's a "Hellyer of a mess" in Ottawa — and repeated that the Conservatives cannot accept his armed forces unification policy.

The development of rapid transit railway lines is vital to Canada and particularly to the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts, he said, and the government should make sure that an extra rail line is built in the west through 99-year loans.

Another resolution urging marketing of liquor by private retailers was approved by a narrow margin.

However, a similar motion urging substantial reforms in liquor legislation, including an

PEACE TALK FAILURE

U.S. Blamed By Kosygin

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin said today the U.S. torpedoed "a real chance" for Vietnamese peace talks by resuming bombings after the New Year's pause.

"The United States is trying to liquidate the prospects for negotiations," Kosygin said in a speech in Moscow's Bolshoi Theatre.

Kosygin reaffirmed Kremlin support for what he said was a North Vietnamese offer of peace talks in exchange for an end to bombings north of the 17th parallel dividing North and South Vietnam.

He described as an "extremely important peace initiative" the statement of the North Vietnamese foreign minister that talks might take place after an unconditional cessation of U.S. bombings.

"A real chance had appeared to start negotiations on Vietnam," Kosygin said. "But the American government did not seize this opportunity. Trying to disguise its aggressive intentions, it resumed raids on North Vietnam. It started a bombardment by air, it increased its bombardment by the 7th Fleet."

Kosygin claimed the Johnson administration "prepared these activities" during the New Year bombing pause.

"Everyone sees," he said, "that the U.S. pronouncements on a peaceful settlement are nothing but word-mongering, calculated to deceive public opinion."

smoke and blistered by heat.

The fire was reported almost simultaneously by two early arrivals at the school, custodian Tony Grover and student Allard Van Veen, 17, of 3217 Woodsworth.

Mr. Grover had been on the fourth floor earlier and saw nothing wrong. But when he returned there at about 8 a.m. he smelled smoke, saw flames and raised an alarm, then turned off ventilator vents.

Allard Van Veen, editor of the school's newspaper had come to school early for an 8:15 a.m. meeting of the students' council. He reached the fourth floor just after 8.

"It was all smoke and ash was flying around," he said.

"I went to the attic and the whole thing was in flames."

He ran down to the first floor and pulled the fire alarm. He said the firemen were there within five minutes.

The boy said the fire appeared to be centred in a stationery storage area where a fire had broken out some months ago. He thought the door to the attic usually is locked.

"Last time we got it out with fire extinguishers."

He said he was one of about a dozen students who helped firemen drag their hoses up the stairwell.

Elsewhere in the school a teacher and some students had arrived early for a special early session in a fourth floor laboratory. They noticed smoke and saw the corridor filled with it. They quickly left through a window on to the roof of an adjoining addition to the main school. Later they were able to re-enter and come down the stairs.

INTENSE HEAT

Firemen said heat and smoke in the attic area was so intense it hampered their efforts.

When Mr. Grover had reported the fire he said the bannisters of the stairway to the attic were on fire. But when he closed the vents the flames extinguished themselves.

The flame did not re-appear until after firemen punched holes in the roof to let in oxygen, exposing the seat of the fire.

Principal Duncan Lorimer reported later this morning that classes will resume Tuesday morning, although it is possible some fourth floor rooms where water damage occurred, will not be in use.

McKinley Climbers Send Distress Sign

TALKEETNA, Alaska (AP)—Climbers from a party attempting the first winter ascent of Mount McKinley stamped an apparent medical distress signal in the snow Sunday when a plane flew over their base camp.

Two men came out of the igloo at the 10,200 - foot level supply camp when a plane piloted by Dr. Royce Morgan made a second pass over the camp. They stamped a long straight line in the snow—code for medical aid needed — and then stood beside the signal.

Bush pilot Don Sheldon later returned to the mountain in his plane, with Vin Hoeman, a rescue party leader who had been one of three observers on Morgan's earlier flight.

On another flight earlier in the day, Sheldon had spotted two climbers at the 17,300-foot level. They had stood calmly beside their brightly - colored tents and made no signal. Sheldon said he took this to mean that all was well, but he said later he isn't certain what the actual situation was.

The last voice radio contact with the party was a week ago. A faint radio click was heard last Monday, indicating the transmitter batteries were dying.

Ultimatum Delivered Mao Foes

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's supporters delivered another ultimatum to his foes today to end their opposition to avert agricultural setbacks.

The ultimatum was coupled with an offer of amnesty assuring Mao's opponents they will be welcomed back into the fold if they repent.

Red Flag, theoretical journal of the Chinese Communist party's central committee, said Mao's cultural revolution "is entering a new stage." It warned opponents if they continue to undermine the revolution, "immediate sanctions should be imposed against them and proletarian dictatorship should be excercised resolutely over them."

Red Flag's appeal to the peasants said "spring farm work is the most crucial link in the whole year's agricultural production."

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A disturbance moving southward through the interior and which had been inactive has become much more active today. Clouds have spread into parts of the interior with some snow in the central areas. Meantime along the coast the high pressure ridge still persists but moisture in the lower levels has produced considerable low cloud. These clouds will dissipate. In the interior, temperatures will be a little colder as the disturbance passes and skies will slowly clear behind it.

'Keep Singing Until I Drop' —Nelson Eddy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Nelson Eddy, the tall, handsome baritone whose voice thrilled moviegoers in the '40s, died today a few hours after being stricken during a show at a Miami Beach hotel night club.

Only last week, the 66-year-old Eddy, once the highest paid singer in the world, said he would continue working "until I drop" because "I love it."

He was at work, singing to some 400 listeners, when his voice failed and he was helped off the stage. A hospital spokesman said he apparently suffered a stroke.

Eddy was best known for a series of eight light operatic movies in which he appeared with Jeanette MacDonald, who died two years ago of a heart attack.

Miss MacDonald's soprano voice blended with Eddy's rich baritone in such shows as Naughty Marietta, May Time, Rose Marie, New Moon and Sweethearts.

Eddy recently returned from three weeks of appearances in Australia with Gale Sherwood, his night club singing partner for 14 years.

WORDS WOULDN'T COME

Sitting about six feet in front of Eddy, Mrs. Thomas Ranahan of Revere, Mass., said his voice suddenly failed.

"Would you bear with me a minute?" She said he asked his audience. "I can't seem to get the words out."

Then he said: "My face is getting numb. Is there a doctor here."

A doctor in the audience responded and Eddy was led to his dressing room.

His movie roles with Miss MacDonald placed him in such great demand that his concert price at the peak of his career rose to $15,000 and his radio fee to $5,000 for four songs.

Eddy and Miss Sherwood continually tried to use new songs in their night club and theatre act, but always the audience clamored for the old ones. He estimated he had sung Rose Marie 6,000 to 7,000 times.

Hoffa Nears End of Line On Appeals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals denied today the plea of Teamsters union President James R. Hoffa to remain free on bond instead of surrendering Tuesday to begin an eight-year prison sentence for jury-tampering.

Hoffa's lawyers were expected to go immediately to the U.S. Supreme Court with their request for an order to permit Hoffa to remain free pending motions for a new trial.

The boss of the 1,800,000-member International Brotherhood of Teamsters is scheduled to surrender to the U.S. marshal's office here Tuesday unless he can win a stay from the Supreme Court.

Hoffa, who did not appear in court, was on the telephone with his lawyers in the courthouse during most of the 40 minutes it took the three Court of Appeals judges to consider and reject his bid for continued freedom.

Justice Department lawyer Theodore George Gilinsky said "It is amazing . . . what is being asked," in view of the Supreme Court's previous rejection of Hoffa's new trial petition and the denial of continued bail by other groups.

Two attempts to prevent or at least postpone Hoffa's approaching imprisonment failed Friday. U.S. District Judge Frank R. Wilson in Chattanooga, Tenn., denied a request for a three-week delay.

MAINTAIN GRIP

While fighting to stay out of prison, Hoffa, 54, has made arrangements to keep his grip on the Teamsters as secure as possible if he goes behind bars.

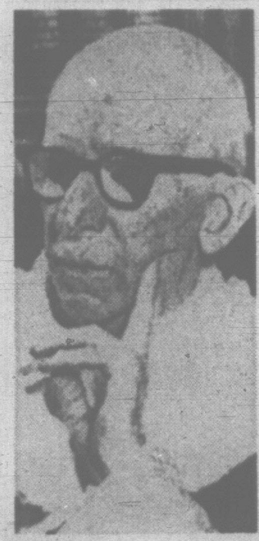
He would still hold the title of president, although he has declined to accept his regular $100,000 salary while in prison.

Primary responsibility for running the Teamsters would pass to a Hoffa man, Frank E. Fitzsimmons, 58, now the union's general vice-president.

Hoffa's plan of battle for remaining top man, even while in prison, has been a long time in making. At last year's convention of the union, for instance, he won approval of a number of changes in the constitution that make it all but impossible for him to be deposed before his term ends in 1971.

Since he would be eligible for parole in November, 1969, he might be around to run for re-election.

FORMER Speaker of the Commons, Roland D. Michener has been mentioned as possible successor to Governor-General Vanier, who died Sunday. Mr. Michener, 66, now is high commissioner to India.



SWORN in as administrator until a successor can be found to Governor-General Vanier is Chief Justice Robert Taschereau of the Supreme Court of Canada. Mr. Vanier died Sunday.

Private Rites Tuesday For Trumpy

A private memorial service will be held in West Vancouver Tuesday for the former manager of a Victoria investment house who collapsed and died while skiing in Garibaldi Park Saturday.

Until six months ago, Mr. Trumpy had been manager of Dominion Securities Corp. Ltd. in Victoria, a post which he held 5½ years.

Born in Europe of Norwegian parents, Mr. Trumpy was raised and educated in England with a brother, coming to Canada as a youth.

He went to university in Nebraska, where he graduated in chemical engineering, then worked for Cominco in Trail and Port Alice, before joining Dominion Securities in Trail. He was manager there from 1957 to 1961.

Members of the family surviving include the wife Shirley, sons Christopher, 13, and Dennis, 10; daughters Pamela, 8, and Alison, 6; father Nils, in Portugal, and brother Dennis, also in Europe.

Gordon Cuts Holiday Short But Refuses to Tell Why

TORONTO (CP)—Walter Gordon, minister without portfolio said to be embroiled in recent federal cabinet tension over the Mercantile Bank controversy, cut short his Jamaica holiday Sunday and returned to Canada.

He quickly dismissed reporters at Toronto International Airport early today by saying he was tired after a plane trip that had been delayed for five hours. He had absolutely no comment on the Mercantile affair.

However, he did say that he planned to fly to Ottawa later today and that Prime Minister Pearson had not called him back from the holiday.

Mr. Gordon would not say why he had curtailed his holiday by about a week.

It was reported from Ottawa last week that he and Finance Minister Sharp had sparked a cabinet furore over federal policy toward the Mercantile Bank, controlled by First National City Bank of New York.

Mr. Sharp returned Sunday night to Ottawa after speaking at a Liberal party meeting here Saturday. In an interview after the meeting he claimed there had been no change in federal policy toward Mercantile.

He said the principle of that policy, as recommended to and adopted by the Commons finance committee, is that First National City Bank must sell 75 per cent of its shares in Mercantile to Canadians within five years.

FEARS BUILDUP

Published reports last week said Mr. Gordon favored having First National sell 90 per cent of its shares before the end of the five-year period. He was said to fear that the bank might otherwise use the time to build up the bank and then, in 1973, ask for more time to sell.

The reports said Mr. Gordon and Mr. Sharp reached agreement that would have the First National sell 75 per cent of its Mercantile shares within five years but with the stipulation that the government review the situation each year.

When asked Saturday how wide the difference of opinion was between himself and Mr. Gordon, Mr. Sharp said:

"I really don't know. But what matters in government is the decision, not personal opinion."

Mr. Sharp took over the finance portfolio from Mr. Gordon in 1965.

Mr. Gordon was in office in 1963 when First National bought controlling shares in Mercantile from a Dutch organization.

SHARP:

'Just Difference Of View'

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp said Saturday he had no intention of resigning from the cabinet over a dispute with Walter Gordon on the Mercantile Bank affair.

In Toronto for a speaking engagement, Mr. Sharp said:

"In politics nothing is a showdown, just a difference of view."

Mr. Sharp termed reports of a showdown with Mr. Gordon an exaggeration and said he has no particular plans to meet him Sunday might in Toronto but might be seeing him Monday in Ottawa.

"Wer're both in the cabinet, he said, adding that he does not know how far apart he and Mr. Gordon are on the bank issue.

The mercantile controversy flared after a cabinet meeting Thursday and supporters of Mr. Gordon are reported to be battling against Mr. Sharp who wants to ease restrictions due to be imposed on Mercantile.

A week ago, Mr. Gordon, minister without portfolio, secured key concessions from the cabinet on Bank Act amendments to limit Mercantiles growth and reduce its united states ownership.

The two changes would force sale of Mercantile shares to Canadians before the bank could grow bigger and would induce First National City Bank of New York, sole owner of Mercantile, eventually to sell 90 per cent of its Mercantile holdings.

SCIENTISTS ASK HALT TO BOMBING

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federation of American Scientists called Saturday night for a stop to the bombing of North Vietnam.

The 2,000-member group issued what it calls a position paper and said it hoped the statement would have some effect on the U.S. government.

It urges the United States immediately "to take steps that have the possibility of leading away from escalation and toward a peaceful resolution of the war. Foremost among these are the cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam and ceasing to employ those tactics which, whether intended or not, lead to indiscriminate destruction."

PROLONGED, BLOODY PERIOD AHEAD

'Peace is Not Yet in Sight'

NEW YORK (UPI) — UN Secretary-General Thant said Sunday the United States should stop bombing North Vietnam to avoid a "prolonged and bloody" conflict in Southeast Asia.

Thant returned to New York after a 10-day vacation in his native Burma, where he conferred with two representatives of North Vietnam.

"I believe that after the cessation of bombing, peace talks would take place within a few weeks," Thant said, stressing he was revealing his own feeling rather than a suggestion made to him by the North Vietnamese in Rangoon.

"I am more than ever convinced that cessation of bombing will contribute to useful talks and meaningful negotiations," he said at Kennedy International Airport. Without a cessation, he said, "I must say the conflict is going to be prolonged and bloody. Peace is not yet in sight."

The diplomat was asked if he had a message for President Johnson.

"I do not consider I have any substantive message to the president of the United States," he said. He added his views would be transmitted to the "representatives of the governments directly involved in the conflict."

The secretary-general has frequently proposed a halt to bombing in the North followed by a de-escalation of all military activity in Vietnam.

On a stop in London earlier in the day Thant conferred with British Foreign Secretary George Brown. The UN chief said North Vietnam would probably use a pause in the bombing to build up its forces but the bombing should be stopped anyway.

Kennedy Viet Stand Backed By Brother, GOP Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mounting pressure is being placed on President Johnson to re-examine every step, including those suggested by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, which might lead to peace in Vietnam.

Sen. Jacob K. Favits (R—N.Y.) suggested Sunday that the president gave Kennedy's peace proposals something less than "the consideration they deserved" because of "political and emotional" considerations.

Kennedy, in a major senate speech last Thursday, called for an indefinite suspension of bombing raids on North Vietnam in an effort to pave the way for peace talks.

Javits, speaking in Yonkers, N.Y., noted that he and several others had advanced peace proposals similar to those made by Kennedy.

"And yet, in Washington, it is already being said that if these suggestions had any merit or chance of being accepted by the president, they have now been probably doomed, due to the advocacy of them by Sen. Kennedy.

REJECTED

"The speed with which these suggestions were rejected by the secretary of state, by the White House and by other administration spokesmen, plus the fevered activity of the administration last Thursday, would indicate to me that these proposals were hardly given the consideration they deserve," he said.

Javits said Johnson should realize personal antagonisms cannot be permitted to affect national policy.

PEACE TALKS

"There is a serious and substantial body of opinion among us which believes that a great country such as ours can afford to take yet another step in the search for peace," Javits said.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield took a similar tack Sunday, suggesting a "ceasefire and stand-fast on land, on the sea and in the air" by both sides to open the door for peace negotiations.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy (Dem.—Mass.) said Saturday night the U.S. obligation to the South Vietnamese "calls for less war, not more; negotiations soon, not later."

"I feel that we must make unusual efforts . . . in the interest of peace," Kennedy said. "There is little more to be gained militarily, for we are not going to be defeated, we are not going to be driven out, and the basic limited objective of stopping the armed seizure of the South by our adversaries now seems to have been reached."

He indicated support for the position taken by his brother.

BUS HITS MINE; 37 VIETS DEAD

SAIGON (CP) — The Viet Cong mined a bus, killing 37 Vietnamese, and shot down six U.S. helicopters as the U.S. Command announced Sunday a new policy of issuing casualty reports on specific battles in South Vietnam.

U.S. planes also bombed a fuel depot 12 to 14 miles south of Haiphong Sunday in the closest raid to North Vietnam's chief port in several weeks.

A U.S. spokesman reported a secondary explosion was set off in the raid on the Do San depot, the high point of a day of air attackes against the North hampered by worsening weather. Air force and navy planes flew 69 missions.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the Viet Cong mine blew up the bus 40 miles northwest of Saigon in Tay Ninh province, killing 37 Vietnamese civilians and wounding 15.

The U.S. command announced that 24 Americans were killed, 78 were wounded and four were missing in war operations in the last 48 hours.

A total of 46 Communist dead was reported by U.S. forces.

WORST BLUNDER OF WAR

U.S. Admits Mistake In Village Bombing

SAIGON (CP) — The United States today accepted responsibility for an accidental air attack on a South Vietnamese village Thursday in which at least 83 persons were killed.

A U.S. Command spokesman said two planes which bombed and strafed the tribal village of Lang Vei near the Laotian border were U.S. Air Force F-4 Phantom jet fighters.

He said 83 villagers were killed and another 10 are missing and 175 wounded.

But local government officials at Lang Vei said 100 persons were killed in the 25-minute attack which destroyed 70 per cent of the village.

Ironically, many of the 2,000 villagers were resettled there from outlying areas because of the protection it was to offer from the Viet Cong and the war.

LEAVE FLAME, HAVOC

Each jet made three passes at the village, dropping at least two heavy bombs and turning Lang Vei into an inferno of flames and smoke. It was the worst such accidental bombing of the war.

The U.S. Command said one bomb from the F-4 Phantoms hit a nearby U.S. Army special forces camp, causing light damage but no American casualties.

The planes were identified through flight schedules and bomb fragments.

U.S. Army Capt. John J. Duffy of San Diego, Calif., who saw the attack from the special forces camp overlooking Lang Vel, said the two jets came from the direction of Laos. The village is 2,000 yards east of the Laotian border and 23 miles south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Is the Mercedes-Benz 230S "over-engineered"? Some facts:

The Mercedes-Benz 230S exists without fancy marketing plans or piles of sales research. Its destiny rests with engineers—just as it did in 1886, when Gottlieb Daimler and Karl Benz invented the automobile.

Fervent engineering research has earned Mercedes-Benz more than 5,200 patents. And produced a unique automobile.

In fact, David E. Davis Jr., Editor of Car and Driver, has said:

"You could be blindfolded, spun around three times and dropped into a Mercedes-Benz, and when you sat down you'd know it was a Mercedes-Benz."

Since 1901 Mercedes-Benz cars have gained 4,403 racing victories. They last entered international motor racing in 1954, competed for two seasons—and won two world championships.

Welded 10,000 times

The Mercedes-Benz 230S will not age to the tune of squeaks, groans or rattles. Its body is a rigid one-piece structure—welded at ten thousand points. It is remarkably strong and twist-resistant.

Perfectionists will search in vain for flaws between body panels. All outside body seams on the 230S are hand-ground, filled with pewter, ground again and polished.

The Mercedes-Benz body is actually a patented safety feature. Front and rear sections are designed to fold if hit in a crash. They act as a shock absorber to cushion shock before it reaches the passenger area.

Inside, door handles are recessed. Twelve danger spots are safety padded—including the steering wheel hub, instrument panel edges, even the window cranks.

The feel of quality

When you drive a Mercedes-Benz 230S, you can feel its engineering quality. Every minute you're behind the wheel.

Example: The 230S uses a patented invention of Mercedes-Benz engineers—the single low-pivot swing rear axle.

First used on the Mercedes-Benz 300SLR sports racing car, the low-pivot swing axle gives the 230S an uncanny stability on rough roads, slippery roads, and during braking. Explanation:

The axle has two separate sections. These two halves move up and down independently. They swing on a single centre joint—or pivot. Here are two main advantages:

1. If one wheel hits a bump, the axle simply pivots on its joint—leaving the other wheel firmly anchored to the ground. (With the normal rigid, one-piece axle the rear wheels tend to bounce up and down together.)
2. In any car, when you brake hard, the rear end lifts. The wheels can lock—and skid. In a 230S, the swing axle keeps pushing the wheels down onto the road. They stay glued to the surface; braking is smooth and sure.

Automatic leveling

The 230S has another remarkable device invented by Mercedes-Benz engineers—a hydro-pneumatic load leveler. It actually pumps up the rear of the car—automatically.

No matter how many passengers you're carrying, or how much luggage you have in the trunk, the body stays level.

Because the load leveler compensates for such extreme conditions, springs and shock absorbers can be given a lighter, more delicate setting.

This means you get a smooth ride, without the pitching, swaying or wallowing that are the usual by-products of softness.

Stops without panic

The tough-minded Mercedes-Benz engineers think you should have more braking power than you need. The Mercedes-Benz 230S weighs 2,976 lbs.—one and a half tons. Its brakes could safely stop a car of twice the weight.

With disc brakes in front (where most of the car's weight is thrown in stopping) you face steep downhill curves or deep puddles in peace. No shuddering, no fade. And because front and rear brake systems are separately activated, you actually have two sets of brakes—as smooth as they are powerful.

"When you put the brakes on in a Mercedes-Benz, it still feels like you're putting the brakes on in an automobile—not turning a switch that's going to throw you out the windshield."—David E. Davis Jr.

Power without size

The 230S uses a six-cylinder engine with a top speed of 109 mph. Hardly awesome in this age of 400-hp hot rods.

But consider this: it is possible to accelerate the 230S smoothly and rapidly up to 90 mph, stay there, and cruise for days on end without strain (roads and speed laws permitting).

The secret of its efficiency? A single overhead camshaft engine design, a feature on Mercedes-Benz cars since 1951. American cars adopted it this year.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $27,000 to $4,510

Maybe you can afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Suggested retail prices* for 7 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:

600 Grand Mercedes 7-Passenger Limousine	$27,000
230SL Roadster	7,985
250S Sedan	6,515
230S Sedan	5,685

200 Sedan	4,510

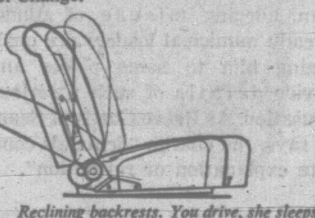
*F.O.B. Toronto. Provincial taxes extra.

The Mercedes-Benz 230S. Built to be driven—comfortably, safely and enjoyably for years and years.

Designed for people

The 230S is a surpassingly comfortable and roomy car. Despite far leaner outside dimensions, it actually provides more interior space than many seemingly larger cars.

That's because Mercedes-Benz cars are designed around their occupants. They are not shaped to a stylist's sketch, or to the illogical dictates of the Annual Model Change.



Reclining backrests. You drive, she sleeps.

The seats in Mercedes-Benz cars are designed by orthopedic physicians. They are firm seats—to prevent muscle cramp and fatigue, whether you drive 60 or 600 miles.

They are contoured to stop you from sliding around; they keep you cool through ventilation—and they never lull you to sleep.

The front seats also have backrests that recline to four positions. With the seat tilted far back, the front seat passenger can sleep in comfort while you drive.

A Great Canadian

MILLIONS OF CANADIANS did not know him, had not met him, had not seen him. Yet such were the character, the achievement and the reputation of Governor-General Georges Vanier that a sincere sense of loss and personal mourning is felt across this nation today.

There is an added sadness in the fact that the Governor-General's death came as he and the country he so deeply loved were preparing to observe the principal months of our Centenary celebrations. Few Canadians so completely epitomized the ideals and the hopes of Canada as did Georges Vanier. His adult life was one of service to his native land—in war and in peace, as a soldier, as a diplomat and in his last years as the official representative in Canada of the sovereign he so revered.

This was the official history of the man. In the memories of the many Canadians whose only contact had perforce to be through newspaper reports and photographs, through broadcasts, statements and newsreel glimpses, General Vanier lives as a soldierly yet kindly figure, a man whose innate dignity and aristocratic bearing were tempered by the smile and the wit that endeared him to those privileged to work with him. To Canadians he appeared exactly as a Canadian governor-general should.

It has been said that he had three loyalties: to Church, to Queen and to country. To these can be added a still more embracing concept: Georges Vanier had a loyalty to the inherent nobility of man, to the unity of mankind, to the abiding spirit of noblesse oblige. In his few years of retirement before accepting the highest office in the land, he and his gifted wife concerned themselves in social welfare work among the poor in Montreal. It is indicative of this trend that two of their five children are devoted to careers in assisting handicapped children. And it was this sincere interest in the welfare of the people of Canada that prompted the establishment two years ago of the Vanier Institute of the Family, set up to study the complexities of modern society and their effects on family life. Georges Vanier recognized the enduring values of this world, and ordered his own life accordingly.

One of his greatest contributions to his native land in the past few years has been his championship of Canadianism; his steadfast faith in the destiny of this nation of two major racial components and two languages, but a common ideal of democratic freedom and tolerance. The descendant of two races himself, he was admirably fitted to head our country as the representative of the Crown, and to espouse the common good of all. His last public address was to a group of students on the topic of Canadian unity.

The sympathy of the people of this community will be with Mme. Vanier and her family in their bereavement. Perhaps a fitting epitaph for this good man was his own comment at one time, that he was happy with his life and would not do anything differently if he had it to live over again. Canadians, on his record, would not have it otherwise.

Premier Bennett and the Municipalities

A LITTLE SERIOUS THOUGHT should convince Mr. Bennett and his colleagues that Friday's attack by the opposition on one measure dealing with municipalities was more than a political sally. This was an instance in which the smouldering fire of municipal resentment against provincial government treatment broke into open flame in the legislature. The fire was temporarily smothered by a Social Credit majority responsive to the premier's command, but more outbreaks undoubtedly will occur.

The flare-up revealed an area of conflict which has been spreading for years and will continue to spread until authoritative spokesmen for the government and the municipalities sit down around the table and work co-operatively on the establishment of better provincial-municipal relations—principally in the field of finance.

Mr. Bennett levelled charges at municipalities without specifying them, alleging misuse of funds. Already municipal leaders are challenging him to name places and provide details of such a serious accusation. As Reeve Curtis of Saanich says, the charge "demands complete explanation or retraction".

The weakness of the premier's overall position, of course, lies in the government's consistent refusal to enter into discussions with the municipalities on the whole problem of their financial relations. The local councils object to the manner in which pressure is exerted on their resources by the senior government, at the same time that the burden is increasing on the homeowner.

The municipalities have presented a case and the province has failed to meet it. That case largely concerns the transfer of increasing service costs to municipalities which depend so heavily for revenue on real estate taxation—a very narrow base from which to meet the requirements of today's sophisticated society.

The premier and his cabinet members never tire in their crusade against Ottawa for more generous financial treatment. Yet they set a poor example in their rejection of municipal appeals. What is needed is a thorough joint study of provincial-municipal financial arrangements—and not vote-seeking palliatives such as the homeowners' grant or well-publicized handouts to prospective house builders.

Action in the Streets

THE HUGE DEMONSTRATIONS against the neutralist policy of France which have been carried out in Saigon in recent days may be more significant than they first appeared. Although ostensibly the result of a mass rally Sunday night staged by Catholic groups, the actual sacking of the French consulate which followed was led by the Progressive Youth Movement, which is financed and controlled by Prime Minister Ky.

When the facts became known, the American Mission in Saigon Wednesday officially asked the government to call off the demonstrations. Although no American spokesman would comment for the record, news dispatches from Saigon state that the Ky government was piqued by the formation of a "coalition Vietnamese cabinet" in Paris. Among the members are a number of non-Communist exiles, including three former Vietnamese premiers. The South Vietnam ministry of information had charged that the shadow cabinet had the backing of the French government.

The demonstrations, it is believed, were organized to show the solidarity of the Vietnamese people behind the government. And this, in turn, could lead to a suspicion that solidarity which must be organized lacks authenticity. The increasing reports of student and Buddhist unrest, the cabinet crisis last month which resulted in the dismissals of the minister of defence and the deputy prime minister, and the jockeying for position preparatory to the expected mid-summer elections could mean another tense period ahead in South Vietnam's affairs.

EDUCATION WEEK HERESY

By JAMES GRAY

The Drop-Outs Who Upset the Pattern

Gray

FOR the last decade Canadian high schoolers have been bombarded by a continuing barrage of stay-in-school propaganda. The school drop-outs, the propagandists had it, were setting themselves on the road to economic and social perdition previously reserved for sweaty people with bad breath. In Calgary the other day a couple of teachers revealed the results of a study that cuts a lot of ground out from under the stay-in-school campaign.

The teachers went back to the records of six years ago and located a total of 74 young men who had dropped out of school prematurely. How were they doing? On the average, very well indeed!

The average income for all Canada in 1963-64 was $4,188.60. At the time of the interview, the drop-outs had a median income of $4,975. None earned less than $2,000, there were 13 who earned between $2,000 and $4,000 and 14 had earnings in excess of $6,000 a year.

Intent on More Education

Despite their economic progress, 58 said that they had been tempted to return to school after dropping out and all but 16 actually took additional formal schooling. Most of them said they were intent on getting more education.

One of the hazards of school leaving, in the propaganda, is the threat of intermittent unemployment between dull and lowly paid jobs. Not so, say the teachers. The drop-outs have low job mobility. They get jobs and keep them. If they decide to move, they have no trouble finding employment to their satisfaction.

What did their employers think of them. The inquiring teachers interviewed 57 employers. Over three-quarters of the drop-outs had positions which could lead to promotion. Most of them had employers or superiors who felt that the drop-outs were quite capable of advancement. In personal qualities, the drop-outs were rated quite acceptable and they were generally considered an asset by their employers.

Reappraisal in Order

The results of the survey were so at variance with stereotypes created by propaganda that the teachers said a complete reappraisal of the situation was in order. Far from being doomed to economic failure, the drop-outs are highly successful both vocationally and economically.

They quote a recent opinion of an American Sociologist that "dropping out of high school need not always be deplored, perhaps it is even a wise choice for some young people."

The Calgary teachers point out that the stay-in-school propaganda is based very largely on opinion that is unsupported by facts. They have doubts about the entire federal vocational educational program because of that. They wonder out loud whether the very qualities which compel some high school students to leave school are not the very qualities which will make them successful citizens.

They report that many of their colleagues found some of their brightest students became drop-outs and then came back to school. The one striking fact, according to the survey, was the number of drop-outs who continued their education outside the school systems.

Seek Adult Facilities

The drop-outs tend to turn to institutions that are more suited to adults than to adolescents. For example the short and intensive educational periods such as the semester plan are very popular. The teachers wonder whether this is an indication of something being amiss in the way the schools are run in the top grades, and the way the pupils are treated.

The teachers' report emphasized that something more than propaganda is required. They were impressed by the lack of enlightenment on the problem of school leaving in Canadian educational literature. In short, there has been a plethora of exhortation and a subminimum of homework.

They conclude as follows:

"One fact is obvious. Regardless of the variety of educational programs that may be offered, there is likely always to be a certain number of drop-outs. What has yet to be clearly established, pro or con, is whether it is in the interests of the drop-out to either coerce him to stay in school or encourage him to leave. Perhaps a more fruitful avenue compatible with the aims of education and which seems apparent from this study, would be to permit him more easy access to return to formal education after he has worked, if he so desires. Even here there is evidence that his return would have to be to schools specifically suited to adults. This implies a stronger and expanded basis of support for adult education than is currently the practice in Canada."

ONE MAN'S MUSIC

There's no such thing really as light music—in the great sense of the word. It's a modern name for a modern thing. It seems to be harder to write a good piece of modern light music than it is to write a good piece of modern music. And interpretation's the same. The young conductors come along but they all want to conduct symphonies and nobody wants to become a great conductor of Strauss waltzes or anything of that kind. So I feel it's a sort of dead end at the moment. I just like conducting music. Some of it people call light and some people call it serious, but I don't really recognize any difference.

Easy If You Know How

The Vancouver Sun

IT'S taken five years for Vancouver to get around to thinking about copying Victoria's ingenious formula for downtown redevelopment but that doesn't make it too late.

City planner Bill Graham suggests that Vancouver make a start by launching a downtown clean-up, paint-up campaign and that the spadework be dug by hiring three planners and a clerk at an initial cost of $39,000 a year.

Before the idea gets killed off by the same council members who thumbed down another Graham proposal to let a little light into the high-rise jungle, we'd like to give it hearty blessing and to point out that from such small acorns mighty civic oaks can grow.

Consider, as Mr. Graham did, the example of Victoria. In 1962 downtown Victoria was a faded dowager whose remaining charms were largely obscured by unskilfully appealed teen-age makeup, while real progress had been stalled for decades. But Victoria today is blooming and charming. She has recaptured much of her dignity and has also acquired a modest but impressive drive.

The transformation was brought about by a happy combination of circumstances—election of a new mayor, an imaginative planner, clever civic public relations, acquiescent voters and a receptive business community.

Transformation Core

The core of the transformation is the city's Centennial Square, including renovated city hall, with annex, a theatre, a recreation centre, a new police station, a fountain and a plaza—all for something approaching $4 million. The secret of its success is a clever mixture of making over hand-me-down buildings and new construction. This idea has been applied throughout the downtown area with enthusiastic business support. As a result other new building has boomed, too.

Any observers of downtown Vancouver should be able to appreciate the need for similar civic revival here. But how to achieve it is the puzzle. Somehow this city has been unable to discover the initiative.

This initiative, Mr. Graham feels, has to be civic. He points out that business has proved monumentally uninterested in such previous suggestions as canopied sidewalks—another successful Victoria venture.

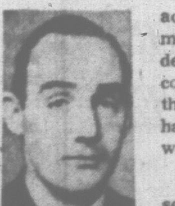
The success enjoyed by Victoria began with the election of a new mayor, R. B. Wilson, who was able to co-ordinate and sustain enthusiasm. Vancouver has recently elected a new mayor. Where's the enthusiasm?

Those somnolent traditionalists in sleepy old Victoria have taught us a lesson in civic pride. Let's be copy-cats.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Logical Analysis Versus Rule-of-Thumb



Alsop

LEAVING for the Far East, for yet another on-the-spot look at the war, this reporter finds himself obsessed with the puzzle of Robert S. McNamara. Here, to begin with, is an innovator of historic dimensions, quite on a par with Alexander the Great's hunchbacked cousin, Harpalus, who literally invented the profession of defence minister (at any rate in the West, for they had defence ministers in China long before). Yet almost no one understands the real nature of McNamara's innovations.

They chiefly have to do with what may be described as the problem of Nelson's "Victory" versus the "Poseidon" missiles. The keel of "Victory" was laid in great Chatham's wars and the ship cost a mere 70,000 pounds; yet "Victory" was still fit to serve as Nelson's flagship and to lead the British line at Trafalgar.

In contrast, America's "Polaris" submarine fleet was completed hardly more than a couple of years ago, at a cost of many billions of dollars. Yet these submarines must now be modified, at a cost of still further billions, to receive the new "Poseidon" missiles.

In other words, technological development has now accelerated to an almost frightening degree; and this acceleration in turn continuously demands new defence choices of life-and-death importance and truly staggering cost. From the time of Harpalus until the time of McNamara, however, there had been hardly any change in the old way of making defence choices.

The old way was for the services' senior officers to make defence choices by hunch, by rule of thumb, and in the light of their own past experience. This was all very well until technology accelerated too greatly. But it was by no means well, when cavalry generals began to have to make choices about airplanes, or when big-bomber generals had to make choices about missiles.

Tangled Problem

Worse still, inter-service rivalries, ingrained bad habits and the sheer vastness of the defence establishment made the problem I have been trying to define the biggest, most tangled administrative problem in the history of the U.S. government. Almost miraculously, McNamara cut straight through the tangle, with an exceedingly simple though radical solution.

Briefly, he substituted statistical compilation and logical analysis for hunch, rule-of-thumb and the dictates of by-now-always-obsolete experience. This was a wholly new way of making defence choices, never before attempted. At first it caused great pain and outrage, but it is the heart and essence of the McNamara reforms at the Pentagon.

History suggests that very great military innovations, such as the McNamara reforms, tend in the end to have very great social-political consequences. Certainly the innovations of Harpalus had such consequences, and so have many others in the past. About this matter, however, one must rather apprehensively wait and see, except in one respect.

In brief, the McNamara reforms produced completely ready, completely trained armed forces — the first such forces the U.S. has ever had in peacetime. For good or ill, this in turn produced the Vietnamese war. For we should have been most unlikely to enter the war if the armed forces had not been completely ready. And if we had entered the war with unready forces, as in Korea in 1950, the result would have been catastrophic.

McNamara's Achievement

Such, then, is the right way to measure Robert McNamara's achievement. In the light of history, it may appear still greater than it does today for the reasons above-noted. Meanwhile, however, McNamara remains a puzzle, because this strange man is not what he seems.

Far from being a human computer, as so often reported, he is exceedingly humane, generous and kindly — unless provoked to sternness by inefficiency, which he detests. Far from being narrow and mechanical, he is man of the widest interests, close, indeed, to being learned. And far from being a hawk with bloodstained talons, he has been about the strongest single influence on the side of keeping the Vietnamese war sanely limited, both in methods and in aims.

The real reason why he is an obsessive puzzle at the moment, however, is that he is obviously far less at ease as a war minister than he used to be as a defence minister. He does not speak with the same clear voice as in the past. He is reluctant to claim progress. He is hesitant to hail accomplishment.

Partly, no doubt, this is because it must always be difficult for a truly humane man to be a successful war minister. Yet one suspects in fact that the real trouble is that once you get into a war, statistical compilation and logical analysis lose much of their value, while hunch, rule-of-thumb and past experience walk in the other door. Here, perhaps, is the true source of McNamara's visible unease, which by no means diminishes the immense debt that is owing to him.

Looking Back

From The Times of March 6, 1907.

London — Interviewed by the Westminster Gazette regarding the proposed Canadian service via Newfoundland, Lord Strathcona said all that was required was a fast line of steamers over the present route.

"If we had 25-knot steamers from Southampton or Liverpool to Halifax as they have to New York, the journey across the Atlantic could be done in four days, or even a little less," he said.

Day of Reckoning Arrives For India's Congress Party

By GUY WINT

The results of India's general election are not really surprising. The Congress Party has been in power for 20 years; and for 20 years before that it dominated the scene by leading the nationalist movement against the British.

NEHRU

SHASTRI

GANDHI

All political precedents have suggested that one day India would have had its fill of Congress. The wonder is that India delayed the day so long.

Anybody watching the Indian scene since Jawaharlal Nehru's death has been aware of a sense of unreality. Neither of his two successors as the prime minister, his daughter Mrs. Indira Gandhi, or Mr. Shastri, have contributed anything to the political life of the sub-continent. Neither of them at any time seemed able to impose his or her personality upon events. The country waited for events to brush them aside. It says much for the moderation of India that this event has been a constitutional general election.

India's impatience has been helped on by the famine. This is becoming endemic in one part of India or another. Certainly, Congress has been unlucky. Natural disaster followed natural disaster. But famine or no famine, the end would have been the same.

Congress has lasted too long. India is bored with it. It cannot find anything to vote for in the monotonous speeches of Congress leaders. Of the monotonous scandals of political life it is weary. The alleged corruption of Congress has the fatal quality of being on a petty scale. The political crooks are, most of them, pigmies.

There was a precedent in the neighboring Pakistan for what has now befallen India. At Independence, the Muslim League dominated the country as Congress dominated India. Yet seven years later the league was virtually wiped out in the general elections held in Bengal. Pakistan entered on the path of instability which led to the military revolution.

The reporting from India has not been particularly sapient. Congress has been represented as due for a setback. But defeat on the present scale was not foreseen. Yet it required no special vision to see the signs, which now, in retrospect, are abundantly clear.

The general election must be studied to show what evidence there was of Hindu caste playing a baleful role. In elections in India the country has usually divided on caste lines. This is the unacknowledged factor in Indian politics. It usually escapes the notice of Western observers. Yet the interplay of the Hindu caste structure with the otherwise up-to-date political machinery has a profound importance.

Congress, in spite of its severe loss, will still be the main party in India. This may change after another general election, but not at once. For the moment it is safe at the centre, though by a very small majority, and though it has lost control of the majority of the Indian states.

It is important that Congress has not been defeated by one major rival party. Though it has suffered a humiliating reverse, it is to an opposition that is without unity. It consists of pro-Peking Communists, pro-Moscow Communists, the conservative Swatantra Party, the Hindu Jan Sangh Party, and the Socialists. These are incapable of forming a coalition.

But from now on, the forces of regionalism, the grand divisive in India, will rage unchecked. Almost certainly, Congress will be unable to control them. It has lost its power to impose its will on India. It will have become very vulnerable to blackmail from the various factions which constantly divide the party.

No longer is it a question of "if India becomes a power vacuum . . ." India is becoming so before one's eyes.

China is pressing on and getting ready to strike; Pakistan senses that the time is near for a final showdon over Kashmir; Sikkim, Bhutan, and Nepal are all feeling that the gravitational pull of Delhi has lessened; the Nagas and Mizos are intoxicated with the opportunity presented to them; the Sikhs and Madrasis are determined on using the embarrassment of the centre to build up their regional powers.

All these formidable premonitions must be gathering round the Congress leaders, and sitting on their shoulders as they take stock of their electoral defeat.

Riches of Diversity Make Canada Strong

Conclusion of remarks made by Prime Minister L. B. Pearson at the recent convocation of the University of Ottawa.

We Canadians are normally so preoccupied with action that we are not prone to reflect on the values behind our actions; on the moral forces that have shaped them in the evolution of our independent nationhood; on their sources in our unique experience with the civilizing politics of moderation and honorable compromise.

Any Canadian who looks seriously into our history will find a very real and exciting political philosophy in Canada's national experience. In 1967 we are celebrating a hundred years of that experience in Confederation.

But the two great world cultures from which Canada has evolved have been living together for much longer than that in an accommodation which, if not without its recurring problems and occasional reverses, has enabled us to tame and settle a continent and develop a political society adequate for that purpose. This is no mean achievement.

We have done it, moreover, without either of our founding cultures absorbing the other — and with both giving a good reception to the people of other great cultures of the world, who have joined our diverse national family and added to it strength and quality.

Our experience with the riches of diversity, with the politics of accommodation — something that the world needs so badly today — goes back not one century but two: all the way to 1760. This is what we are really celebrating in Canada this year, and this is what Canadianism is really all about.

State of Tension

The French thinker and writer, Albert Camus, made an important contribution to human thought by articulating the idea that moderation is a state of constant tension between the forces of movement and conflict and the forces of order and unity, that human intelligence must ever be trying to balance action between the two.

Canadianism today represents two hundred years of human experience with this kind of political and balancing moderation. This is an achievement in nationhood that is worth celebrating, even if it is not as exciting as hurling back the invader cr climbing the highest mountain. This is a heritage from which every Canadian can rightly draw inspiration in meeting the stern tests and the great opportunities of the future. It is also the kind of civilizing, outgoing nationalism that can serve the main causes of the whole community of man while serving also our own highest interests.

To serve Canadianism of this kind can satisfy the highest of aspirations of Canadians, of every generation but above all of the young men and women at our universities. For this kind of service we must have more faith and pride and confidence in ourselves and less of self-doubt and pessimism.

We must be strong in the conviction that the destiny of Canada is to unite, not divide; to share and not separate; to co-operate and not conflict; to look ahead to a new and greater destiny, not behind at the wasteland of old disputes.

We must see Canada as a whole: not merely in its parts, its divisions, its difficulties; but whole in its progress, its magnificence; as a great country with an honorable past, an exciting present and an unlimited future.

Three Medicare Lessons From Milbank Fund Study

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

(Mr. Crowe is associate professor of history at Atkinson College, York University. Mr. Fisher, a former NDP MP, lectures in Canadian government at Carleton University.)

Fisher

At 12:01 a.m. on July 1, 1962, the Saskatchewan Medical Care Insurance Act became law. At that moment most of the doctors in the province went on strike. Twenty-three days later, with the help of a flamboyant and hyperactive mediator, Lord Stephen Taylor, an agreement was reached between the doctors and the government.

As the Canadian Press reported: "Doctors say they had to give way on at least one key principle to reach Monday's agreement ending the medical care dispute. This was acceptance of a universal, compulsory medical care plan, long opposed by organized medicine as a threat to doctors' freedom."

So begings an excellent publication of the Milbank Memorial Fund of New York entitled Medical Care and Conflict in Saskatchewan. It is by Dr. Robin F. Badgley of the staff of the Milbank Fund and Dr. Samuel Wolfe, medical director of the Community Health Services Medical Group at Saskatoon.

It originated as a paper delivered to the annual meeting of the Canadian Political Science Association in 1965, and is to be followed by a full-length book by Dr. Wolfe.

It is a study of a government in bitter conflict with a profession. It was a government determined to improve the medical services which were available to the public, and then increasingly determined to defend the proposition that government must come before pressure groups, that the will of the people as expressed in an election must have priority over the will of a segment of the people.

It was a profession determined to defend what it felt to be the legitimate prerogatives of the profession, and then increasingly a profession determined to circumvent the normal processes of government.

The first lesson is that the struggle was so bitter, the entrenched medical and insurance interests so powerful, and the main beneficiaries so unorganized, that it is unlikely that any party without a streak of ideological motivation would venture to introduce universal, comprehensive, publicly administered medicare.

The second lesson is that not one of the expressed fears of the Saskatchewan doctors seems to have been justified, although the authors do state that "no meaningful studies of quality of service have been carried out to determine if the quality of services rendered has changed" for the better or for worse.

It is interesting to run through the fears of the doctors which anti-medicare newspapers in Saskatchewan (all of them) repeated and repeated every day and every edition of the crisis.

They said the costs would be sky-high. In fact, "the total administrative costs for the Saskatchewan plan are the lowest of any medical care insurance plan in Canada."

They said there would be a great rush for medical treatment, that doctors' offices would be jammed. In fact, the demands for service "have risen slowly, and evidence suggests that increased services may be due more to doctor's decisions than to patients' demands."

They said patients would get doctors they didn't want and doctors would get patients they didn't want. In fact, there has been "free selection of doctors by patient and of patient by doctor."

They said there would be a violation of a patient's privacy. In fact, "the patient's privacy has been interfered with not by government but as a result of a traditional system of payment preferred by doctors which requires them to submit a diagnosis as part of the account sent to various paying agencies."

The authors feel that the Saskatchewan government made important tactical mistakes. This is the third lesson.

* * *

The Lloyd government did not appreciate how meagre was the knowledge which the medical profession had of the processes of democratic government and generally of social and economic matters. "There are virtually no full-time social scientists on the staffs of any medical schools in Canada. Nor are doctors in training taught very much about the complexities of medical organizations and administration, and about systems for financing health care."

The government was not prepared therefore for the irresponsibility of the doctors, for the strike, for their absence of information, for the magnitude of their fears, and for the manner in which the organization doctors turned upon those members of the profession who supported or wanted to support the government.

Because of this lack of appreciation by the government "it failed to neutralize the anxieties of a proud profession." The authors also charge that the government "lacked administrative foresight on key issues," and moreover they say that "some of the wording of the Act was inept."

This is not the end of the alleged failings of the government. It is suggested that Premier Lloyd, a teacher and the minister of health, a trade unionist, were accustomed to negotiations, and assumed that the doctors would enter into bargaining, and moreover would bargain in good faith. But instead of following this familiar and rational path by which consent is gradually given and the product is gradually altered, the doctors' leaders — "a tiny group of highly organized, angry, and committed men" — declared war on the procedures by which they had most to gain but which were foreign to them.

The government is criticized for moving into medicare without having first separated out the functions of licensing, setting standards, etc., from the negotiating or trade union functions of the profession. This failure greatly enhanced the power of the "tiny group" of wilfull men who tried to veto the expressed will of the electorate.

The final failure of the government was the fact that it did nothing in the crisis to bring to bear upon the media in the form of rallies, marches, or public statements, the great fund of public support which had given it its mandate. The government rested on its dignity and on its mandate. All the activity and excitement was anti-medicare, and the anti-medicare press stoked it up. The result was that while medicare would remain the mandate would be lost.

IT'S NOT THE WAY TO DO IT

By SCOTT YOUNG
The Globe and Mail

Perhaps I am only hyper-suspicious, but I don't think that the Ontario Securities Commission should reveal itself quite so openly as a farm team of the Toronto Stock Exchange.

This, to us of the great unwashed, is the effect of the appointment that makes John R. Kimber, chairman of the OSC, new president of the stock exchange.

Isn't this kind of togetherness really what has been the matter in several of our more robber-baron type financial deals lately? To answer the question myself: It is.

●

A good example of our noble watchdog's rubber teeth where the Toronto Stock Exchange is concerned was the Prudential Finance matter, especially in its connection with the takeover of O'Brien Gold Mines 13 months ago.

In that one, the stock exchange allowed its own rules to be bent. This assisted one member of the club, J. R. Timmins and Co., to swing the stock deal that sent O'Brien Gold to Prudential, even though half of Bay Street knew where the O'Brien treasury was to go (which it did).

It is true that in the new shuffle some gentlemen of impressive qualifications have been added to the securities commission and might help there. However, one of them is David S. Beatty, who, able as he might be, is still a former governor of the stock exchange.

J. R. KIMBER

●

To get the job done, these people should be at each other's throats, not in each other's pockets.

A sardonic footnote to the Prudential-O'Brien affair was the resignation this week of Dr. Kenneth A. Roberts as O'Brien's president.

This happened exactly 13 months after Dr. Roberts, fronting the group that took over O'Brien Gold (with Prudential Finance turning out — surprise, surprise — to be the major shareholder) made all sorts of glowing promises for the company's future growth.

It just wrings the heart, doesn't it, to hear those chaps going around now saying that somehow they have to rebuild public confidence.

Drama Audiences Need An 'Affirmation of Life'

By RICHARD L. COE
The Washington Post

NEW YORK—While the intellectual critical cabala continues to moan about the outrageous indignities of being human and to deplore the fact that the public avoids what it pushes, a very hearteneing thing has been happening.

This has been the enormous pubilc acceptance of "Man of La Mancha".

"The theatre of the abusrd,' '"the theatre of cruelty,' 'and "the theatre of insanity" are favored topics of the ivory tower set whose writings become primary sources for theatrical history and contemporary honors. These same voices lament the decline of the theatre and the obtuseness of the public.

"Man of La Mancha," besides being creatively imaginative, is above all an affirmation.

Yes, the setting is a jail, the central character veers on madness, subsidiary figures include thieves and rapists and the principal girl is a self-loathing harlot.

But through this glowing work runs something diametrically opposed to prevailing conclusons about life as a slimy gutter. In Joe Darion's lyrics and to Mitch Leigh's ascending melody, the title character sings:

To dream the impossible dream,
To fight the unbeatable foe,
To bear with unbearable sorrow,
To run where the brave dare not go . . .
To reach the unreachable star,
Though you know it's impossibly high,
To live with your heart striving upward
To a far, unattainable sky!

Thus, "Man of La Mancha" shouts Yes to life, recognizing the harsh realities but declining the fashinable negatives.

To me it is positively astounding that people can seriously discuss the plight of today's narrowed theatre without taking into account the relation of philosophy and audience. Yet, you don't find any of the "serious" critics taking "Man of La Mancha" seriously.

Because it's "only a musical," Dale Wasserman's richly resourceful script is never mentioned in the same breath with Edward Albee, John Osborn, Peter Weiss, Beckett, Genet, Sartre or the one-shot shockers which dub their authors as "white hopes," albeit briefly.

And "only a musical": What kind of nonsense is this? Tevye, of "Fiddler on the Roof," also has his impossible dream. What is more philosophical than "Mame's" cry: "Life is a banquet and most poor sons of bitches are starving to death!" Dolly Levi, musicalized from Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker," preaches that "money is like manure. For things to grow it has to be spread around."

Quite apart from the ingenuity with which these most popular works of our decade have been staged and the zest with which they are acted, these affirmative notions are just as philosophical as conclusions that life is a stacked deck.

This is where the masses are infinitely smarter than the deep thinkers. The mass of people have every reason to supsect that the cards are stacked, the dice loaded. From ivory tower comfort this is viewed as shuddery news.

What people wish to know from their theatre and film going are reasons for living. Why should they spend time, money or enthusiasm to be told they are better off dead?

Of course this does not mean that happy endings, pink miasmas, "sheer entertainment" or escapism are the only fields for drama or that tragedy is too stark for comfort.

"West Side Story" was certainly tragic. It stemmed from "Romeo and Juliet" and Shakespeare took that from French and Italian sources. Oedipus murdered his father and married his mother but the drama's effectiveness lies in his growing awareness of forces outside himself, not in his introspection. The meaning of tragedy does not stick in a character's inward gropings but breathes in his relationship to life outside himself.

Thus, the triumph of Wasserman's gradually evolved musical play lies in the relationship of Cervantes to his ultimate brainchild, Don Quixote. What little is known of Cervantes' life (he died within 10 days of Shakespear's death) indicates failure, harassments and poverty. His final gesture was to characterize the illusion, the quest, the impossible dream, as Mr. Wasserman calls it, and it was this which brought immortality.

So, "Man of La Mancha" tells both stories. With imaginative power which took the patience of some years to achieve, Mr. Wasserman places Cervantes in one of the inquisition jails he occupied so frequently. There he tells of Don Quixote, this imaginary character who sees beyond the obvious to discover reasons for zestful living.

The concept, which grew from a 90-minute TV special, embraces some of the most vital facets of contemporary theatre. The thrust stage gathers audience into play. The shifting backwards and forwards in time (so eloquently vital to the works of Arthur Miller and Tennessee Williams) are precise enough to avoid confusions. The break from realistic settings, the use of characters to embody other characters, even placing the orchestra on stage are as contemporary as the most ardent avant-gardist could dream.

JOSE FERRER
. . . fought for role

Though he is the official star, Jose Ferrer takes the unstarlike view that this for him is never a vehicle. Because he recognized the work as a whole he fought for the opportunity to play an extraordinarily demanding role. There are any number of good, major roles and as Aldonza, Maura K. Wedge is magnificently stirring.

But the root of this work's triumph lies in its philosophy, its belief in the glowing wonder of man, its defiant contempt for negation.

Those who bemoan the theatre's dwindling audiences on a diet of nihilist philosophy may be too self-involved to grasp the obvious: that for affirmation there is widespread hunger.

'Superbly Qualified' Successor to Husband

OTTAWA (CP)—Mme. Pauline Vanier would be a singularly fitting successor to her husband as the Queen's representative in Canada, Charlotte Whitton said Sunday in a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson.

The former mayor of Ottawa suggested that Mr. Pearson recommend the appointment of Mme. Vanier, 68, as Governor-General to fill out the unexpired extended term of her late husband. She would be the first woman to represent the Queen as a governor-general in the Commonwealth.

"In her own right, Her Excellency is fully competent and superbly qualified in personality, charm and experience to represent the Crown, which she has already done in her past diplomatic service," Miss Whitton said.

* * *

During the almost 7½ years that Governor-General Vanier represented the Queen in Canada, it was a husband-and-wife team of Georges and Pauline that did the work.

The couple was rarely separated, except when he went to a function that was strictly stag, or she presided at a women's affair.

The Governor-General repeatedly referred to the help he had throughout his lifetime from the tall, gracious lady, whom he married in 1921. She was Pauline Archer, daughter of Mr. Justice Charles Archer and Therese de Salaberry of Montreal.

MRS. VANIER WITH PIPE-SMOKING INDIAN
. . . taken during first tour of northern Canada

Mme. Vanier was educated at Sacre Coeur Convent in Montreal and by private tutors. She has honorary degrees from the University of King's College, Halifax, and the University of Ottawa. She became chancellor of the University of Ottawa in 1965.

Mms. Vanier was closely associated with her husband's official duties as soldier, diplomat and statesman. During the First World War she worked strenuously for the Red Cross and St. John Ambulance Corps.

* * *

She was official representative of the Canadian Red Cross in France during the early part of the Second World War. While her husband was in retirement in Montreal before becoming Governor-General in 1959, the two worked in social welfare in the slums of Montreal.

As the Governor-General's consort, Mme. Vanier was invariably at ease, genuinely interested in people and things, and — like her husband — equally at home speaking French or English.

Under her direction, much of Government House was redecorated. Examples of Canadian sculpture were displayed in the main rotunda, an aide-de-camp's smoking room was furnished by early Canadian pine, and the great state ballroom was refurnished in cream and gold.

'Proud He Was a Canadian'

OTTAWA (CP) — President Johnson of the United States offered his deepest sympathy to Canada today on the death of Governor-General Vanier.

His message sent to Prime Minister Pearson said:

"On behalf of my countrymen I extend to you and all Canadians our deepest sympathy. Georges P. Vanier was a distinguished soldier, diplomat and statesman. All of you were justly proud that he was a Canadian.

"He was a wise and humane citizen of the world. He does also belong to the world and is no lost to it. It is ineeed a sad day."

All Faiths Asked to Service At St. Andrew's Wednesday

VANIER, PREMIER BENNETT DURING '65 VISIT

Clergy of all faiths are being invited to a memorial service for Governor-General Georges Vanier in St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral Wednesday at 11 a.m.

They will include Anglican Archbishop Harold Sexton and Rev. Dr. Samuel Parsons, president of Greater Victoria Council of Churches.

Most Rev. Remi De Roo, Roman Catholic Bishop of Victoria, will attend the state funeral in Ottawa.

The service in St. Andrew's will take the form of a concelebration mass conducted by Monsignor Michael O'Connell, chancellor of the Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria.

Representing the province will be Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan and B.C. Liberal Leader Ray Perrault.

Mayor Hugh Stephen of Victoria, the reeves of municipalities and heads of the armed services and the RCMP will attend.

GUARD OF HONOR

The eulogy will be given by Very Rev. William Bulloch, rector of St. Andrew's Cathedral, and Archbishop Sexton. The 4th degree Knights of Columbus, in full ceremonial costume, will form guard of honor.

Students from Victoria's Roman Catholic schools will attend the service.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes was shaken by the news Sunday morning.

"His sudden death is a shock to us all," Mr. Pearkes said. "He was a great Canadian who served his country for many years in the Army, as a diplomat and as governor-general of Canada."

Said Bishop De Ross:

"I have never known a man in whom human values and personal integrity were more splendidly harmonized with the demands of Christian principles.

"His passing is a great loss to the nation as a whole. At the same time his memory will live on as an outstanding citizen and exemplary Christian."

Governor-General Vanier's last visit to Victoria, with Madame Vanier, in June 1965 is remembered as a particularly happy occasion.

They arrived at the airport in brilliant sunshine and were welcomed by hundreds of school children waving Maple Leaf flags.

HERE IN 1965

After being received by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes and Premier and Mrs. Bennett, the Vaniers drove to the city and were greeted by cheering, flag-waving citizens.

The same afternoon the governor-general opened the new Maritime Museum of British Columbia in the old Victoria Courthouse on Bastion Square.

Outside, they stopped to chat with pensioners, old soldiers and men and women in wheelchairs.

During their two-day visit, Governor-General and Mrs. Vanier were received at the City Hall by then mayor R. B. Wilson; and Roman Catholic Bishop De Roo at St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral.

They also attended mass in the little church of Saint John Baptiste, 301 Richmond.

BIG WELCOME

They received a rousing welcome from students at the University of Victoria and were entertained at dinner by Rear-Admiral Michael Stirling, flag Officer Pacific Coast, and officers of the Pacific Command at HMCS Naden.

Addressing a crowded luncheon in the Empress Hotel, Major-General Vanier made a ringing plea for Canadian unity. He also advocated intermarriage between the provinces, with special reference to B.C., Ontario and Quebec.

"Marriage settles all kinds of problems — national and international," he said.

strength," he told Gen. Vanier last Friday night.

The solution, Mr. Pearson thought, was to send the governor-general to Quebec City as "Keeper of the Citadel" during 1967.

"It would have been a small tribute to a man who had, in his lifetime, been the keeper of the citadel of truth and faith and honor," Mr Pearson told the Commons.

Now the late governor-general will remain forever in the Citadel of Quebec, guarded by his own Royal 22nd Regiment.

The body will be carried by a motor-driven hearse behind a mounted escort through the streets of the capital to Parliament Hill along the same route taken by the Queen's representative when he opened Parliament.

It is planned to permit the public to file past the closed coffin, draped with Gen. Vanier's cap and sword, until 10 p.m. Monday or later, if necessary.

A vigil guard of the three armed services and the RCMP will keep watch day and night during the lying-in-state in the Senate chamber.

On the ceremonial processions Wednesday and again in Quebec City, the guard of honor accompanying Gen. Vanier will be drawn from the Van Doos, the regiment the Governor-General helped form during the First World War.

Prime Minister Pearson and a number of his cabinet will travel on the special funeral train to Quebec City for the services there.

A Roman Catholic priest who had been celebrating mass in the Rideau Hall chapel was called to Gen. Vanier's side Sunday morning and administered the last sacrament of the church. The priest, Canon Hermes Guindon, also was able to give Gen. Vanier holy communion a few moments before he lost consciousness.

The end came at 11:20 a.m. EST. It was announced just over an hour later by Prime Minister Pearson.

Gen. Vanier underwent extensive surgery last October for an obstruction of the urinary system. He recovered satisfactorily and had resumed many of his official duties, the last an address Thursday to about 75 students from the University of Montreal on a tour of Rideau Hall.

Mr. Pearson, who has the task of recommending to the Queen the next Governor-General, was at his cottage on Harrington Lake, 20 miles north of the capital, when he was told of Gen. Vanier's death.

QUEEN TOLD OF DEATH

He phoned Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace and followed the call with a formal telegram to London confirming the death.

The prime minister and his wife later went to the Governor-General's residence, just across the street from their own Sussex Drive home, to offer their sympathy to Mme. Vanier.

The Queen said in a return message that she and her husband were "deeply distressed."

"We send our deepest sympathy to you and to the Canadian government and people in the loss of this most distinguished Canadian," she said.

Chief Justice Robert Taschereau of the Supreme Court of Canada was sworn in as administrator Sunday night to take over the duties of Governor-General until Gen. Vanier's successor takes office.

Gen. Vanier was the first Governor-General to die in office since 1940 when Lord Tweedsmuir suffered fatal injuries in a fall at Rideau Hall that followed the blocking of an artery in his brain. Tweedsmuir, better known as author John Buchan, died in Montreal following a brain operation five days later.

Although he was already 71 when former prime minister Diefenbaker appointed him to succeed Vincent Massey, first Canadian to hold the office, Gen. Vanier brought a lively, inquisitive mind and a captivating sense of humor to the vice-regal duties.

He and his tall, charming wife won the admiration and affection of tens of thousands of ordinary Canadians during their frequent tours of the provinces and the scores of functions they attended.

DELIGHTED CHILDREN

Children were his special delight and one of the happiest events of the year at Rideau Hall was the annual Christmas party for homeless children when the usual formalities were cast aside for a tumult of jokes, games and songs around a table laden with treats.

On the more dignified occasions, Gen. Vanier spoke with warmth and emotion of three things to which he devoted his public life.

In one of his first speeches as Governor-General, delivered in Ottawa Dec. 10, 1959, he said:

"I think I should mention three subjects which will interest me very particularly during my term of office: Unity, a country marching shoulder to shoulder; youth, the mighty leaven which raises the nation to greatness; and spirit, as distinct from materialism."

Of the latter, he said:

"I am happy to live in this age, and I envy you who are younger than I, who will live the next 50 years more or less to witness and take part in the struggle between the robot and the soul."

One of his proudest achievements was the establishment of the Vanier Institute of the Family, designed to study the sociological problems of modern family life and reverse the trend towards a general loosening of traditional family ties.

His fluent command of English and French, made masterful by his slow, deep and incisive speaking voice, stemmed from a boyhood in a bilingual home. His father, Philias Vanier, was a well-to-do Montreal real estate man and his mother, Margaret Maloney, of Irish descent.

FOUNDER OF VAN DOOS

After his family, his faith and his nation, Gen. Vanier's regiment was very close to his heart. He was a founding member of the Royal 22nd Regiment—the famed Van Doo—and won the Distinguished Service Order while serving with the unit in France in 1915.

His First World War heroism also brought the Military Cross and Bar for outstanding bravery—and cost him his right leg, severed above the knee by a German bomb just 2½ months before the fighting ended.

Between the wars he was Canadian minister in Paris when the German armies swept into France in 1940. He escaped to the coast and spent seven hours tossing in the Bay of Biscay before the Canadian destroyer Fraser picked him up with his companions.

Back in Canada, Gen. Vanier became a member of the U.S.-Canada joint defence board and commanded the Quebec military district until 1942.

SERVED IN FRANCE

In 1943 he went to London as Canadian minister to European governments in exile and to Gen. de Gaulle's French committee of national liberation. After the war he was ambassador to France for nine years.

He was retired from the diplomatic service when the call came to assume the Governor-General's duties, the first French - Canadian or Roman Catholic so honored.

At his side when he died were his wife and two of their five children — Jean, an expert in mental retardation who works among children in France, and Michael, a translator in the Privy Council office and a political science student.

The other Vanier children are Georges, a Trappist monk in Oka, Que.; Bernard, an artist in Paris, and Therese, a pediatrician at St. Thomas hospital in London, England.

Gen. Vanier would have been 79 on St. George's Day, April 23.

Across Land, Round World Vanier Tributes Pour In

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Queen and commoner, statesman and churchman joined in tributes to Gen. Georges Philias Vanier, Canada's 19th Governor-General, who died Sunday morning.

Messages of sympathy have been pouring into Ottawa from across the land and around the world, led by a cable from Queen Elizabeth expressing her "distress at the loss of this most distinguished Canadian."

Prime Minister Pearson said: "In its 100 years Canada has had no more devoted and courageous a servant than Gen. Georges Philias Vanier. His whole life is a shining record of that service. He never failed any test of duty, in peace or war."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who appointed Gen. Vanier to the country's highest post in 1959, said: "The memory of his life of service will be cherished for generations to come."

The British and French governments sent formal messages of sympathy recalling his outstanding diplomatic service in London and Paris.

Prime Minister Wilson of Britain paid tribute to Governor-General Vanier as a "great Canadian" and "great gentleman."

Prime Minister Pearson released the text of a message from the British leader. It said:

"I have just learned the sad news of Gen. Vanier's death. On behalf of the government and the people of the United Kingdom, I would wish to send you my most sincere condolences on the loss of this great Canadian and this great gentleman.

"It is sad that after so many years of distinguished service in so many capacities he should have died in the year of Canada's centenary. Please convey my deep sympathy to Mme. Vanier."

RECALL FRIENDSHIP

President de Gaulle of France today recalled his friendship with the Governor-General in a message of condolences to Mme. Vanier.

"Gen. Vanier was for me a companion and a friend," the message said. "His death saddens me deeply. In this cruel blow, my wife joins me in extending to you our deep sympathy."

Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, Roman Catholic archbishop of Montreal, spoke of "the integrity of the man . . . the valiance of the soldier and the dignity of the diplomat."

Gen. Jean V. Allard, chief of the defence staff, said Gen. Vanier's death was "a sad occasion for all of the armed forces."

Vincent Massey, his predecessor as Governor-General, said: "I have lost an old and dear friend and Canada has lost a great public servant."

Another former Governor-General, Earl Alexander of Tunis, called him "a dear man and a great citizen of Canada."

Lieutenant - governors of the provinces and premiers expressed their sense of loss at Gen. Vanier's death and paid tribute to the contribution he had made to Canada.

STRONG FAMILY WILLED NATION

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Wilder Penfield, president of the Vanier Institute of the Family, said Sunday he saw Governor-General Georges Vanier the day before Gen. Vanier died.

The Governor - General gave Dr. Penfield "a sort of spiritual will," the institute head said in a Sunday interview.

Former director of the Montreal Neurological Institute, the doctor said he had three conversations with the Governor-General Saturday.

"He wanted me to write a letter for him to the people of Canada about the Vanier Institute of the Family," Dr. Penfield said in a written statement. "He loved the people, and his last thought was for them and for the project that he had meant to be his legacy to Canadians. . . ."

Dr. Penfield described the institute's goal as being to "strengthen the family in Canada." He quoted the Governor-General as saying that inspiration for the institute came from Mme. Vanier.

"Although he knew just how ill he was and that the end could come suddenly, and without further warning, from a heart perilously near failure, he nevertheless wanted to write out a sort of spiritual will," Dr. Penfield said.

Governor - General Vanier "visualized a group of specially-trained men and women studying family problems in every province and helping parents with education and training in their home, and will help to create a stronger family life.

"He wanted the people, the poor as well as the rich, to know that the institute to which we had given his name would help them and he wanted them to feel that they had a hand in establishing it.

"He believed that the family is where crime and delinquency must be prevented, where character is formed, discipline learned and happiness and security found. And he was right.

"He wanted to finish this Centennial Year on the firing line of service for his country."

Will funeral expenses add to your family's burden during bereavement? There's a way to be sure that they won't: the Canada Purple Shield Plan, underwritten by Pierce National Life Insurance Company. For just a few cents a day, this plan gives you and your family the peace of mind of knowing that funeral expenses will be met.

TOP OTTAWA IMAGE MAKER

Hellyer Aide Charming But Can Be Ruthless

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—William M. (Bill) Lee, 42, has been variously described as Dr. Goebbels and as the best image-maker in the capital, where images are important to politicians.

The executive assistant to Defence Minister Hellyer for the last 3½ years has helped to boost his minister into contention for the Liberal leadership when Prime Minister Pearson retires.

In Ottawa, executive assistants are usually unseen and unheard publicly. Mr. Lee is different. He's seen everywhere and he talks everywhere. He not only helps write Mr. Hellyer's speeches but delivers speeches of his own.

During the current Commons defence committee study of the armed forces unification bill, Mr. Lee is always in the room or just outside it, producing material for Liberal MPs or advising them on questions to ask.

There's nothing surreptitious about his operations. They are right out in the open.

Opposition members have often wondered aloud in the Commons who makes defence policy — Mr. Hellyer or his ubiquitous aide.

BACKED STAFF CUT

Nearly everyone concedes that the boyish-looking Mr. Lee can charm a person out of his shoes. But it is also said he can be ruthless.

During his five years as director of RCAF public relations from 1958 to 1963, Mr. Lee built up a big staff not only to tell Canadians what the air force was doing but also to sell policies the RCAF wanted to push through the chiefs of staff committee and the cabinet.

In June, 1963, when he became Mr. Hellyer's assistant, the minister was casting around for a quick example of his policy of staff reductions at defence headquarters.

The first to get the chop was RCAF public relations. Mr. Lee said publicly it was ridiculous that the air force should have such a large public relations staff.

Mr. Hellyer has fully repaid Mr. Lee's devotion to him.

He has said in the Commons that opposition members would be well advised to read Mr. Lee's speeches — they might learn something—or indeed to invite Mr. Lee to write their own speeches.

LEE
. . . ubiquitous

Terry Nugent, Conservative MP for Edmonton Strathcona, recently referred to Mr. Lee in the committee as Goebbels.

He identified Mr. Lee as the defence spokesman in a newspaper article that appeared during last year's unification battle and which, in effect, branded the navy's officer corps as a group of Captain Blighs.

Mr. Lee has not confirmed or denied he was the spokesman.

As a result of this and other incidents, Mr. Lee has made a great number of enemies in the military and has become as controversial a figure here as Mr. Hellyer himself.

But there is no doubt that he has done more than any person, Mr. Hellyer excepted, to drive through the policies of integration and unification.

Regardllss of opinions, there is no known case where Mr. Lee gave a newspaper man information he knew to be wrong.

WAS RCAF NAVIGATOR

Lee was born in Hamilton and joined the RCAF in 1943, becoming a navigator in ferry command. He stayed in the air force after the war and turned to public relations. He is married with four children.

He handled press arrangements for Canada during President Kennedy's visit to Ottawa in 1961 and for the NATO ministerial meeting here in 1963. He has been active in national United Appeal campaigns.

He reached the rank of group captain but retired from the air force and received more than $10,000 under the early retirement grant scheme. He is paid $15,000 a year in his present job.

Mr. Lee considered running as a Liberal in the last election campaign in his home town of Hamilton. But he decided to stay with Mr. Hellyer until the unification bill was passed by Parliament.

He is expected to move on soon but says he doesn't yet know where.

Servicemen Get More Expense Cash

Servicemen will compete with salesmen in the realm of expense account living in future.

The defence department has announced increased accommodation and meal expenses for the away-from-base serviceman.

The new expenses agreement is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Under the plan, officers and men will be able to claim actual (and reasonable) expenses for lodgings plus $6 a day for meals.

Outside Canada the meal allowance will be $7.50.

This means officers will normally be able to claim $12.50 a day for lodgings and men $9.50.

AN EXTRA $2

Outside Canada an extra $2 will be allowed.

And under special circumstances authority may be granted to exceed this sum.

This is the first change in lodging allowance since 1950 and the first change in meals since 1958.

Previously officers with the rank of colonel or equivalent and below received $9.50 to $11 a day to cover accommodation and meals. Enlisted men received $7.75 to $8.50.

Brigadiers and equivalent and above, who were formerly entitled to $13 a day travelling allowance will now be reimbursed actual (and reasonable) expenses under the travelling regulations of the public service.

PROTESTS RAISED IN GUYANA

'Too Many Strings on Aid From Canada'

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (Reuters) — The weekly New Nation newspaper of the ruling People's National Congress in Guyana, says Canadian aid seems to have more strings attached to it than any other country.

It says Canada has announced a number of aid projects to Guyana, but in every case aid is tied to Canadian produce and Canadian personnel, so more an more thinking people are asking whether Guyana is becoming a colony of Canada.

"Canadian influence at the University of Guyana is feared by many Guyanese students, who say it's on the increase," New Nation adds.

"The Guyanese people will not tolerate a 'Canadian' university merely because of Canadian aid."

The newspaper says in accepting Canadian aid, Guyana ties herself down to buying in a high priced market.

"Guyana is believed to be under new pressures from Canada and Britain. Canadians are reported to be demanding Canadian contractors for Canadian aid. Britain, for its share of aid is believed to be demanding 'British' interest."

Children love to help when Johnny Dale's at work

Johnny Dale is a B.C. Telephone Company installer, one of 700 people who connect customer telephones to the company's $475 million communications network.

Johnny Dale loves children, even when they're reaching for the pliers he carries on his hip as he goes about his work. He has great patience with their curiosity.

He also has an understanding approach to the desire of the very young to help out. And he lets them—in the little ways which make them feel important and leave them unaware that they are being removed from under foot so he can pursue his task unhindered.

Johnny Dale is a telephone man, one of the 700 installation and repair men among the more than 7,200 people employed by the B.C. Telephone Company. He is typical of the carefully selected and trained individuals who meet company customers, and often their children, face to face in their homes and businesses.

Children Like Johnny

Children seem to like Johnny as much as he likes them. They follow him around when he comes to their house to put in a telephone. They examine his service truck. They watch him as he buckles on his belt and climbing spikes to scale a pole and make a line connection. And they press in closely to witness the activity as he hooks up the telephone set inside.

"When their curiosity gets too intense," says Johnny, "I give them something to do. I ask them to take the telephone directory to their mother or to carry an empty carton to the waste basket. They're happy helping the telephone man and when they return they generally stand back quietly and wait for another job."

This is just one of the tricks of the trade for Johnny Dale and the other B.C. Telephone installation and repair men.

Some come naturally, like Johnny's love for children. Others are acquired or developed—through technical instruction in the company's plant training school; through special courses in customer relations; and through experience, both on and off the job.

Johnny, son of a long-time B.C. Telephone employee, developed an interest in the telephone industry when he was a child. He acquired the skills of his craft through company training programs, in which he has participated regularly since he began his career in 1957.

Experience Teaches Too

He has learned instinctively how to react when a dog nips at his leg while he's being assured the animal won't bite, and he's become adept at leaving housewives at ease in their chores when his arrival has caught them unprepared for visitors.

He's learned a lot about children in his own home in Burnaby, where he and his wife, Rose Marie, are raising three youngsters of their own. And he's learned a lot on the job.

Installers are busy telephone people. The number of telephones in service in the B.C. Telephone system shows a net increase of about 50,000 each year, but this represents only a fraction of the company's installation jobs. Johnny Dale and his fellow telephone installers make more than 200,000 installations each year to connect new customers and reconnect old customers who move to new locations.

In doing so, they encounter thousands of situations in homes and offices in dozens of communities throughout British Columbia. Like Johnny Dale, they learn to accept them all as a matter of course.

Telephone people are like that. They have a job to do and they are dedicated to doing it well so that British Columbians may enjoy modern, efficient telephone communication service so vital today.

A FAMILIAR RING

The name Johnny Dale may stir a familiar ring among B.C. lacrosse fans of a generation ago. It should.

The senior Johnny Dale, a telephone man for 35 years, who now is a supervisor in B.C. Telephone's Reproduction and Distribution Service, was an outstanding player with the Province Bluebirds of the senior Inter-City Lacrosse League.

When his son, pictured here, was born in Vancouver 27 years ago, he was named Dennis Patrick Dale. But the name didn't stick.

Family friends nicknamed the youngster Little Johnny and the nickname stuck so well that the senior Dale had his son's legal name changed to Dennis John. He's been Little Johnny Dale ever since.

NOT JUST ONE WEEK

Year-Round Talkers Needed for Schools

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Because this is Education Week a good many people have suddenly become vocal. After reading or listening to the results, the average person is tempted to believe that every Tom, Dick and Harry is an expert.

Forbes

They went to school and they look back to the days of the old oaken bucket when our country was largely agricultural.

They remember a time when children travelled on foot or on horseback and school was a rest from home chores or farm labor. They regret the change from the tough intellectual discipline of the days when only the elite went to school.

Or else they know all about schools because of the experiences of sons and daughters, grandsons or granddaughters.

If it does nothing else this surge of opinions, this wish to be vocal, points to the fact that we are living in a time of flux and of change. And there is the possibility that from such voices will eventually come new approaches and new conditions to augment, if not replace, the old.

We are told that education is now the largest growth industry in Canada. Perhaps that is why it is so constantly under fire.

But industry or not it must be remembered that today it encompasses not only elementary, secondary and university training but also the retraining of men and women seeking to resume studies and increase vocational and professional skills.

★ ★ ★

As automation expands there will be an even bigger retraining job. New types and new kinds of educational programs will be necessary. We already see this in the insatiable demand for engineers and technicians.

Also our universities are inundated with students with a resulting dramatic problem in the scarcity of university teachers.

If Tom, Dick and Harry would press for more teachers, more scientists, more technicians and for increased training in other areas — and make it stick — they would be doing a great service not only for this generation but for the millions who will populate Canada in the 21st century.

First however, these men and women must accept the premise that initial training in any occupation is no longer training for life and that constantly renewed effort is demanded if an individual is to maintain occupational competence.

They must remember that Canada's sustained economic growth requires the constructive use of all potential resources of brainpower — women as well as men.

And they must look squarely at the general pattern of life today — formal schooling, employment, marriage, children and for women, a subsequent return to work when the young are of school age or older.

This pattern underlines the need for more and more flexibility in educational programs.

The challenge, of course is to define the resources and adjustments required and to work out programs that will enable persons in all age groups to come to terms with the changes in this modern society.

We need year-round "idea" men and women. Not just those who become vocal during Education Week. We have such men and women in Canada. For that matter, they are right here in Victoria. Surely they will be attracted to a philosophy such as this.

Somehow or another ways must be found to gather children into more intimate classes. To inaugurate programs that are not only strenuous but enticing. To adopt more flexibility and to find more resources in the community to take the burden off the school and leave teachers free to teach.

Certainly it's a big challenge. But it's not really fantastic. Nor is it impossible.

VISITING Victoria Wednesday will be Mary Whale, Toronto, executive director of overseas missions to the Presbyterian Church in Canada. She will speak on the symbolism of Expo '67—man, his world and his mission—at 53rd annual meeting of the B.C. synodical of the Women's Missionary Society at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Members Named To Special Health Committee

The names of members of a special departmental committee to help reorganize the mental health services were announced Friday by Health Minister Wesley Black.

Chairman will be Dr. F. G. Tucker, deputy director of B.C.'s Mental Health Services.

Other members are Dr. G. R. F. Elliot, deputy provincial health officer; J. W. Mainguay, director of hospital consultation, and Alex Porteous, one of Mr. Black's administrative assistants.

Mr. Black said he deplored efforts by some persons to portray the province's mental health services "as being in a mess."

"They are not in a mess," he said.

"We have problems coming to the fore and the whole department is suffering as a result of these," he said, but added that the department "has an excellent staff."

IN 'LIVING BLOOD RED'

Extra Showing March 20 of Car Safety Film

A dramatic road safety program launched recently by Saanich police is packin' 'em in.

So much so that officers, who intended presenting the program to the public just twice a month, have now scheduled an extra showing.

At the heart of the program is a film, Mechanized Death, which shows in living blood red what happens in major traffic accidents.

The film, together with displays and brief talks, has been well received when taken to high schools throughout Saanich.

Two public showings last week packed the Saanich court room and programs on March 13 and 25 are booked solid.

"We're going to make sure that everyone who wants to, sees it," said Constable Bill Chisholm Friday in announcing an extra program has been scheduled for Monday evening, March 20.

But because the court room only holds 80, police are asking those who want to attend to complete an application form available at the police station alongside the municipal offices on Vernon Avenue.

The application notes that children under 14 should not attend.

Constable Chisholm said police are pleased to see some parents are making it a family affair and bringing their older teen-aged children. In some cases teen-agers are persuading their parents to join them.

OWNER SOUGHT FOR MONEY IN BANK

Items found last week and turned over to area police:

A sum of money, found in the Oak Bay branch of the Bank of Montreal Wednesday and being held by Oak Bay police.

Officers behind the Tweed Curtain are also holding a woman's black umbrella.

City police want to locate John Steven of Winnipeg, staying somewhere in the Greater Victoria area. They have a card holder with some personal papers of his in it.

Officers at the Fisgard Street station are also waiting for someone to claim a two-gallon water fire extinguisher, a lady's wrist watch, a boy's olive green jacket, a wallet with the name Rosemarie Adele Leader in it and a sum of money, found at Fort and Davie.

SHE'LL BE WORKING FOR LESS MONEY IN NEW JOB

Betty Won't Be Embarrassed Now

By FRANK CORMIER

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Betty Furness, the latest addition to President Johnson's personal staff, says her new job is "absolutely irresistible"—though it means a cut in pay.

BETTY

Miss Furness, best known for her role in television commercials, will make $26,000 a year as Johnson's special assistant for consumer affairs.

When she was selling refrigerators, stoves and other appliances on television, she earned $100,000 a year.

A candid woman, Miss Furness concedes that one makes "an embarrassing lot of money" doing TV commercials. She says she has "done nothing but work for less money" since she stopped selling appliances.

Miss Furness did her last commercial on election night 1960. Since then she's been doing radio shows for the Columbia Broadcasting System—Ask Betty Furness was the latest.

EXUDES PERSONALITY

Now 51, and a widowed grandmother, Miss Furness projects personality-plus, as reporters here discovered during the weekend when she held a press conference following the announcement of her White House job.

Asked if she had any ambitions to campaign later for elective office, she threw up her hands and exclaimed:

"Oh, come on now, fella! I haven't even got a foot in Washington yet."

Esther Peterson formerly held the job Miss Furness now holds. The White House said Mrs. Peterson now will be able to devote full time to her regular job as an assistant secretary of labor.

Now read what's in it for you

This is where the party is. Canada's birthday party. Katimavik (Eskimo for "meeting place") is the giant inverted pyramid at the heart of the Canada Pavilion at Expo 67. Where you, and all the world, are invited to see this country of ours, as it has never been seen before.

It's all here, in 125 separate exhibits spread over 11 acres. The sweep of this vast land, and the opportunities. The long road we've come. And where we're going from here.

There's a serious side — a challenge to your imagination, an enriching experience for you and your family. There's a lighter side — the fun and laughter, the music, song and dance of all the people who came here, and became Canadians.

You could spend days in the Canada Pavilion, and still find new things to see. Watch an icebreaker free a trapped freighter. Take in the shows at the revolving theatre and the outdoor amphitheatre. Dine on Buffalo steak or Arctic Char. Leave the small fry at the Children's Creative Centre for an hour or two, while you relax.

And, of course, besides the Canada Pavilion there are the Pavilions of the Provinces, the Pavilions of some 70 foreign nations, 11 fascinating Theme buildings, the enchanting pleasure gardens of La Ronde — a whole world of interest and excitement.

You'll never see, or experience, anything like Expo 67 again, anywhere. The celebrations start on April 28th, for six months only. Plan your visit now. See you in the Katimavik.

Your Expo 67 Passport will admit you to the pavilions of 70 nations, as well as the theme, provincial and industry pavilions. In all, you can see any or all of well over 100 pavilions, without paying a nickel extra. Rides on the inter-island Expo Express are also free, as is much of the feast of entertainment.

At the reduced advance prices, a Weekly Passport (7 consecutive days) costs $9.00, a Day Passport $2.20 or a Season Passport $25.00. Also reduced Youth tickets for 13-21 age group, and half price for children 2-12 on April 28th. Buy them at banks, travel agents Famous Players Theatres, transportation companies, service clubs, women's associations, labour groups, or wherever you see the Expo 67 sign.

Save 33⅓% with Bonus Books, too. They include vouchers you can exchange for refreshments, rides and special entertainment events. Get big discounts by buying now. Ask for Bonus Books wherever you buy your Passports.

Accommodations are guaranteed, at government-controlled rates, by the official bureau LOGEXPO. Reserve now for widest choice. Write — mentioning dates and type of accommodations preferred — to LOGEXPO, Expo 67, Montreal, P.Q.

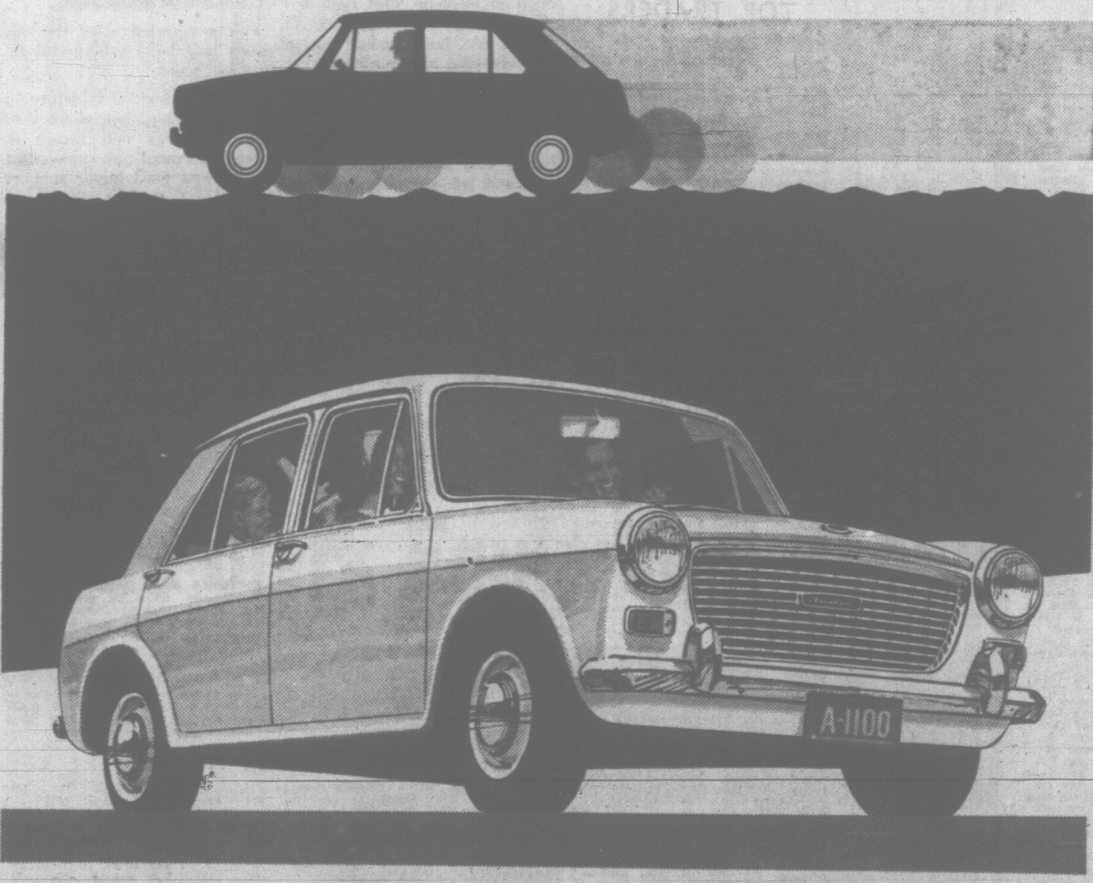
A car with Hydrolastic Suspension flattens the bumps, floats you over potholes, does it without squeaking, steers easier, drives safer, cuts maintenance costs, and never needs springs or shocks.

The AUSTIN 1100 has Hydrolastic Suspension.



Add Hydrolastic Suspension to Austin's other advanced engineering features—front-wheel drive for better traction; sideways-mounted engine for more passenger and luggage space; disc brakes for safer, fade-free stopping—and you've got a combination of safety, comfort and performance features you won't find in any other car. $2065*

*Suggested retail price p.o.e. Vancouver, including seat belts, heater, defroster, directional signals and windshield washers.

The Austin 1100 features hermetically sealed, absolutely maintenance-free suspension, using a liquid 'cushion' in place of costly springs and shock absorbers. Each wheel acts independently. Rear suspension also features anti-pitch and anti-roll bars. The Austin 1100 is economical to drive; delivers approximately 37 miles to the gallon.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain prices were firm in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Most of the dealings were confined to oilseeds with flax disclosing small export buying in early trade, but no confirmation was received at the close. Flax aided rallies in rapeseed and hedging sales were light in both commodities.

Some activity was reported in barley and although there was evidence of shipping interest, no business was confirmed.

Rye showed rallying tendencies and received some stimulation from upturns in Chicago wheat and rye.

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures prices advanced more than 4 cents on a wave of bullish sentiment that affected all other grain futures prices on the Chicago board of trade today.

Prices receded after the advance had been established up to about noon.

Continued lack of moisture in the winter-wheat belt of the U.S. southwest was one factor in wheat's forward movement. But it also had good buyer support from local traders and commercial interests. Purchases for export were virtually negligible.

CRASH PROPHET R. BABSON DIES

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP)—Roger Ward Babson, 91, well-known founder of Babson's Reports, Inc., and one of the few financial leaders to predict the 1929 depression, died Sunday night.

BABSON
. . . the great bear

A resident of Wellesley, Mass. where he founded the Babson Educational Institute to train young men in business and finance, he died of natural causes at his winter home in Lake Wales.

Lake Wales also is the site of Babson Park, a village and business research facility he established to train women in finance and practical economics.

He began Babson's Reports, a statistical service which has representatives in more than 100 cities in Canada, the United States and abroad, in 1903 at Wellesley with eight clients who paid $12.50 a month.

Sept. 5, 1929, when the New York stock market hit record highs and bullish brokers foresaw contined prosperity, Babson predicted the market crash which came Oct. 29.

Millions at Stake In Under-Sea Gas

LONDON (AP)—Millions are at stake in a penny-ante game between the government and international oil companies on the price for Britain's newly-discovered natural gas reserves under the North Sea.

The difference between what the oil companies will accept and the government's gas council will pay has been narrowed to about a penny — about 1¼ cents.

Gas is a nationalized industry in Britain. Despite the absence of the profit motive, it competes keenly against nationalized coal and electricity for the consumer and industrial market.

The discovery of natural gas under the North Sea was what the industry was waiting for. Gas now provides about one-seventh of Britain's energy requirements, or about 1,000,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Power Minister Richard Marsh recently reported the North Sea reserves might produce 2,000,000,000 cubic feet a day by 1970—enough to provide for all the increase expected in Britain's fuel demands.

Power prices in Britain are measured in therms — the amount of power needed to generate a specific amount of heat. One hundred cubic feet of gas produces one therm, and it now costs the gas council about 10 pence to produce one therm from coal, imported oil or naphthalene, an oil byproduct.

Fuel oil is much cheaper than gas. It costs about 4.2 pence a therm in bulk but has to be imported and represents a continuing drain on Britain's balance of payments. The gas council wants to bring the cost of gas below that of oil and persuade industry to change over.

Gas could provide the basis for a whole range of industries along Britain's North Sea coast, parallelling the expansion of the U.S. Texas Gulf coast on natural gas.

The gas council's first offer amounted to 1.8 pence a therm for deliveries of 500,000,000 cubic feet a day. The oil companies rejected this and said at that price they wouldn't recoup their investments for at least a decade. The companies' proposed price has never been disclosed, but it is believed to have been about four pence a thermor just high enough so that gas could not undercut the oil they also sell.

The spread is reported to have narrowed to something between 2.5 and 3.25 pence.

The bargaining cannot go on for too long because the spring weather is the time to start laying pipelines. The oil companies hope for a more favorable price as the warm-weather deadline approaches.

The pilot talks are between the gas council and a consortium composed of Shell and Esso. They should set the pattern for wells drilled by Phillips, Burmah, British Petroleum, and a consortium composed of Amoco (a subsidiary of Standard Oil of Indiana), Amerada, Texas Eastern—and the gas council itself.

Consumer Protest Group Endorses Kraft Boycott

OTTAWA (CP) — Mrs. Gwen Robertson of Ottawa, acting president, said last week the Canadian Consumers Protest Association has endorsed a boycott of Kraft food products to protest a $100,000 prize contest.

Mrs. Robertson, who said the association has about 30 groups, said the boycott started with the Lakehead group and now has been endorsed by the national body.

"Because of the huge and costly promotional campaign . . . we chose to boycott Kraft food products at this particular time," she said in a press statement. A general lowering of prices would be more in order," she said.

New Loading Mark

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pacific Great Eastern Railway carloadings in January and February reached 12,706, a record for the first two months of any year in the line's 55-year history, the PGE said Sunday.

Mill Growth At Kamloops Cheers MLA

By AB KENT
Times Business Editor

Fears of over-capacity in the northwestern pulp industry appear to be ended, legislative forestry chairman Cyril Shelford said at the weekend.

Commenting Sunday on a tour of western Washington operations of the Weyerhaeuser Co. by his forestry committee, Mr. Shelford said there are plans to quadruple the capacity of Kamloops Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd. mill.

Weyerhaueser, which owns 51 per cent of the operation, began feasibility studies on mill expansion even before the plant was finished in 1965.

Mr. Shelford said the announcement was made by Weyerhaeuser vice-president of wood manufacturing, F. Lowry Wyatt, of Tacoma.

TWO YEARS

The Kamloops mill has a current capacity of 250 tons per day and would expand "within two years" to 1,000 tons of pulp product a day.

The B.C. portion of the pulp industry bas been cautious in the last 12-18 months about softening of the world pulp market, a situation which now seems to have passed.

SHELFORD
. . . guest of firm

Mr. Shelford and a dozen members of his legislative committee spent Saturday and Sunday as guests of Weyerhaeuser to see how intensive forest management is carried out in the vicinity of its Clemmons tree farm area.

IMPRESSED

Mr. Shelford said he was impressed by the amount of research the Weyerhaeuser company is doing — both in the field and at laboratories in Centralia — and by the way in which alder has become a valuable crop tree instead of a weed.

He said the application of alder to the woods industry will be important to B.C. in about two years. It is being cut for both lumber and pulp in Washington.

WASTE AREAS

"We have too many waste acres now," he said, referring to areas where alder can be raised.

Mr. Shelford said the trip was particularly successful from the point of view of "getting together with other people and discussing problems so that when we run into them we will know the cheapest way to overcome them."

'Outmoded Laws Hamper Business'

HAMILTON (CP) — Canadian business is being hampered by outmoded tariff laws and other legislation that is out of step with the business environment of the world, says Harold M. Griffith, president of the Steel Co. of Canada Ltd.

Lower Profit Noted By B.C. Forest

VANCOUVER (CP)—Higher sales but lower profits were reported Sunday by British Columbia Forest Products, Ltd.

Sales hit $98,493,600 in 1966 but earnings declined to $10,203,500 or $2.80 per share. The 1965 figures were $87,139,900 in sales, and $10,728,500 or $3.10 per share in profits.

The annual report to shareholders said an increased effective tax rate helped reduce earnings.

Chairman T. N. Beaupre said that "as a result of market factors, your company is not likely to enjoy any substantial over-all improvement in the price it receives for its products in the current year."

He said cost of labor, materials and transportation are increasing at a rate that is alarming "because it exceeds the rate at which we are able to improve the productivity of our facilities despite the judicious use of substantial new capital."

BEHIND THE WHEEL with Peter Pollen

"Just Four Minutes Allowed for Car Safety" — that's what did it! That's the final straw! I've decided to become a champion of the down trodden automobile manufacturers.

Now about this 'four minutes allowed for safety'. That's what a president of a United Auto Workers local told a House of Commons Committee in Ottawa the other day: a car manufacturer takes only four minutes to check a car's safety. What nonsense! Like so much of this safety screeching it is unadulterated nonsense.

The automobile manufacturer safety controls primarily during the manufacturing process. Parts and components are tested and re-tested for strength and durability. The individual components of the car are then transported to the assembly plant. During assembly, each stage is quality controlled as the car is being put together. When assembled, the car is put through 'final inspection' and shipped to the automobile dealer who has purchased it. (Very few cars are ever built that have not been ordered specifically by a dealer.)

The new car arrives at the dealership where it undergoes a pre-delivery inspection. This inspection, rigidly scheduled by the manufacturer, takes as many as twelve hours to perform, depending upon the type of car. The pre-delivery inspection is invariably done by highly specialized technical personnel in an automobile dealership.

I'm proud to be associated with these big bad giants, particularly old Henry. He gave my grandparents freedom—freedom from the bonds of the homestead, freedom to travel on a small income, freedom to see our country. And it was freedom at a small price! Today, it's the same, except our insatiable taste for luxury has placed the car we want a little higher in price than the Model T or A. But there are better cars for less money, in real dollars, being sold today than in the good old days. And who ever heard of a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty in those days?

But that's enough for today. Some tomorrow, I'd like to talk about safety on the highway, safety equipment, the Corvair and Mr. Nader, my years with Ford, evasive capability, defensive driving, your old car, testing centres, the drunken driver, who causes the accidents, the car or the driver? and many other topics.

MOORE

IWA Chief Interested In One-Union Project

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America, said Saturday his union is interested in one union in the forest industry, including the pulp and paper divisions.

He said the IWA, if successful in its application as bargaining agent for a new pulp mill at Gold River on Vancouver Island, plans certification applications "in every new operation that comes up."

Mr. Moore said the IWA has for years tried to merge with the pulp union to create one strong union representing all employees in the forest industries.

"They would never take us seriously but the situation that has developed right now in B.C. is that the pulp unions are fighting it out to such an extent that neither one has any strength."

He said the pulp unions — the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers and the independent Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada — will have no bargaining strength "until one side or another merges with all the mills."

"Last year when we were negotiating we had meetings with both the pulp groups, we got the same answer from both of them, that if the employers offered 5 per cent they would have to accept it because neither was strong enough to do anything else.

"We made a deal that they would stall negotiations and let us take the industry on because we were equipped to do it."

The IWA eventually settled for a wage increase of more than eight per cent a year or 40 cents an hour in two years. The pulp unions also settled for 40 cents over two years.

Meeting Asked To Sort Out Oshawa Deals

TORONTO (CP) — A meeting of lawyers has been called in an attempt to sort out the tangled skein of about 200 mortgages and nearly $1,000,000 said to have been handled by the Oshawa Acceptance Corp.

Malcolm Robb, Toronto lawyer representing two of the firm's employees whose names appeared as trustees on some of the mortgages, said Saturday he had asked Oshawa lawyer Gilbert Murdoch to call a meeting of his colleagues in Oshawa, 34 miles east of here.

A full investigation into the affairs of the company was announced in the legislature Friday by Attorney-General Arthur Wishart.

BURNABY BOSS LIKES VICTORIA . . . . . . JUNIOR SUPPLIES SPARK

O'Keefes Style Influences Rivals

Burnaby 1, O'Keefes 4

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Victoria O'Keefes insist on winning Pacific Coast Soccer League matches to influence the managers.

Ken Howarth firmly fell into line Saturday after he saw how the O'Keefes humbled his Burnaby Villa team 4-1 at Macdonald Park.

"That's a fine team," he said, "and we're convinced Victoria is going to win the league. You can tell 'em we all wish them luck."

Then, as if Howarth was obvious of things to come, he added: "I know the Firefighters feel the same way, so don't be too surprised if they help out on Sunday."

The Firefighters did just that, tripping Columbus 2-0 to send Victoria's hopes for a championship spiralling again.

O'Keefes nudged to within one point of front-running Columbus but Victoria has two games in hand. They'll use up one next Sunday after a visit to Vancouver's Callister Park for a match against New Westminster Royals.

It was Royals' manager, Jack Spry, who was the first of the mainland pilots to finger a big year for O'Keefes. He predicted in January that O'Keefes will finish first.

But for the first half of Saturday's game, the Burnaby boys did their best to impress their own manager. They kept right on top of O'Keefes and only the lack of a goal-scoring finish prevented Burnaby from moving into the second half with better than a 1-1 draw.

Burnaby seemed to have no difficulty in midfield, but once there, the mainlanders lacked penetration.

O'Keefes missed their share of early chances, but once into the second half, they gradually gained complete command.

Newcomer Joe Alexis playing his first full game, led Victoria scoring with two goals. Right wing Martin Taylor, a standout all afternoon, and inside Jim Menzies counted the others.

Centre forward Brian Hemmingway, one of Burnaby's most effective players, scored the Villa goal.

Alexis, Menzies and Taylor were the central figures in Victoria's three-goal outburst in the second half, but the eruption actually started from the bench and by a junior who received an unexpected call to sit there.

Fifteen minutes after the half, Grealy, looking for "someone to fill up the middle," decided to insert junior Palle Poulsen at inside in place of Peter Brett. And Saturday, as has been the case in numerous other games this season, the unexpected produced the desired result.

Victoria's attack promptly pepped up and three minutes later Taylor provided the go-ahead goal after relays from Menzies and left wing Dunc McCaig. But the big play that set up the goal was Poulsen's long, cross-field pass to McCaig.

Taylor, enjoying his finest game, set up Victoria's third goal with a blazing shot that must have swayed the goalposts. The ball hit the top bar and rebounded out to Alexis, who head-butted it home.

Menzies, outlucked on at least four great chances earlier in the game, finally got his goal with three minutes remaining. A fine controlled shot of a bouncing ball gave him his 10th goal of the year.

And Firemen Do Their Bit

VANCOUVER—Two opportunist goals by inside forward Jim Blundell gave the defending champion Vancouver Firefighters a 2-0 victory over league-leading Columbus before 2,000 fans in Pacific Coast Soccer League action Sunday.

The result dealt a crushing blow to Columbus' hopes for the league championship. The Italians have 29 points with two games left to play. Second-place Victoria is one point behind but has four games remaining.

The top four teams go into the season-end playoffs.

Blundell scored his first goal almost from the opening kickoff. His second came on a quick breakaway with 10 minutes left in the game.

In the only other game played here at the weekend, UBC Thunderbirds and North Shore Luckies, both battling for playoff positions, fought to a scoreless draw Saturday and remained in a deadlock for third place. Each has 18 points, two more than Firemen.

Avery Struts Stuff

Frank Avery and his Vancouver Curling Club rink fashioned a five-game victory streak at Esquimalt Sports Centre to reach the third annual provincial senior over 55 curling final in Seagram Stone playdowns.

Avery, a former Brier champion who won the Seagram Stone in the national senior final last year, wrapped up the zone title Sunday with a 9-7 triumph over the White Rock rink of George Klotz.

Calling shits for Les Kitson, Bill Peterson and Dana Quinnell, Avery had won his fourth straight game earlier Sunday by nipping the Gordie Bryce rink from Abbotsford 9-7.

In Saturday's games of the double-loss elimination event, the Avery crew defeated George Lunn, Nanaimo, 9-7 on an extra end; Lew Chase, North Vancouver, 8-4, and Bryce 9-8.

MOIR OUT EARLY

Esquimalt skip Jack Moir, curling with Len Tooby, Lloyd Christie and Charlie Pronovost, lost one game Saturday and was eliminated when he lost a decision to Klotz on Sunday's first draw.

Avery flirted with trouble on his way to victory. In two games he was trailing by five points after five ends and rallied to win.

In the final game, Klotz scored one on the first end and Avery counted two on each of the next two ends for a 4-1 lead after three ends. Klotz tied the score at 4-4 after five ends but Avery went ahead to stay with a big three on the sixth.

Avery will now represent the Fraser Valley, Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island zone in the B.C. final at Nelson, March 11-23. The provincial champ will advance to the national final at Montreal, March 21-27.

Salmon Arm Wins Again

VANCOUVER (CP) — Salmon Arm fought back in the final quarter to defeat Nanaimo 32-20 Saturday night and win the B.C. high school girl's basketball championship for the third straight year.

Nanaimo, which had advanced to the final with a 26-24 victory over Courtenay earlier Saturday, carried a 17-11 advantage into that last quarter — then collapsed, as Salmon Arm ran in 21 points to Nanaimo's three.

Salmon Arm had downed New Westminster 40-22 in the championship round semi-final.

Angie Radanovich scored 14 of Nanaimo's 20 points in the final, and she had 16 earlier against Courtenay.

Leafs Pull on Line In the Nick of Time

AL SMITH

Playoff Hopes Keep Glimmering As Vics Make It Six-for-Seven

Victoria, 4; Vancouver, 3

By DOUG PEDEN

Victoria Maple Leafs have enough fishermen in their ranks to know that failing to keep a tight line is inviting a fish to get away.

Yet the Leafs relaxed at Memorial Arena Saturday night and Vancouver Canucks almost got off the hook. The Victorians had to weather a hectic finishing fight before landing a 4-3 Western Hockey League victory.

Hustling in fine form in the opening stages, the Leafs zoomed out in front and apparently had the Canucks ready for the net with a 4-1 lead after the first 23 minutes.

Then they either eased up on attack or decided to play a defensive game. Whichever it was, it added up to a second chance for the second-place Canucks, who came within a whisker of sending the game into overtime after they had lifted goalie Don Simmons for a sixth attacker in the final minute.

Given room to work and time to recover from their shell-shock of the opening period, the Canucks settled into stride and were finally balked only by the fine work of rookie goalie Al Smith.

Smith made five outstanding saves while holding the Vancouverites scoreless in the second period and he was also sharp in the final session although giving up a pair of goals.

Smith and the Leafs had heart flutters after Vancouver coach Bert Olmstead lifted Simmons in the final minute.

Tiff With Seals in Crucial Bracket

Victoria's Lou Jankowksi had a drive at the open net knocked down by Gordie Vejprava and the Canucks stormed in around the Victoria goal. In a pileup around Smith with 17 seconds remaining, Ron Boehm thought he had jammed the puck over the goal line. But Smitty smothered the rubber just at the line and, despite Boehm's bitter protest to referee Barry Ballance, Vancouver's last good chance had gone glimmering.

Thus the stage was set for a Wednesday battle at Memorial Arena when Oakland Seals come to town for the last time this season.

Struggling to climb into one of the league's playoff berths, the Leafs are currently in sixth place but are only one point behind Oakland and Los Angeles Blades, deadlocked in the fourth position.

Seals, due to open a northern road trip Tuesday at Vancouver, have two games in hand over Victoria and will have the Leafs in a "must win" situation when they arrive at the arena Wednesday.

Despite the troublesome finish, the Leafs were a powerful squad in the opening stages as they built up the margin that gave them their sixth victory in seven games.

Leafs Miss Two Breakaway Chances

The divided their four goals between all three forward lines and the Victoria defencemen, particularly Bill Shvetz, were dealing out enough solid checks to make Vancouver forwards decide it was wise to take the long route to the goal.

When the threat of punishment eased in the second session the Canucks started to move in unison and they made it a cliff-hanging finish for the 3,205 fans.

The also needed a bit of luck and some good work by Simmons stay close when Andy Hebenton and Rollie Wilcox cruised in on breakaways while the score was 4-2 in the third session. Hebenton pulled Simmons but hit a post when the puck rolled off the end of his stick, and a hot shot by Wilcox was deflected by the Vancouver goalie's pads.

Dick Lamoureux, Milan Marcetta, with his 34th goal of the season, and Jankowski, with his 18th, counted for Victoria in the opening period. Bob Barlow continued his hot streak by notching his 14th tally early in the second.

Boehm counted for Canucks in the opening period and Dave Duke and Larry Cahan fired shots past Smith in the final 20 minutes.

Goals Come Easy

(Times News Services)

The fans might have enjoyed the fireworks, but rival coaches Bill MacFarland and Max McNab of San Diego wondered what became of the defence in hockey as the Gulls and Totems free-wheeled for 17 goals Sunday night.

Bill Dineen scored four goals and an assist and Guyle Fielder had six assists as the Totems beat San Diego 10-7 in the Western Hockey League free-for-all.

And in the scoringest game in Seattle Coliseum history, Fred Hilts of San Diego came up with three goals.

The game, the only one scheduled in the WHL Sunday, broke a two-game winning streak by the Gulls, who upset Portland Buckaroos 4-3 on Saturday night.

In another bout Saturday, Oakland Seals tightened up the hot, three-team scramble for fourth place by cooling off Los Angeles Blades 7-4.

Len Ronson's overtime goal gave San Diego, a club with only 33 points from 59 games, their win over the Buckaroos, still coasting in first place with 81 points.

Al Nicholson, Ed Panagabko and Len Haley got the other Gull markers and Alan Caron, Gerry Goyer and Bill Saunders replied for the Bucks.

At Los Angeles Saturday, the Seals scored three goals in the final period to break open a close game against the hometown Blades.

After the Blades had battled back to tie the score at 4-4, Ed Hoekstra, Wayne Maxner and George Swarbrick fired goals past Blade goalie Jack Norris.

FLEMING HIGH . . . . . . ON B.C. SKATER

Champion Touts Karen

VIENNA (CP - AP) — Canada's Karen Magnussen was being touted today as a possible future world champion following the windup Saturday of the world figure skating championships here.

Miss Magnussen, a 14-year-old Grade 9 student from Vancouver and the youngest competitor in the women's division, finished 12th.

Peggy Fleming, 18-year-old United States skater who won the women's title for the second straight year, described Miss Magnussen as an up-and-coming competitor.

"She is a fireball on ice," Miss Fleming said, "and she has the temperament and talent to be a champion."

Miss Magnussen, an ash blonde who is one of the best freestyle skaters in the world, finished second in the Canadian senior championships this year. She does triple jumps and spins with ease. She began figure skating because she wanted to be Snowflake in a winter carnival. She coaches a peewee hockey team in Vancouver.

She won the Canadian junior women's championship in 1965, was third in the senior women's competition in 1966 and moved up to second behind Valerie Jones of Toronto this year.

Her free - skating performance here Saturday consisted of dainty steps and acrobatic jumps.

COMPLETES SWEEP

Miss Fleming's victory in the women's event, the last title decided in the week-long competition, completed a sweep for defending champions.

It also completed a rout of the Canadian team which won no medals.

Miss Jones, 18-year-old Canadian senior champion and Canada's last hope for a medal, dropped to fourth from second in the free skating Saturday after she fell during a double jump.

Gabrielle Seyfert of East Germany, who also took a spill during her program, finished in second place—just as she did in the 1966 championships.

Other winners were Emmerich Danzer of Austria in the men's competition, Ludmila Belousova and Oleg Protopopov of Russia in the pairs and Diane Towler and Bernard Ford of Britain in the dance.

Carlo Fassi, coach of Miss Fleming, said she will turn professional after the Olympics. Danzer also says he will turn pro.

RACING ROUNDUP

Ruken Turns It On To Win SA Derby

(Times News Services)

Ruken, a Kentucky Derby candidate, won the 30th running of the $139,900 Santa Anita Derby Saturday with a brilliant burst of speed.

Ruken swept through the middle of the stretch to beat the favorite, Tumble Wind, by 1½ lengths, with Sand Devil third, one-half length back.

● Quinta, rated off the pace by veteran jockey Steve Brooks, held off Model Fool in the stretch and won the $112,000 Campbell Handicap by a nose at Maryland's Bowie race course.

● Cabildo and his stablemate, I Owe, came sailing down the stretch to finish one-two in the $69,000 New Orleans Handicap at the Fair Grounds.

● Glengary surprised an opening-day crowd of 22,000 at Florida's Gulfstream Park with a half-length victory over Sir Winazlot in the $24,025 Hutcheson Stakes for three-year-olds.

13 GO TO POST

The time for the Santa Anita Derby, a 1¼-mile race, was 1:49 4-5 as 13 three-year-olds went to the post.

Ruken, a son of Nashville out of Tank You Ma'm, won the rich Del Mar Futurity in 1966, but this was his first stakes triumph as a three-year-old.

The victory was worth $94,000 to owner Louis Rowan of Pasadena, Calif., and brought Ruken's lifetime earnings to $195,410.

OUTSTANDING performances by Bob Burrows of Victoria enabled Spokane College Spartans to win the Washington State Junior College basketball championship Saturday. Former Oak Bay ace scored 19, 21 and 28 points in successive games to lead team to title. They play in regional finals this week at Boise, Idaho.

Victoria Quartets Dominate 'Spiel

Almost everything came up roses for Victoria-area rinks Sunday in the final rounds of the Centennial daffodil bonspiel, this year's name for the annual women's bonspiel at Victoria Curling Club.

When the last rocks had been swept into the house Sunday, local skips had captured top prizes in all but one of the five events and earned three of the five second-place awards.

Marion Smith was the big winner, leading her quartet from the host club to victory in the "A" (Eaton's) event. Curling with H. Atkey, V. Gilhooly and M. Price, Mrs. Smith took a nerve-tingling, 9-8 decision in the final over clubmate Flora Martin, who was supported by Mary Wilkinson, Sadie Campbell and Mrs. M. Beddington.

BROKE MONOPOLY

Florence Gustaffson broke the monopoly of Victoria stone-tossers when she guided her Vancouver crew to a 13-9 triumph over Victoria's Ella McDonald in the "B" (Hudson's Bay) event.

Top honors in the "C" (Gar Taylor) event went to Esquimalt as Ida Patterson piloted her rink to a 9-5 victory over the North Shore foursome of M. Shugg.

In the "D" (Evergreen) event, the Victoria club rink of Dorothy Fukuyama came out on top with a 12-4 win over Nan Sexton of Allan's Curling Club in Saanich.

WINS CANADIAN ALPINE . . . . . . NAMED FREEMAN

Great Weekend for Nancy

ROSSLAND (CP)—Ski star Nancy Greene added the Canadian Alpine women's title to her list of laurels Sunday.

The 23-year-old Rossland native won two events and was second in the third during the three-day Alpine championships. Her only real competition came from a 17-year-old from Wyoming.

Shortly after winning Miss Greene was named a freeman of Rossland by Mayor Harry Lefevre. Messages of congratulation were read from Prime Minister Pearson, Premier Bennett and R. W. Herridge, MP for Kootenay West.

Rossland Chamber of Commerce presented her with a cheque for an undisclosed amount as a scholarship to Nelson's Notre Dame University where she is taking arts.

Scott Henderson of Banff, Alta., took the men's over-all title after a nip-and-tuck battle with Rod Hebron of Vernon.

But the women stole the show and Miss Greene, a member of Canada's national ski team and one of the leaders in the race for the world cup, proved herself the best of the women at the Rossland meet.

She placed second behind Karen Budge of Jackson Hole, Wyo., in Friday's downhill event, but came back strong to win Saturday's slalom and Sunday's giant slalom.

Miss Greene slipped down the 60-gate giant slalom course in 1:48.1, well ahead of Miss Budge's time of 1:54.5.

The young American, after winning Friday's opening event, fell to fourth place in Saturday's slalom but rebounded to place second in the giant slalom.

Henderson won Saturday's men's slalom, was second in the giant slalom and fifth in Friday's downhill.

Hebron took second place over-all, after placing sixth in the downhill, second in the slalom and first in the giant slalom.

Hull Gets Hawks Going After Stall by Sawchuk

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks, with Bobby Hull scoring his 45th and 46th goals of the season, snapped Toronto's unbeaten string at 10 games Sunday, scoring a 5-2 win over the Maple Leafs in Chicago.

The win reversed a 3-0 score in Toronto Saturday as veteran goalie Terry Sawchuk registered his second straight National Hockey League shutout and the 100th of his career in regular season play.

Leafs win Saturday halted only temporarily Chicago's drive toward its first league title. The Hawks now have 79 points and a 16-point lead over second-place New York with only 12 games left in the 70-game schedule.

Toronto controlled play throughout most of Saturday's game with Pete Stemkowski, George Armstrong and Bob Pulford handling the scoring.

But the Leafs felt Bobby Hull's presence Sunday night. Lou Angotti, Pat Stapleton and Doug Mohns connected for one each. Mike Walton and Eddie Shack scored for Toronto.

In other weekend action, Montreal Canadiens walloped Detroit Red Wings 6-2 in Montreal Saturday night and then blanked New York Rangers 2-0 in New York Sunday afternoon. Boston Bruins and the Rangers battled to a 4-4 tie in Boston Saturday night but the Bruins lost 5-3 to Detroit Sunday night in Boston.

Bob Rousseau and Yvan Cournoyer scored for Canadiens Sunday afternoon against the Rangers.

ORR SAVES BOSTON

Bobby Orr scored with three seconds remaining in the game to earn the Bruins their tie with New York Saturday.

Bruce MacGregor scored two goals for the Red Wings Sunday night and Alex Delvecchio, Doug Roberts and Dean Prentice added one apiece. Skip Krake, Marotte and Orr scored for Boston.

Sawchuk, who has played 17 seasons in the NHL, stopped 22 shots on the way to his shutout. He also has 11 shutouts in playoff competition.

Sunday night the Hawks blasted 44 shots at the Toronto net. Veteran Johnny Bower started in nets for Toronto but was replaced by Sawchuk in the second period. The Leafs had 32 shots at DeJordy.

AIMING AT RECORD

Hull's two goals left him eight short of tying the record of 54 goals, which he set last season.

Chicago's Stan Mikita picked up three assists in the game to run his points total to 84 for the season, including a league-leading 54 assists. An assist credited to Mikita against the Bruins last Thursday was changed to defenceman Pierre Pilote. NHL headquarters in Montreal announced the change during the weekend.

Cournoyer's goal Sunday was his 21st of the season and 17th power-play goal as the Canadiens took 31 shots at Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin.

Esquimalt Gains Final

NANAIMO — Esquimalt marched into the Vancouver Island peewee hockey final here Sunday by defeating Nanaimo 7-5.

Esquimalt, which had opened the two-game playoff on home ice Saturday by thumping Nanaimo 11-2, took the total-goals series 18-7.

Esquimalt will play either Comox or Powell River in the Island final

Oarsmen in Late Surge To Lead Rugby Playoff

James Bay Athletic Association broke loose for 10 points in the second half Sunday at Duncan to take a seven-point lead over Cowichan in a two-game series for the Victoria Rugby Union First Division championship.

Second game of the total-points series for the Barnard Cup will be played in Victoria next weekend.

It was a rugged, often-exciting tussle as the clubs struggled to a 3-3 deadlock in the first half and the Oarsmen broke loose for some fine runs to pull away after the intermission for a 13-6 win.

Les Underwood put JBAA in front with a try and Dave Clarke booted a penalty goal to square the count in the opening half.

Gerry Montgomery and Jim Ryan, on a brilliant 60-yard dash, each counted a try for the Oarsmen in the second half and Ed Kubek kicked two conversions to make it 13-3 before Tony Thorburn counted a Cowichan try on the last play of the game.

OVERTIME VICTORY

James Bay scored an upset victory in a third division semi-final at Windsor Park, tripping Oak Bay Wanderers 11-5 after 20 minutes of overtime.

Jim Wenman's try and Brett Morgan's convert sent Oak Bay into a 5-0 first-half lead and JBAA tied it up in the second half on a try by Dan Coleman and John Howe's convert.

Trys by Coleman and Howe wrapped up the decision in the overtime session.

In fourth division semi-finals at Carvarvon Park, Cowichan downed JBAA 11-6 and Oak Bay blanked Rainbow Sea Cadets 13-0.

Blair Golding, Greg McMartin and Norm McGechie scored Cowichan trys and McMartin added a convert. JBAA points came on trys by Bob Bowan and Dave Sutherland.

Gordie Simpson scored seven points on a try and two converts to pace the Oak Bay victory.

WANDERERS IN UPSET

In the opening game of a two-game, second division final for The Times Cup, Wanderers upset league-winning James Bay 8-6 Saturday at Windsor Park.

Ray Wollinger's try and Jack Patrick's penalty goal gave the Oarsmen a 6-3 lead at the half. Gary Tuttle booted a penalty goal for Oak Bay.

With time running out, Jim Temple went over for a try and John Stewart added the convert to give Oak Bay the two-point series lead.

Aaron's Ills on Ninth Pave Way for Sanders

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Doug Sanders came through with a solid 70 while Tommy Aaron could show only a sad smile for his efforts in the final round Sunday of Doral Open Golf tournament.

Sanders wound up with a nine-under-par 275 to win the $20,000 first prize and Aaron shook his head in disbelief after he went four over par on the ninth hole.

"No," Aaron said, "I don't feel like I'm jinxed."

But many others felt differently when disaster struck the amiable, 30-year-old Georgian just when a big dream—his first victory on the golf trail—seemed about to come true.

A water hazard and an official penalty spelled disaster for Aaron just as the title seemed in his grasp.

Aaron had come close before. He had led several other tournaments and finished hot on the heels of the leaders.

But he had never been in such a position as he enjoyed Sunday. Coming up to the 63rd hole, he was 10 under par, leading South African Harold Henning by one stroke and the old pros, Jack Nicklaus and Sanders, by two.

And Aaron was playing better than any of them, refusing to yield to the pressures.

STARTED IN LAKE

Then came the ninth, a simple, 181-yard, par-3 hole. His tee shot splashed just off the water's edge into a lake guarding the left side of the green.

The water just covered the ball and Aaron took off a shoe, placed his right foot ankle deep in the water, and blasted out. The ball cleared the water by two feet.

Shaken, Aaron chipped over the green and back and two-putted.

He still had hopes until Wade Cagle, assistant tournament supervisor, asked him if he knew that he had rippled the water on his back wing, which would be the same as grounding the club in a sand trap.

"I told him no," Aaron said. "The wind was high, I was standing in the water, and I had to move when I swung. I think that may have caused the ripples."

He filed a protest but it was not allowed and he took an additional two-stroke penalty.

Henning and Art Wall tied for second at 276. Nicklaus took fourth at 277.

Aaron, taking a 77 for 278, wound up in a five-way tie for fifth with George Archer, Lionel Hebert, Bobby Nichols and Miller Barber.

Only Canadian Scottish was out of style Sunday as shutouts were the fashion for other Victoria District Soccer League matches.

In fact, Scottish fullback Tony Quinn made sure Gorge Molsons wouldn't be blanked when he deflected the ball into his own goal.

However, the front-running Scots did plenty of scoring at the other end, getting three tallies from Franz van Doesburg and singles from Ron Stubbins and Hank Roodbol for a 5-2 victory over Molsons, who got their other goal from Roy St. Denis.

Victoria West moved into a second-place tie in the first division with Hourigan Kickers, six points behind the Scots, as they stopped Tally-Ho 2-0 on goals by Ranjit Dillon and Brian Cornell.

Kickers and University Vikings were also scheduled to play Sunday but their match was abandoned when the referee failed to appear.

NORSEMEN HOLD LEAD

Sidney Hotel, University Norsemen, Colony Inn and London Boxing Club were shutout winners in second division clashes.

Norsemen maintained their three-point lead as they stopped Gorge 3-0 on scoring shots by Bill Kennedy, Ron Hatch and Pete Demchuk.

Colony Inn nipped the improving Falcons 1-0 on a goal by Wade Burns and London Boxing Club continued its surge with 3-0 triumph over Island Tug.

Sidney booters showed some of their early-season form as they downed Victoria West 2-0.

If you'd like to own a luxury import but feel they cost a thousand dollars more than you wish to pay, see the Datsun 2000

The Datsun 2000 Custom Six Sedan invites comparison with luxury imports costing one to two thousand dollars more.

This full-sized, classically styled sedan is engineered for years of driving. There's no planned obsolescence here! On the freeway you can cruise all day at an honest 70 m.p.h. Yet talk in whispers. The Datsun has the solid quality that means quiet.

No fewer than 16 luxury 'options' are standard equipment

But it is in the appointments that the Datsun 2000 belies its price. It's a limousine. Sixteen of what would normally be luxury options are standard equipment! A small sampling: clock, radio with front and back seat volume controls, power operated antenna, wool carpets, brushed nylon upholstery, anti-sun glass on all windows. Ten more luxury items could be listed, plus great safety features like a power boosted dual braking system and recessed door handles.

Yet, with a smooth Borg-Warner automatic the Datsun Custom is under $3500. (Two hundred dollars less with standard transmission. Suggested prices f.o.b. Vancouver.) Try out the Datsun 2000 Custom Six Sedan today. You'll agree it's a five thousand dollar import, in everything but cost.

DISTAFF 'DOZERS ABLE TO HANDLE HEAVY TOIL

In keeping with their name, Esquimalt Carson's Bulldozers are capable of handling heavy work.

Bulldozers wrapped up their schedule in the British Columbia Girls' Ice Hockey League Saturday by playing two games on the Mainland and then were back on the ice at Esquimalt Sports Centre for a workout early Sunday morning.

Their hopes for a perfect record were wrecked Saturday afternoon when the 'Dozers played to a 2-2 tie with Killarney at Killarney Sports Centre, but the league champions completed an unbeaten season Saturday night at Delta when they trimmed Delta Tigers 3-1.

Carsons, who finished the schedule with 11 wins and one tie, start league playoffs next weekend.

Oak Bay Captures Title

Oak Bay cage kids have made it a double for their municipality in Vancouver Island high school boys' basketball campaigns.

The junior Oaks flirted briefly with disaster Saturday at Lansdowne Junior High School but finally nipped Lansdowne 24-22 in the championship game of the Island junior high school boys' tournament.

On the previous weekend, Oak Bay captured the Island senior boys' high school crown.

In Saturday's final, Lansdowne was leading 13-12 at half time and came from behind on Gary Linford's basket to tie the score at 22-22 in the closing stages. Tommy Holmes saved the day for Oak Bay, scoring the winning basket with 11 seconds remaining.

Holmes and Brent Mullins each fired eight points for the Oaks and Gary Thurber scored eight for Lansdowne.

Lansdowne had reached the final by downing Central 44-31 and Oak Bay made it with a 46-27 conquest of St. Louis College.

Central, getting 18 points from Mike Chornovy, edged St. Louis 52-51 for third place. Dave Mulcahy notched 23 points for the college.

Nanaimo's John Barsby went into overtime to defeat Campbell River 44-42 for fourth place. St. Louis was placed fifth and Campbell River sixth.

In the consolation final, Woodlands of Nanaimo downed Alberni 66-40.

Steelers Join New Grid Loop

Victoria Steelers today were stepping up preparations for their second season in professional football after officially joining the new Golden West Division of the Continental Football League at a weekend meeting in Seattle.

Replacing the Pacific Football League, in which the Steelers operated last year, the new division will be under the direction of Sol Rosen, commissioner of the Continental League — a 10-team circuit stretched along the eastern seaboard of Canada and the U.S.

Rosen said each team will play a 14-game schedule next season, with a limit of three exhibition games. The Golden West champion will meet the Continental League's eastern division titlist for the league championship.

Also in the eight-team western section are Seattle, Portland, Eugene, Phoenix, Sacramento, San Jose and Anaheim.

Pete Murphy, who was eelected president of the western division, said he expected league play to begin about the third week of August.

Russian Skipper Denies Charge

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — A Russian captain charged with operating his fishing vessel in "clear cut and obvious violation" of U.S. territorial waters was free today in the custody of a Soviet embassy official pending a plea to the federal charge.

The trawler skipper, brought here to enter his formal plea in federal court, has denied the charge.

Capt. Nichmolai Zernov said in Kodiak Sunday his 178-foot trawler was not fishing a mile off the Alaska coast, as the coast guard charged, but had moved close to shore to make engine repairs.

ACCOUNTS UNTRUE

He said American accounts of the incident as a "clear-cut and obvious violation" of territorial waters were untrue since his nets and gear were stowed at all times while the vessel was near the Alaskan coast.

Zernov was arraigned in a federal courtroom at the post office of Kodiak, a city which once flew the flag of Czarist Russia. He was then flown under guard to Anchorage to enter his plea.

U.S. Commissioner James D. Mason gave Zernov and his attorney, Kenneth D. Jensen of Anchorage, five days in which to decide on whether to waive a preliminary hearing. He had been scheduled to appear in U.S. district court here today.

Jensen issued a statement saying he has informed Zernov and the commander of the Russian fishing fleet that "very substantial doubt exists as to the propriety of the arrest.".

Zernov's vessel was boarded and seized by the coast guard off Mitrofania Island last Thursday. It was the first time a Soviet ship ever had been seized by U.S. authorities.

'STOP OR I FIRE'

Cmdr. George W. Hardy Jr., skipper of the coast guard cutter Storis, said he boarded the trawler after signalling the terse message: "Stop or I will open fire."

"I wasn't bluffing," he said. "I was fully prepared to lay a shot across his bow."

Hardy said the trawler and another vessel had been under radar surveillance for 16 hours during foggy conditions. He said both were inside the three-mile limit.

The coast guard commander said the two Russian vessels headed southward at high speed as he approached, so he pursued them for more than an hour. He said they ignored warnings by flag, bullhorn and flashing light.

Hardy said Zernov's ship was overhauled outside the three-mile limit and stopped after he threatened to open fire.

STRONGER THAN EXPECTED

De Gaulle Takes Lead In First Voting Day

PARIS (Reuters) — Supporters of President Charles de Gaulle took a commanding lead in the first round of France's National Assembly election Sunday and were confident they will win solid parliamentary backing for the president in next Sunday's second round.

Seventy Gaullists were elected outright Sunday, winning more than half the votes cast in their electoral districts.

Opposition candidates did that well in only 14 seats.

The Gaullists were well placed to win in another 208 seats in the second round run-off, when the candidates with the most votes will be elected.

That would give de Gaulle's backers well over the 244 seats needed to control the National Assembly and mean another five years of parliamentary support for the president.

An official forecast said they would win a majority of at least 11 seats, and possibly as many as 44. The Gaullist majority in the last Parliament was 48.

The last assembly, for which members were elected in 1962, had this composition: Gaullists, 266, Federation of the Left 105, Centre Democrats 55, Communists 41, others 16.

REDS MAKING BID

Sunday's polling for 486 assembly seats saw a big comeback by the Communists who got 5,029,808 votes—more than 1,000,000 above their total in the last election in 1962.

The Communist party outpolled the left-wing Socialist Federation of Françoís Mitterand and Guy Mollet which got 4,207,166 of the 22,392,317 votes cast in Metropolitan France.

This gave the Communists a strong tactical advantage in bargaining over who should withdraw from the second poll, a device planned to ensure left-wing candidates do not split their votes and help Gaullist candidates to victory.

While the Gaullists were jubilant at the better-than-expected result of the first vote, Mollet warned that the political struggle was not yet finished.

Unpleasant surprises might be in store for them next Sunday, he warned.

The Gaullists got 37.75 per cent of a heavy 80 per cent poll. The left-wing opposition groups combined took 43.51 per cent and the centre and right wing 18.74 per cent.

ELECTS POMPIDOU

Twenty-six government ministers contested the elections. Eleven were elected outright, including Premier Georges Pompidou.

Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville was among 15 ministers who must contest the second vote, but he topped his poll and his chances were considered good.

Former premier Pierre Mendes-France, re-emerging into the political limelight at Grenoble, ran second to a Gaullist but could count on left-wing allies to get him into parliament after the second round, observers said.

Anti-Gaullist feeling and grievances rankling from de Gaulle's colonial policy and withdrawal from Algeria, brought 7,934 votes in a Lyons constituency to Jacques Soustelle, once a Gaullist minister and governor of Algeria, who conducted his campaign from exile abroad.

He is under threat of arrest in France on a charge of plotting against state security.

Communist party leader Waldeck Rochet won his seat again.

The assembly lost one old face. Canon Felix Kir, 91, a Roman Catholic priest who had served 22 years in parliament, was eliminated when he failed to get more than 10 per cent of the vote in his district. An old friend of former Soviet premier, Nikita Khrushchev, Canon Kir is mayor of Dijon.

Vanier Death Cuts Offshore Hearings

OTTAWA (CP) — Because of the death of Governor-General Vanier, only seven members of the Supreme Court of Canada may hear the government-ordered reference into ownership of the offshore mineral rights.

The reference, expected to last about three weeks, was to have started today but the court adjourned after a brief session in which Chief Justice Robert Taschereau paid the court's tribute to the Governor-General.

Normally all nine justices sit on constitutional issues. But the chief justice will have added duties as acting Governor-General until a successor to Gen. Vanier is appointed.

Court officials say it is possible that seven members now may hear the mineral rights reference, this leaving Chief Justice Taschereau free for vice-regal duties. An odd number of justices sit on any case to avoid tie judgments.

The court will not sit Wednesday when all members will attend Gen. Vanier's funeral.

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — The 48-year-old Maharajah of Bharatpur says he plans to abdicate, give up the $112,500 he receives every year from the Indian government, and serve the people as a commoner. He told reporters Saturday he would also resign the parliamentary seat he won as an independent in the recent general elections and ask India's ruling Congress party to let him stand again as a Congress candidate.

Tighter Screening Due For Vocational School

Prospective students at Nanaimo Vocational School will be more carefully screened.

DR. PERRY
. . . "great reluctance"

The "clamp down" order came today from the provincial education department following reports that "pimps, prostitutes and junkies" are being sent to the school.

Said deputy education minister Dr. G. Neil Perry, "Greater selectivity will have to come into force.

"School management has become increasingly distressed at reports of undesirable elements attending the school.

"The school likes to be helpful to everyone. But it was not designed as a rehabilitation centre.

"With great reluctance we're going to have to start saying no to people with the wrong attitude." One of the school's biggest problem areas has been the relatively new six-week loggers' training course.

Several youths from the department—and from other departments—have appeared in local courts recently on a variety of charges including possession of drugs.

The fact led Nanaimo probation officer Beven Savory to make the statemen that pimps, prostitutes and junkies were being sent to the school by Vancouver welfare officials.

Replied Dr. Perry, "The school has tried in the past to take care of anyone referred to it with the necessary academic qualifications.

"However, it now appears we will have to take their attitude as well into closer consideration.

"The principal is very distressed at the implications of Mr. Savory's reports and the effect it could have on the attitude of other students."

With respect to the logging division, he said: "It can help a chap who started out on the wrong foot back on the right foot.

"But we don't know how far his attitude has been impaired before he joins the school.

"In future we hope to determine this by more selective screening."

ELECTED ON 13th TRY

Alderman Campaigns For Highway Safety

PORT ALBERNI — Local residents will live longer if newly elected alderman George McKnight has his way.

The 48-year-old lathe operator, elected on his 13th try for council, is concerned about the number of highway accidents in the Alberni Valley.

He said today: "It is appalling so many of our people are being maimed or killed in car accidents.

"My first public act will be to call for action to prevent car accidents.

"We have to eliminate every vestige of careless driving from the roads."

POLLUTION FIGHTER

At the same time the greying mill worker will be fighting another life-or-death battle — pollution.

Secretary of Alberni Valley Citizens' Committee on Pollution, he said: "I will plug for pollution control at every opportunity.

"Water pollution in the Alberni Canal is very bad. The city is dumping raw sewage in the canal. This must be stopped."

He said he will try to speed up plans to build a sewage disposal unit.

12 DEFEATS

Mr. McKnight first ran for council in 1954 and was defeated.

Since then he has run 12 times—every one unsuccessful —the last time in December.

But it was thirteenth time lucky in Saturday's by-election when he easily topped the poll in a three-way race.

He received 1,256 votes against John Paterson's 605 and David Roach's 160.

His big hope now is that when his 10-month term ends in December he will be voted on to the new council which will represent both Port Alberni and Alberni when the twin cities merge at the beginning of 1968.

High 'n' Dry Flight Home

GLASGOW (Reuters) — A 66-year-old Canadian today promised he would not "touch a drop" on his return flight home after paying a fine of $210 for disorderly conduct on the trip over here.

Henry Renwick of Parksville, a marine surveyor and former lieutenant-commander in the Royal Canadian Navy, admitted seven charges arising from a trans-Atlantic jet flight Feb. 27.

They included refusal to fasten his seat belt, getting drunk on a plane, assaulting a passenger and two crew members and attacking an airport policeman.

"I still cannot remember what happened," said Renwick, on leaving court. "But I will not touch a drop on the return flight."

The court was told that Renwick became belligerent several times on the flight while en route to Scotland to attend the funeral of his sister.

The judge said in passing sentence that he was keeping in mind "that normally you're a very decent person."

Malamud Wins Prize

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard Malamud has won the 1967 National Book Award for fiction for The Fixer, it was learned Sunday.

Malamud also won the prize in 1959 for his collection of short stories, The Magic Barrel.

OLD CARVING UNEARTHED AT SOOKE

A primitive stone carving — perhaps 2,000 years old — has been discovered by Mrs. Audrey Pears in her garden at Pear's Point Road in Sooke.

Donald Abbott, anthropology curator at the provincial museum, said the carving is similar to a pair found at the Marpole site on the mainland. This pair was definitely found to be 2,000 years old.

Mr. Abbott said about 50 stone figures have been found in the province and there is much speculation about their origin and use. He said evidence points to their use in some kind of ritual.

"They seem to have been buried with other effects but they have not been found on burial grounds," he said.

Members are J. R. Nickerson, A. V. H. Agar, Frank Ricards, Alfred Temmel and H. Van Dack.

A services committee will be headed by Mrs. Beth Wood. Other members of the committee are Peter Arnell, Ernie Lowe, H. S. Noakes, Mr. Agar and R. C. Hill.

Order a Kangaroo by Mail? She'd Bet on Getting It

Allison Shrieber is a logger's wife who enjoys living in isolated company towns and shopping by mail.

Mrs. Shrieber, wife of manager Pat Shrieber of the Rayonier of Canada Ltd. logging camp near Moresby, in the Queen Charlotte Islands, has often flown to Vancouver to window shop — then flown home and shopped in her usual way — by mail.

"I'll write down and ask for what I want in a pale blue or green in size 16, please, and they send it right along. I could order a kangaroo by mail, I'm sure, and it would arrive."

USED TO IT

The Shriebers have been in Moresby, a community of 25 families and about 15 men, for about 20 months.

She's used to company town living because she's used to country living. Her husband first had his own small logging operation after the Second World War, then a hunting and fishing lodge north of Kamloops for six years.

Company town living for the Shriebers, as for others, means rock-hounding and community hall activities. Mrs. Shrieber last year started a library, and she teaches Sunday school each week.

HOLIDAY IN WINTER

The town also has a bridge club, a ladies' club and bazaars are staged periodically to assist a hospital in Charlotte City.

When the woods are closed each year during the winter, the Shriebers leave for a real holiday.

"When we go on a holiday we really go," says Mrs. Shrieber.

"Last May we went to England, Scotland and France, and in the fall of 1964 we were also in the United Kingdom," she said.

Assets, Attendance Increase at Museum

DUNCAN — The assets of the Cowichan Valley Forest Museum rose by $20,000 last year to a total of $237,000.

These figures were given at the annual meeting when Gerry Wellburn, director, also reported a 1966 attendance of 25,000.

The 1965 attendance was 16,000.

The museum last year operated at a profit of $1,319.

David R. Williams, re-elected president, made a plea for broader committee support and asked for three new directors.

He said there is a special need for a director to be responsible for publicity and promotion.

NEW DIRECTORS

Two new directors elected are Bruce Devitt of the B.C. Forest Service, and Ald. Martin Lukaitis of Duncan.

Because of insufficient time a notice of motion to change the name of the society could not be voted on.

A special meeting will be held Friday, March 10 to decide whether to change the name to Vancouver Island Forest Museum.

SMOKE AND HEAT blackened and chipped plaster at top of stairs leading to Victoria High School attic area. Firemen found smoke intense, required fans and masks before they could get at the fire. Water damaged ceilings of third floor but classrooms were almost unhurt. Old slate tile roof had to be wrecked as holes were chopped for ventilation and hoses. Oak Bay sent firemen to assist city crews, while students watched. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

VIC HIGH FIRE 'SHORTS'

Arson Eyed in School Blaze

The possibility of arson in the fire which closed Victoria High School today will be fully investigated.

An official of the fire marshal's office at Vancouver will head the probe, it was unofficially learned at presstime today.

Fire officials here had no comment on whether there were any indications of arson, but one official confirmed it is always considered in school fires.

* * *

The aura of tragedy which surrounded Victoria High as firemen swung into action this morning was heightened by a heavy mist. Before they were able to claim the battle won, the sun came out. Amid the smoke pouring from the rooftop could be seen the Canadian flag, flying sadly at half mast. But the grieving flag was denoting the passing Sunday of Canadian Governor-General Georges Vanier.

* * *

Teachers circulated among students watching the school fire on Fernwood, Grant and Gladstone at 8:30 a.m., telling them they could go home. The teachers themselves were told to return at noon. Later it was announced regular classes will begin again Tuesday morning.

* * *

Some of the youngsters greeted the closing announcement with cheers. Others were singing their school song. Most wandered off before the excitment was over. Most of those who stayed appeared relieved the damage was not worse.

* * *

A school fire is a nightmare for firemen at any time. Today's had the advantage that it was reported before the student body assembled for classes. But it also came while city firemen were mopping up another fire at a shingle mill.

That's why Oak Bay was called up for help. It was the first time since the destruction of two city churches almost simultaneously in 1960 that so much extra equipment was required.

* * *

Victoria High School's main building was built in 1914. There were three previous schools by that name in Victoria and it ranks as the oldest high school in British Columbia. The first was built in 1876 on Yates Street.

The present school was described as a "handsome brick biulding" when it was opened May 1, 1914, by Lieutenant-Governor Thomas V. Patterson for 600 students. There are 1,331 today.

* * *

The roof was constructed of slate tiles, a rarity in construction today. About 25 to 30 squares of tile were wrecked in today's fire. Some old tile was saved when the old Central School was demolished. Building and grounds supervisor R. H. Smith said these old tiles might fit the job.

If they don't it might be necessary to obtain more from Vermont.

Neither school nor fire officials were prepared to place a dollar value on the damage inflicted by the fire until after insurance investigations are completed.

"What about my personal possessions — my oboe, my clothes, my books?" asked a student during the fire. Is there any insurance protection for losses by students or teachers? School district superintendent Joseph Chell was unable to answer the question immediately but promised to look into the matter.

* * *

M. A. Hinton, a specialist in alcohol education from Vancouver arrived at Vic High this morning to begin a course of instruction. He arrived almost simultaneously with the fire department. He walked up to the front door, took in the scene and commented, "I guess I'd better go home again."

SCOOP for editor of Victoria Senior Secondary School newspaper was claimed by Camosunette editor Allard Van Veen, 17. He came to school really for a meeting, went to fourth floor and was surrounded by smoke and ash. He found the attic in flames and raced to turn in the alarm. He says it was second fire in paper storeroom in recent months. Staff and students doused last one. (Times photo by Irving Strickland.)

COME BACK AT NOON, said Victoria High principal Duncan Lorimer, extreme right, to a group of teachers at classtime today. They arrived to find school afire. Students waited on sidewalks outside grounds until teachers circulated and told them they could go home. Most classrooms will be back in use Tuesday. Temporary patches will cover roof damage. Fulton Friend Elected Head Of Conservatives in Province

VANCOUVER (CP) — Malcolm Wickson of Vancouver, a Progressive Conservative organizer closely identified with former justice minister Davie Fulton, was elected president of the British Columbia Progressive Conservitive Association Saturday night.

Mr. Wickson, association vice-president last year, defeated Fergie Browne, former MP for Vancouver-Kingsway, a staunch supporter of John Diefenbaker for the national leadership.

Mr. Wickson has tried to steer clear of the federal leadership controversy, but supporters of Mr. Browne and other leading Conservatives have placed him in the Fulton camp.

He succeeds Stuart Fleming of Vernon who did not seek re-election.

Mr. Fleming and Mr. Wickson came under fire from Mr. Browne's Vancouver-Kingsway Constituency Association last December. The two provincial executives were accused of loading the B.C. delegation to the national Conservative meeting in Ottawa last fall with Dalton Camp supporters.

They were also criticized on organizational questions and because the party fielded only three candidates in last September's provincial election. None was elected.

Mr. Wickson's candidacy was endorsed by Mr. Fleming.

NO ACTION ON MOVING LEGISLATURE TO MAINLAND

Tories Shy Away from Capital Idea

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Progressive Conservative Association Saturday declined to take any action on a resolution favoring moving the provincial capital from behind the tweed curtain to the Mainland.

The suggestion came from Vancouver-area delegates who described location of the seat of government in Victoria as "outdated economies".

It brought a storm of applause and laughter from delegates to the association's annual meeting—except those from lower Vancouver Island.

"Unthinkable!" gasped an elderly woman from Victoria.

"Move it to Kamloops!" shouted a delegate from the Kootenays. "Maybe then (Highways Minister) Gaglardi wouldn't have an excuse to fly his jet home on the weekends."

"The inefficiency of having the capital on the southernmost portion of Vancouver Island is an expense we can no longer afford," said a spokesman for the Burnaby-Edmonds constituency delegation that raised the resolution.

A Vancouver Island delegate said it would cost a fortune to "move the Parliament Buildings to the Interior or Lower Mainland—and all those civil servants."

But a delegate from Esquimalt-Saanich was unconcerned with the proposed move.

"As far as I'm concerned, the farther away Premier Bennett and his government are from me, the happier I am," he said.

The resolution was referred back to committee for further study.

No Support For Others PC's Rule

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Progressive Conservative Association Sunday approved a resolution calling for the resignations of all Conservative party officials who support candidates from other parties in future elections.

The resolution amended the association constitution to prevent any party executive publicly endorsing candidates of other parties from holding their offices.

The measure was apparently aimed at Greater Vancouver Tory officials who endorsed several Social Credit and Liberal candidates in ridings where the Conservatives were unable to field candidates in the last provincial election.

The resolution brought a stiff protest from lawyer Mary Southin who lost in the Vancouver South riding in the 1965 federal election to Northern Development Minister Laing.

FAIR HEARING

Miss Southin said the party should not put itself in a position where it would have to drum people out of its executive without a fair hearing.

Other delegates disagreed.

"This kind of thing damages the party," said one Fraser Valley representative.

"People can vote how they want, but officers should not be allowed to speak out in favor of candidates from other parties.

"You must draw the line at public comment."

Conservatives were able to field only three candidates in the provincial election last September, all of whom ran well behind the winners.

Delegates to the three-day meeting that ended Sunday also approved a motion favoring a provincial leadership convention before the end of 1967.

The provincial party has been without a leader since Davie Fulton returned to federal politics in 1965.

The resolution was passed without comment and no date was mentioned.

Pair Facing Fraud Trial

NELSON (CP) — Two men have been charged here with conspiring to obtain money from British Columbia Hydro by false pretences between last May and December.

The charges against Harold Hinch and Thomas Salanski, both of Cranbook, said they conspired with the late Thomas G. Read, former Hydro land supervisor for the Arrow Lakes who was found dead in his home Jan. 26.

Dr. F. B. Maxfield, Nakusp coroner, said his inquiry into Read's death found he had committed suicide by taking a large dose of barbiturates.

Meanwhile in Vancouver a writ has been issued to recover $34,405 from Hinch and Salanski and four companies which had contracts for Hydro work.

"RIGHT ON TOP" of job this morning at Smith's Cedar Products where fire broke out in centre of five drying kilns is city "smoke-eater" who had dense "meal" difficult to stomach. Firemen lugged hoses to kiln roof-top. dropped them through air vents and holes they punched.

Firemen, Workers Team Up To Make Good Save at Mill

Smoke Masks Worn To Fight Kiln Fire

By GLEN ALLEN

Night shift city firemen and day shift millworkers joined hands early this morning to lick a potentially explosive kiln fire at Smith's Cedar Products on Harbor Road.

Under Deputy Chief Carl Coates, four fire trucks responded to a call from the Point Ellice mill yard's night engineer at 6:32 a.m.

Firemen, some wearing masks in the thick steam and smoke coming from one of the five dry kilns at the plant, punched holes in the kiln roof for hose lines.

Other hoses were dropped through air vents in the roof.

By 7:15 a.m. the yard area was a lattice work of hoses and "bucket brigade" lines of millworkers, passing out the charred, wet bundles of shingles.

The kiln where the fire started, apparently by spontaneous combustion, held about 2,000 bundles of shingles, said a mill foreman.

TO SCHOOL FIRE

All but one of the trucks left the scene shortly after 8 a.m. for the fire at Victoria High School.

One truck remained at the yard pumping water into the kiln until 10 a.m.

The kiln was equipped with an automatic sprinkler system, which was activated but couldn't curb the intense heat and fire.

'NOT TOO BAD'

Smith's Cedar Products president Hershell Smith said no estimate of damage could be made until salvage operations are complete.

"But it's not too bad," he said. "We didn't lose much in shingles and there's only the roof to be patched up.

"These things start from time to time."

Mr. Smith said a hot spot develops in the middle of a pile of drying shingles, and begins to smoulder.

"The men have been through this before. They know what to do."

Normal mill operations were to begin again this afternoon.

CLOSED WEEK

The last major fire at Smith's, in April, 1960, closed the plant for a week and destroyed 5,000 bundles of shingle.

The 1960 fire was also confined to one drying kiln.

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. had a fire boat standing by off Smith's yard in case it was needed.

MINOR INJURIES

Other than cut hands and splinter injuries, no one was seriously hurt battling the blaze.

Deputy Chief Coates said most of the damage was done to stock. The interior of the kiln he said was only slightly burned.

The deputy said spontaneous combustion might have been caused by "one bundle of shingles being dryer than the others."

Shingles are dried in the kilns by heat from steam pipes.

He said the sprinkler system perhaps retarded the flames, "but couldn't get to the heart of the fire."

END OF ERA

School Board Set for Move To Lansdowne

This week marks the end of an era for Greater Victoria's two principal institutions of learning.

The University of Victoria will move the last of its staff from the Lansdowne campus and consolidate all its activities on the Gordon Head campus.

And Greater Victoria school board will move from stately Craigdarroch Castle to new premises vacated by the university at Lansdowne.

But the university will retain ownership of most of the Lansdowne property in case it should be needed in future, and the school board is also holding on to the castle in case it may be needed in the future.

The school board is moving into the Paul Building which it bought last year from Uvic. It has also rented the Ewing Building at Lansdowne for the use of the Institute of Adult Studies.

The third property at Lansdowne, the Young Building, now stands empty, except for a small section which houses the Victoria School of Art, a part of the Adult Institute.

The future use of the Young Building is now being considered by the university.

STUDIOS

One possibility is that it may be rented out as studios for such groups as the Arts Council of the Victoria Symphony Society.

But another possibility is that it may be used eventually to house a specialized school of the university. A university faculty committee is now studying proposals to establish a law school, a school of nursing, and a school of social work. If the decision is made to open any such schools then classes would likely be held in the Young Building.

In any case, Uvic wants to retain the property in case growing enrolment of students is eventually too big to be accommodated on the Gordon Head campus.

At present only two university offices are at Lansdowne — the university development office and the information service. These will move out Wednesday.

Talks Friday On Proposed Burns Unit

Representatives from labor, management and St. Joseph's Hospital will meet Friday to discuss possible mechanics in raising funds for a burns treatment unit.

The project has been under consideration for more than a year. Last summer, the Victoria Labour Council chose the burns unit as its Centennial project.

Since then, the strike-lockout involving carpenters and contractors, the pre-Christmas charity appeals and Christmas itself have delayed a firm start towards raising money.

Friday's meeting will be attended by three representatives from the Victoria Labour Council, three from the local branch of the Amalgamated Construction Association of B.C. and three from the hospital.

PLANS SHOWN

Pat Blewett, assistant administrator at St. Joseph's Hospital, said plans for the burns unit will be shown at the meeting.

These are different to the ones previously discussed.

Instead of a five-bed unit within the hospital, it is planned now as an extension.

This has increased the total cost to $156,000 from the $90,000 indicated earlier.

Federal and provincial contributions would amount to $77,000, leaving $79,000 to be raised locally.

Under the previous plan, $50,000 would have come from senior governments with $40,000 needing to be raised locally.

NO CENTENNIAL CASH

Because the burns unit is entitled to federal and provincial grants, it is not allowed anything in the form of Centennial money.

Of the total cost of $156,000, the new building of 2,800 square feet would cost $89,600 and equipment $66,400.

Plastic surgeon Dr. Paul Gareau will attend the meeting to explain details of the burns unit and its operation.

The unit would provide treatment not available here for severe burns. Elaborate ventilation and other equipment would keep it germ-free.

Ex-MLA Impaired, Car Hits Monument

Former alderman and MLA J. Donald Smith, 47, of 1651 St. Francis Wood, was fined $300 in central court today when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

He was arrested at about 3:30 a.m., February 25, after police found his car stuck on a low-lying monument in Pioneer Square, near Christ Church Cathedral.

The car had been eastbound on Broughton to where it ends at Quadra had crossed Quadra and gone over the sidewalk about 20 feet into the square, court was told.

Mr. Smith had pleaded not guilty in an earlier court apearance but today changed his plea to guilty. His driving licence was also suspended.

Juvenile Hurt In Gorge Crash

Youth's Borrowed Car Thrown Into Air, Spins Before Colliding With Utility Pole

A 15-year-old Saanich youth is in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital after a two-car collision at Gorge and Tillicum Sunday night demolished the auto he was driving.

The youth suffered a fractured foot in the crash which caused an estimated $3,400 damage.

Saanich police said the car driven by the youth was eastbound on the Gorge Road when it was in collision with an auto headed north on Tillicum and driven by William Van Buskirk, 32, of 206 Cadillac.

The youth's car, belonging to a relative, was thrown in the air, spun around and slammed into a utility pole.

Mr. Van Buskirk was released after treatment for minor injuries.

NECK INJURIES

Murray Hooper of 1839 Haultain was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital this morning for treatment to neck injuries after a rear-end collision on Government Street near Chatham.

Police said his car was southbound on Government and braked suddenly when an oncoming car turned in front of it. It was hit from behind by an auto driven by Gordon Burdge, 5151 Cordova Bay Road. Damage was estimated at $500.

Bruce Sharp, 775 Hillside, escaped uninjured Sunday night when his car plowed into a plate glass window after its brakes failed.

INTO ALLEY

Police said Mr. Sharp was eastbound on Hillside Avenue when he discovered his brakes had gone and swung into an alley. The car struck the six by 12-foot display window of McCall Davey Drugs, 3074 Shelbourne.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon, 4753 Rocky Point Road in Metchosin, were treated for minor injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday afternoon after a two-car crash on Kangaroo Road.

Colwood RCMP officers said damage was about $1,000 when their car was in collision with an auto driven by Donald Steigenberger, 22, of 256 Atkins.

BUTT BLAMED FOR FIRE AT SAFEWAY

A cigarette butt dropped in a trash container is thought to have started a fire which damaged a washroom at the Town and Country shopping plaza Saturday night.

About a dozen coats belonging to the staff at the Safeway store in the plaza received smoke and water damage when the blaze broke out in a women's washroom at the rear of the stock room.

Saanich firemen quickly extinguished the fire.

School Shift Protested By Trustees

The chairman of four school boards in this area have protested to Education Minister Leslie Peterson about a proposal to change the site of the projected Greater Victoria vocational school.

In a telegram to the minister they said any change now made in the site will result in further delay to the long-awaited school.

Construction of the school was supposed to have been started by now at Tillicum and Trans-Canada Highway, according to an announcement last year by the department of education.

But Education Minister Peterson says difficulty in acquiring a parcel of land owned by B.C. Hydro has held up the start of construction.

He now says his department is considering moving the site of the school to Wilkinson Road, although there are sewerage problems there.

TELEGRAM

The chairman of Greater Victoria, Sooke, Saanich and Gulf Island school boards today sent the minister the following telegram:

"Strongly recommend exploration of Tillicum site for vocational school. This site is preferred location by all areas. Has no sewage or rezoning problems.

"Four school boards of capital region consider that the government agreed on this site and commitment was made by the department of education on Jan. 15, 1966.

"Further delay would inevitably result if site was changed. Design and construction should proceed with great vigor. The need is great and time is short."

Lack of Funds Cancels Speech By Mrs. Oswald

The mother of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused killer of President Kennedy, will not be coming to speak in Victoria.

Her engagement to speak here has been cancelled because of lack of funds for her travelling expenses.

This was announced Sunday by Gordon Pollard, president of the Victoria Polical Forum, which was to sponsor her appearance.

Mrs. Marguerita Oswald was to outline the reasons why she thinks her son was innocent of President Kennedy's murder and was, in fact, an agent of the U.S. Central U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Ex-Minister PM Aide Here Tonight

One of Canada's elder statesmen, and one of its outstanding young men in politics, will take part in a seminar tonight at the University of Victoria.

Howard Green, former external affairs minister, and Pierre-Elliot Trudeau, parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson, will appear in the third event of the Canada 99 series.

They will discuss Canada's role in international affairs. The seminar, open free to the public, will start at 8 p.m. in the Students' Union Building.

Children's Ombudsman Requested

The provincial government has been asked to appoint a "children's ombudsman."

The request was made among three recommendations forwarded to the cabinet at the weekend by the B.C. division of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Graydon Roberts, president of the division, said the government should name a senior government official as a "children's ombudsman" to serve as a liaison officer and consultant to various government and voluntary agencies.

"We have also proposed that the 'children's ombudsman' serve as secretary of a provincial committee on children's affairs," Mr. Roberts said.

The committee would advise the ministers of health, education, welfare and attorney-general on matters pertaining to the planning, co-ordination and operation of children's services in B.C.

In addition, the CMHA recommended that more funds be spent on training centres at B.C. universities where medical students, psychologists, social workers, nurses and teachers are prepared for work in the mental health field.

It also said the government should establish "a full range of services for the prevention and treatment of mental and emotional disorders in children."

'Gross Contempt' Driver Jailed

A man caught twice in the same week driving while his licence was under suspension was jailed for three months today.

George Emsley, 24, of 1205 Juno, had shown "a gross contempt" for the law, said Magistrate Byers in passing sentence.

City police stopped Emsley's car on Blanshard Feb. 25 and again on Yates Street March 4.

Q. What does F.M. stand for?

A. Probably Field-Marshal, says Cassell's Dictionary of Quotations. But it could also be Field Magnet, Flight Mechanic, Foreign Mission, Fraternitas Medicorum, Fraternite Mondiale, Frequency Modulation or Friars Minor.

Q. A friend argues that more immigrants to Canada settle in the western provinces than in the east. I think it's the other way around. Who's right. A. F.

A. You are. Of 146,000 immigrants who came to Canada in 1965, 113,000 settled in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. Of the West's share, however, B.C. took more than half, almost 19,000. This is still only one-quarter the number making Ontario their home.

CANADA COUNCIL

Fellowship Of $5,000 For Artist

A Victoria artist has been awarded a $5,000 senior Canada Council fellowship for study of print techniques in Europe, Eastern Canada and the United States.

Pat Martin Bates, 959 Clent, whose work is widely known and exhibited in North America, says she will use the grant to "investigate different approaches" used in workshops and art schools she visits.

WINNER

Mrs. Martin Bates, married to Lieut. C. A. Bates of the Queen's Own Rifles, has won several awards for her paintings, prints, collages and drawings, notably a Canadian Society of Painter-Etchers and Engravers award and an Ingram-Merril scholarship.

A former teacher at the University of Vicoria, she has an exhibition of the work in May in Montreal.

Fog Delays Arrival Of California Envoys

Fog in Seattle caused Mayor Ed McCoubrey of Palm Springs, California, to miss his lunch at the Union Club today.

Mayor McCoubrey, along with Jerry Hunt, general manager of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, was to have been the luncheon guest of the B.C. government.

With fog delaying the take-off from Seattle airport the visiting dignitaries were due to arrive sometime this afternoon.

While in the city Mayor McCoubrey will discuss with government and civic officials the suggestion that Palm Springs and Victoria become sister cities in the tourist business.

If the plan meets no objections Victoria will launch a campaign to encourage its citizens to go south to Palm Springs for winter vacations, while Palm Springs will encourage its citizens to spend their long hot summers in pleasanter Victoria.

By GLEN ALLEN

Boy, is California in trouble.

Announcement that a delegation of Palm Springs civic elders is en route to Victoria to cement tourist and trade ties, has brought a long pent-up roar of outrage from a local historian.

Or call it a declaration of war.

Maritime museum trustee A. G. "Lofty" Coning, keeper of a 400-year-old secret, says California legally, historically and morally actually belongs to Victoria.

"Well to the British Empire, anyway," says Mr. Coning a tall, usually good-humored sage of maritime history.

"These California people have been getting away with this 'you visit us and we'll visit you" nonsense altogether too long."

"California, mountains, surf, desert and even (ugh) Hollywood, belongs to us — and I've got proof."

His "proof" is a five by eight-inch brass plaque at the museum here from the hand of Sir Francis Drake.

Made in 1578, and found on a shore near San Francisco a few years ago, it reads — (if you can make out its exotic spelling):

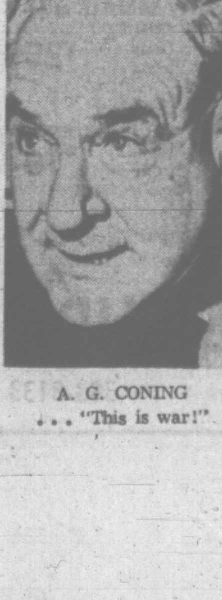
"Be it knowne unto all men by these presente — By the grace of God and in the name of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth of England for ever I take possession of this kingdom whose king and peoples freely resign their right and title in the whole land unto her Majesties' keeping. Now named by me and to bee knowne to all men as Nova Albion. — Francis Drake.

"Drake landed near San Francisco to repair the Golden Hind," says Mr. Coning" and was the first European in California. This claim stands.

"I think we should send a delegation ourselves and not such a friendly one — and to let them know we still hold the option.

"Better yet, once we get our services either integrated or non-integrated we should send a task force south.

"I wonder if 'California Here I Come' makes a good march?"



A. G. CONING
. . . "This is war!"

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Eggersman, 1981 Townley Street, have announced the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Diane, to Mr. James Keith Hendry, Victoria. The wedding will take place this coming Saturday, at 7:30, in the chapel of First United Church. Rev. R. Moses will officiate. A reception will follow in the Empress Hotel Georgian Lounge. WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Your Marriage Should Be Beginning of Long Romance

Marriage should be the beginning rather than the end of romance. However, the relationship between husband and wife is so subtle that unless real thought and effort are spent on its cultivation, the strains and stresses of everyday life may make routine what began as an ardent alliance.

Lowman

Many psychologists believe that generally speaking, men are more romantic than women. However, I feel sure that women are better fitted by nature for the job of keeping romance alive. They usually have more tact, more finesse, and more talent in creating a pleasant atmosphere. They are more aware of the little niceties which add charm to daily life. They are probably more perceptive and intuitive concerning the moods and needs of others.

Then too, a woman's husband, children, and home are, if not her whole life, at least the most important part of her life. Why then do some women settle down on marriage like a hen on a nest?

In some instances it may be because a woman married more for the security of a home and for a family than because of a great love. In most instances this probably happened because life became so complex and busy that the woman lost sight of herself as an individual and therefore, lost sight of the importance of her companionship with her husband.

Often the relationship between husband and wife begins to deteriorate when the first child arrives. Of course, the opposite should be true! However, motherhood is such a tremendous experience and so demanding as well as heartwarming, that this can easily happen unless the wife and mother gets things in focus. Without realizing it and with the best intentions, many women begin putting the children first and the husband second in their consideration and the way they plan their lives.

This is a terrific mistake because children are only loaned to us for a few years. In what seems like just a very short time, they will leave home and go out into the world to lead their own lives and build their future and find their happiness.

I know that this is a mistake because I receive thousands of letters from women who feel that life is over, that they are no longer needed, when the last child leaves home. They have lost the feeling of rapport with their husbands, and it is a shock to discover that the children were the main band between them. Marriage shoud mean shared laughter as well as shared tears.

Now, before you write me those letters, let me go on record as saying, that I realize it takes two to build a wonderful companionship. The husband must also be willing and eager to invest time and consideration in the project. A woman could be lovely to see, fun to be with, an expert in thrift, understanding and thoughtfulness and it would all be wasted on some men, and what a waste it is! However, I think that most men respond enthusiastically when they are not taken for granted by their wives.

If you feel that your marriage is not as you had hoped it would be, my leaflet "Keeping Romance Alive" may be of help. If you would like to have it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Nothing Will Match This Ideal Lighter

By Penny Saver

I've often heard stories about modern day "Robinson Crusoes" who, during a hunting or fishing trip, find they've left some necessity behind and must stretch their ingenuity to the hilt to make up for the missing item. My neighbor and I were practically reduced to tears of laughter during an "over-the-fence chat" the other day. She was telling me of a trip her husband and his friend took to the family's old cabin at an up-Island lake. The pair spent the two days huddled miserably in the cabin. It rained the whole weekend—and the cabin's roof leaked. Trying to keep warm, they were about to build a fire until they discovered that neither of them had brought anything to light it with.

Both are covered with mustard plaster now, taking all kinds of cough and sniffle remedies. Every now and then, my neighbor says she hears a disgusted grunt from her hubby and he looks at the little "get-well" gift that she gave him.

This little item is a "permanent match" that's perfect for all household and outdoor needs. It resembles an ordinary lighter and it uses lighter fluid as fuel. The metal "match" fits tightly inside the base and to use, you simply strike it on the side of the lighter.

Another special feature of these lighters, which sell for $1.39 in one shop, is the design. They have our province's Centennial Sam 'n' Sue painted on the side.

Obviously, my neighbor's husband likes his new handy lighter. She just dropped in to show me a dainty little dish of fine china that he just added to her collection.

My neighbor has been saving these Irish china pieces for years. Her new addition is in a creamy white shade with soft pink accents. It's in a rounded heart shape, and price is $4.25 in this shop. Pieces of this exquisite china are perfect for gift items. There are various patterns and hues to choose from, including pieces with rich gold highlights.

Drop in and browse in this shop, and be sure to have a close look at this dainty china. If you want to know where it is, give me a call at 382-3131.

Does Friend Tip Waiter He Knows?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Ours is a very odd problem and I hope you can help us with it. My wife and I have a friend who is a waiter in a place where we dine occasionally.

We would like to know if it is proper to tip this waiter in the usual manner when he waits on us? Because we are friends, do you think it might be considered poor taste? Thank you.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: When in doubt, offer a tip. You will know at once by your friend's reaction if he is genuinely offended. If he is, give in immediately and don't attempt to tip again.

Better to make the mistake of offering a tip when none is expected than failing to offer one when it is. (P.S. I would appreciate the opinions of waiters and waitresses who have been on the other end of this problem. I could be wrong.)

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps my experience will be helpful to the young mother who was told it would be "bad luck" to name her baby after his brother who had died in infancy.

I was named for my brother who lived only 14 months, and I have been very lucky. Some years ago when I visited the cemetery where he is buried and saw "our" name on his tiny granite headstone with the words "Born December 17, 1890. Died February 6, 1892" a strange feeling came over me. I felt that I had lived the life he never lived.

Today I am 74 and it will not be long before I shall join the brother whose name I bear. And when we meet I shall salute him and say, "Well, Ted, I did the best I could for both of us."

GRATEFUL

DEAR ABBY: For the mother who wanted to give her newborn child the same name she had given to a previous child who had died in infancy:

I am sure it has been done by many who were eager to pass their name on to a member of the younger generation. One famous case comes to mind: The late Franklin Delano Roosevelt named a son "Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr." but that child did not survive. Later another son was born, and he was given that name.

LIFT HER FACE OUT OF WINTER LINES, WRINKLES and Aging DRYNESS

...thanks to the "Wiesbaden Discovery" CEF-600

Helps Every Complexion Regain and Retain The Younger Look by Immediately Counteracting Effects of Winter's Icy Grip

No matter if your skin is typed dry, normal or even oily . . . no matter whether you enjoy being outdoors or prefer indoor protection . . . both frigid arctic air and overheated dry rooms dehydrate, drain skin of water and deprive it of the necessary moisture that pushes skin up and out to keep it as smooth, firm and wrinkle-free as the day you were married. And now, during the social season, when you particularly want to look your youngest best, "old man winter" works overtime to dry out and make your skin on face and neck flabby, sagging, rough, chapped and weatherbeaten. You look and feel years older than your age. And your husband . . . it makes him feel older too!

Your Chance for a Quicker Winter Youth

Medical journals have acclaimed the "Wiesbaden Discovery" known scientifically as CEF-600 and now embodied as the active ingredient in the cosmetic-like lotion named "2ND DEBUT." Apply "2ND DEBUT" nightly before retiring and daily before make-up. Day and night, it is constantly carrying water into the skin . . . counteracting all the skin drying effects of outside cold and inside overheating that chaps, dries, wrinkles your skin and makes it sag.

How 2ND DEBUT Works Quickly

Once again skin is moisturized, fresh, dewey radiant. Once again those aging lines and wrinkles are pushed up and out. Once again skin on face and throat is smoother and years younger in appearance. No matter how weather beaten your complexion may be, a youth-like color glows from within. Your complexion seems to have been born beautiful. Only 2ND DEBUT can bring about this fantastic skin youthifying miracle . . . in spite of winter's drying action!

For Extra Dry Skin—Or Mi-Lady In A Hurry—2ND DEBUT With Double Strength CEF 1200

New DOUBLE STRENGTH 2ND DEBUT contains CEF 1200 instead of CEF 600. It acts much faster to smooth and flatten skin made scaly by winter's icy grip . . . and it works quicker to push up and out the more deeply seated lines and wrinkles.

Important To Regular Users of 2ND DEBUT

Particularly in these winter months, in time will your skin revert to the lined and wrinkled condition it was, unless you keep using 2ND DEBUT day and night. Your skin is constantly exfoliating . . . old skin flakes off and away and new skin is constantly being born. In winter weather it is more important than ever that you keep applying 2ND DEBUT before retiring and before make-up if you want to retain your soft, smooth youthful looking complexion. Users of 2ND DEBUT with CEF 600 are urged to switch to 2ND DEBUT with CEF 1200 . . . double strength and to use it all winter long.

Satisfaction Or Money Back Is Guaranteed

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

Because of pant suits and straight hairdos, it's sometimes difficult to separate the girls from the boys. This is why I cast a vote for the coming trend toward figure-flattering dresses, feminine fabrics, hair that looks like hair. It may have been fun to look kooky, but down through the ages femininity has always won out.

What is femininity, anyway? Learn to recognize the signs. Lace, for example. Anything softly ruffly. The shimmer of silk. Velvet. A scented hankie. It's the way you look, your eyes, your voice, a smile that says, "I enjoy being a girl."

Talk like a girl. Keep screeches of laughter or anger to an absolute minimum. Your voice should be soft, low, well-modulated. Try to make it sound as if it's smiling.

Walk like a girl. Don't clump along like a member of "Mule Train." Sit like a girl should, keeping knees close together and legs slightly to one side. If your skirt length permits you to cross your legs, do it sedately.

If you're married, employ your most feminine touches. Straighten up the house before your husband comes home. Slip into a fresh frock or hostess gown. Spray on some perfume. Put candles and flowers on the table. He's sure to appreciate your efforts.

Listening is a very feminine art, too. The next time a member of the opposite sex begins a long dissertation on the stock market or the latest baseball game, force yourself to look interested. Keep your eyes on his face. Compliment him on his superior knowledge. Ask questions.

To help develop your femininity even further, remember your manners. Show genuine appreciation for courtesies received.

It's hard, in our high-key modern world, not to be aggressive. But it's not very pretty to see two women screaming like fishwives over who was first in line. Or to watch the pushing and shoving that goes on in subways and buses. Try to remain a lady, no matter what the situation.

Take Time Off Your Hands!

Now you can restore your skin to it's original silky softness with Tritles original Glycerine and Rosewater. The secret of glycerine and rosewater has been known for generations but only now has science successfully solidified this formula into a wonderful cream and lotion.
Enjoy that peaches and cream complexion and look youthful again. Soothe and smooth aging lined skin, try Tritles Glycerine and Rosewater to-day in the fragrant cream or lotion and watch your skin become softer and smoother by the day.

From Vancouver were Mr. and Mrs. David Webber and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cownden.

WED HERE

Honeymoon In the South

Following their recent wedding in St. Patrick's Church, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Donald McKenzie left on a honeymoon trip south to Los Angeles, Calif.

The bride, the former Constance Theresa Cownden, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Cownden, 1058 Monterey Avenue, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McKenzie, 1921 Ashgrove Street.

Arrangements of pale pink gladioli and plum blossoms decorated the church for the service at which Fr. William Mudge officiated. Fr. W. Aubrey gave the blessing and the bride's four brothers, Michael, Brian, Martin and David Cownden, served at the altar.

During the ceremony, soloist Walter Cownden sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" and "Oh Lord, I Am Not Worthy," accompanied by organist Mrs. Leslie Gill. He sang "Ave Maria" as the couple signed the register.

Floral Appliques

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an exquisite gown of silk bengaline, fashioned with a full skirt sweeping back en train and accented with floral appliques of silk. The bodice featured a scalloped sabrina neckline and sleeves gently tipping the elbows. Appliques of re-embroidered lace enhanced the wedding-ring headpiece which held her full-length veil of silk illusion net. She carried red roses, stephanotis and fern in her bouquet.

Matching gowns of ice green peau d'elegance were worn by the bride's four attendants; maid of honor Miss Lucille Cownden, bridesmatrons Mrs. N. Crockett and Mrs. S. Jen. and bridesmaid Miss Lois Weismeller. Their wedding ring headpieces were en tone and they carried pale pink carnations in their bouquets.

Attends Groom

Best man was Cal Nicolson. Ushering the guests were Adrian Cownden, the bride's brother, Ray May and Sig Jensen, Courtenay.

Brian Lawless proposed the toast to his niece at the reception following in the Red Lion Motor Inn. The head table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, made and decorated by the bride's father. White roses and pale pink flowers completed the table decor.

For travelling on honeymoon, the new Mrs. McKenzie donned a three-piece double-knit suit in golden brown tones, complemented with accessories en tone.

The couple will be making their home at 3137 Milgrove Avenue.

Obviously delighted with the thought of having a whole group of Canadian "mothers" to call their own, the 16-strong "family" of the Victoria Ex-Wrens Association are all smiles as they pose for this picture.

EX-WRENS ADOPT GROUP OF KOREAN YOUNGSTERS

They Have a 'Family' of 16 Beggar Boys

By PAT DUFOUR

How would you like to take a small beggar boy off the street, into your home and your heart? Or, if you could afford it, adopt 16 of them?

The Victoria Ex-Wrens Association has done exactly this and each member affirms its the best thing they have accomplished in a long time.

The group is no stranger to adoption. For the last nine years, the members have had a 'son' called Chun Tae-Ku who lives in the Korean centre of Pusan. When he first acquired his 'mothers' he was seven and living in the dreary and desperate environment of a refugee camp.

Today he is 16 and working in a radio factory, a job which he obtained through the Save the Children Fund, as he did his 'mothers'. His parents operate a small candy stall, a business made possible through their son's Canadian 'mothers'.

Now that Chun Tae-Ku is independent, the Ex-Wrens have already set about raising another 'family'. Their boys, who all at one time begged for existence in the crowded streets and market places, now live in the Yong Hwa Sook Beggar Boys' Home at Pusan.

For them, life has suddenly become a thing of joy with 'mothers' to love and write to them, food to keep them healthy, and schooling and vocational training to blot out the threat of ever having to beg for existence again.

There are seven buildings set aside for living quarters at the home. The 16 adoptees live in Gordon House, which is named for Mrs. J. Neil Gordon, national IODE Canadian president. A school, dispensary, library, dining room and vocational training school are all located at the same site.

Over 500 ex-beggar boys now live at the home which was started in 1961. The Ex-Wrens' family is the first to be 'adopted' under the group system. There are 36 other such groups hoping that fate will bring them 'mothers', too.

Sponsorship secretary, Miss Peggy McDonald, says that the family budget for their 16 'sons' is the smallest on record. It costs $100 a year to become a parent of a beggar boy family. Says Miss McDonald, "It's the best bargain that we've ever found!"

To help balance the budget, the Ex-Wrens are planning a tea, to be held at The Bay's Douglas Room on Saturday, March 11 from 2:15 to 4:30 p.m.

The 'mothers' are hoping that many Victorians will turn out to help them with the costs of their new 'family'.

Even more important, they're hoping that their example will pave the way for others to enjoy the pleasure in adopting such a family.

Promise of New 'Young' Styles Seen at Show Held on Saturday

Styles to flatter the young and young-at-heart were the theme of the fashion show and tea presented by St. Margaret's School Old Girls' Association Saturday afternoon.

There were outfits to please everyone's taste and figure to be seen as the models, school-age and older, walked among the guests in the attractive Beach Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Wilde. From slack outfits to party dresses, the ensembles gave the promise of a bright, colorful and "young" spring ahead.

For the very young, there was everything from a pert little bikini outfit in a wild orange, yellow and brown print, with matching trousers cuffed with ruffles, to a demure little suit. This was of navy blue, banded with white at lapels, neckline and pockets.

The little-girl pant suit was seen in a blending of orange and yellow, with stripes trimming pockets and lapels and peeking from under the jacket at the neckline.

Moving up a few years, another young model wore a pretty and practical pant ensemble of softest green and pink, with solid green pants topped with a shell striped round and round with the two colors.

Wide inverted pleats from yoked necklines were seen in many of the styles for the teenager. One particularly attractive party outfit was of bright, bright pink, with a wide pleat extending from a bow at the empire waistline. Sleeves were belled.

Injecting a "Mod" note into the show was a suit in bright lemon yellow, with colorful purple stripes in various sizes round and round it. Inches above the knee, the outfit was slightly indented at the waist.

Many of the suits featured A-line skirts or wide pleats for easy movement. Navy, always a popular color, appeared again and again in double-breasted and box-jacketed suits in teen and half sizes.

An exciting twist to a spring coat, in softest blue tones, was a quarter belt to keep it closed, fastened with a button in the front. A wide pleat and soft fullness added back interest.

Oatmeal shows promise of being a popular color this year and it appeared in coats and as a background color for checked tweeds. It was used in solid shade in a walking suit, accented with self-toned stitching on the yoke and lapels. A vivid highlight was a multi-colored scarf tucked in at the neckline.

On many of the outfits, if the waistline didn't actually disappear, it was certainly minimized. Millinery appeared in little high-rising bubbles, set far back on the head, or in wide-brimmed Breton sailors of solid or basket-weave design.

The guests themselves echoed the springtime atmosphere, rivalling the show itself with the colorful outfits and chapeaux they wore for the occasion.

Presiding at the refreshment tables were Mrs. T. Pepper, Mrs. F. R. Nixon, Miss Jennifer Lockyer, Mrs. L. Mellor and Mrs. R. Ratcliffe.

Helen Beirnes commented on the fashions from Eaton's and models were Elizabeth Gowan, Robyn McGowan, Deborah Ramsay, Pamela Alexis, Dale Shaw, Pamela Stephenson, Mrs. H. Townsend, Mrs. Kathleen Irving, Dr. Patricia Johnston and Mrs. K. W. Rieche. Convening the event were Mrs. H. Lauder Ramsay and Mrs. J. F. Breuker.

The proceeds realized, to be used for the association's bursary fund, totalled $85.

Role of the Consumer Outlined at Meeting

The responsibilities of the consumer public was the topic of guest speaker William Tindall of the Better Business Bureau when he addressed the Victoria Credit Women's Breakfast Club at their recent meeting in the Douglas Hotel.

Explaining the differences between an educated buyer and a spender the speaker outlined the duties of the consumer. Mr. Tindell stressed the importance of good buying habits and honesty of both the buyer and the dealer. He said that consumers should make use of the service and information now available. Mrs. E. Harwood introduced the speaker and he was thanked by Miss Georgie McKay.

Perfect attendance awards were presented to nine members. Education certificates were received by 22 members who successfully took the 1966 credit examinations and three past presidents received club history year books.

Mrs. M. Woodley, conference chairman, announced that she will be calling a meeting to discuss the district and international conference to be held in Vancouver in June.

Mrs. M. Haskell, formerly of the Portland Club, was a guest at the meeting.

LAST CONCERT OF SEASON

Good Quality, Well-Trained Ensemble

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Among the most pleasing vibrations that can fall upon the human ear, is the sound of singing from a good quality, well-trained ensemble.

The final Musical Art Society concert of the season provided an hour-and-a-half of this kind of pleasure Sunday afternoon with a recital by the Don Kyle Singers and Orpheus Ensemble at McPherson Playhouse.

Mr. Kyle conducts both ensembles and it is clear that he is at once a musician of great sensitivity and a choral conductor who knows exactly how to obtain the maximum effectiveness from his singers.

The program was divided between the mixed voice and ladies' group of the Don Kyle Singers, and Orpheus Ensemble.

Selections were well chosen for the character of the ensembles, with one exception.

The Healey Willan Gloria Deo Per Immensa Saecula was an over-reach for the Orpheus Ensemble, requiring a broader range of dynamics and a far richer chording among the male voices than this group is capable of at present.

The mixed voices, singing among other things, Schubert's To Music, Golden Slumbers and Stone's Come, Let's Be Merry, seemed to me to provide the loveliest singing of the afternoon.

That however, is saying a great deal, considering the delight of ladies' voices in Markham Lee's Go, Lovely Rose, Armstrong Gibbs' Song of Shadows and Frank Bridge's The Graceful Swaying Wattle among other things; and the Orpheus group in Brahms' A Thought Like Music and some of the Liebeslieder.

Mr. Kyle utilizes the naturally fine vocal quality of his groups with flair, drawing out smooth ribbons of tone and creating a texture that is firm yet entirely translucent.

It is particularly gratifying to hear all the words.

Well placed, forward tone, buoyant, tongue-tip enunciation contributes much, but the vibrant, highly flexible technique of the conductor is mostly responsible for making this the lively, clear and graceful singing that it is.

An ideal and most artistic piano partner for Mr. Kyle and the ensembles is Grace Timp who was ably joined for the Liebeslieder duet part by Judy McIvor.

Victoria, Oak Bay Highs Share Top Awards in Drama Festival

At conclusion of the week-long Greater Victoria Schools Drama Festival Saturday night adjudicator Mrs. Gwen Pharis Ringwood named students who had won scholarship and other prizes for outstanding individual performances.

The awards were made following an honor program selected by Mrs. Ringwood.

Elementary schools were represented by North Ward's Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil, junior secondary by St. Michael's The Rising of the Moon and senior by Oak Bay's Antigone.

Best senior actor and actress and runner-up nominations were shared by Victoria and Oak Bay Senior Secondary entries.

BEST ACTRESS

Sandra Gallagher — Catherine in Victoria's Great Catherine directed by H. C. Farr — received the best actress award and runner-up was Irene Boese who played the title role in Antigone.

Barry Flatman — Creon in the Oak Bay production directed by Phyllis Dulmage — took best actor with Ian Poole, for his Patiomkin in Great Catherine as runner-up.

Two members of the cast of Claremont's Importance of Being Ernest, Janet Southern and Jonathan Raitt, were named as second runners-up for the top awards.

JUNIOR PRIZES

Rosalind Napier of Norfolk House School's Maker of Dreams, and Blake Carter of St. Michael's won the junior prizes.

Runners-up were Jill Brock of Norfolk House's second entry, St. Anne and the Gouty Rector, Jean Weir of Oak Bay Junior's White Iris, Robert Hudson of Colquitz Junior's Royal Suspect, and Ron Gent of Oak Bay's Submerged.

Mary Vandenberg from North Ward's honor play and Marshall Lindholm from Glenlyon's Dick's Undoing, took the elementary awards.

Judith Harris of Sir James Douglas, Kathy Knight of Sooke Elementary, Martin Richards of Sir James Douglas and Ken Cameron of Dunsmuir Junior (he is a Grade 7 student and therefore elihible) followed closely.

BEST SUPPORTING

Mark Trueman Scholarships for best supporting actor and actress were won by Maureen Madill (Royal Suspect) and Lindsay White (Submerged).

Margareta Deyak and Bernie Cross were presented with the Ross Awards given by Mrs. Ian Ross to the most promising elementary actor and actress who in the opinion of the adjudicator would benefit from further training.

Both were in the cast of the North Ward honor play, Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil.

Victoria and District Parent-Teacher award for best group work in the elementary category was won by Glenlyon School.

Herring Catch Drops Sharply

VANCOUVER (CP)—The federal fisheries department has ordered another closure on the Pacific herring fishery because of depleted stocks.

W. R. Hourston, Pacific director of the department, said Saturday the March 5 closure for the Central, Northern and Queen Charlotte Islands districts is a week earlier than in past years.

The 90-boat herring fleet caught less than 150,000 tons of herring this season, a drop of 30,000 tons from last year.

Esquimalt Garden Club will hold its Spring Flower Show Saturday, April 8, in the Jubilee Hall, Fraser Street.

Censored Sex Scenes In Form of Booklets

LONDON (Reuters) — British moviegoers will be given booklets with pictures and dialogue from sex scenes cut from a movie version of James Joyce's novel Ulysses.

American director Joseph Strick said recently the British board of film censors cut two sequences from his film scheduled to open in Britain and the U.S. in March.

The were the final scene of love-making by Molly Bloom, the hero's wife, and a sequence of key-hole voyeurism by the hero, Leopold Bloom.

Strick said, "This is the only country in the world where I have been forced to make cuts."

The 42-year-old moviemaker said he would have booklets prepared to be distributed to moviegoers with the texts and pictures of the censored scenes.

It was not certain whether British authorities would allow the booklets to be distributed, although this technique has been used before in Britain with censored plays.

38 DIE ON AIRLINER

Blasts Heard Before Crash

KENTON, Ohio (UPI)—Residents of this northwestern Ohio farm area said they heard one or more explosions Sunday night before a Lake Central Airlines passenger plane plunged into a bean patch, killing all 38 persons aboard.

The airline, which never before had a fatal crash, received a telephone bomb threat last week against another airliner. That threat proved unfounded.

The FBI, which joined other agencies at the crash scene, usually is called in to help make identification of bodies and to investigate the possibility of a bomb explosion. There was no fire at the crash and identification was not expected to be difficult.

FREEZING RAIN

Investigators today combed a snow-covered soybean field for pieces of wreckage and clues to determine why the twin-engine prop jet slammed to earth in a freezing rain.

Last week in Pittsburgh an anonymous caller warned a bomb had been planted on a Lake Central plane that had taken off from that city. A search of the plane was made at Youngstown, Ohio, but no bomb was found.

The crash occurred about eight miles northeast of here on a farm owned by Charles Redding. The scene was sealed off while the wreckage, scattered over an area a mile wide, was searched by FBI agents, the state highway patrol and a 12-member team from the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Most of the dead were still strapped in their seats.

Brazilian Air Crash Kills 56

MONROVIA, Liberia (CP) — A Brazilain airliner carrying 89 persons crashed into a plantation settlement while trying to land at Monrolia's International Airport Sunday, killing 65 persons including five Liberian villagers.

There were 38 survivors, officals reported, including a U.S. serviceman returning on leave from Vietnam.

The four-engined DC-8 jetliner of Varig Airlines carried 70 passengers and a crew of 19. Revising earlier casualty figures, the Rome office of the airline said 50 passengers and one crew member were killed while 20 passengers and 18 crew members survived.

The plane plunged into the plantation workers' village two miles short of the runway while attempting a landing in fog.

Wings and engines sheared off as the plane destroyed two mud huts, and burst into flames before slithering to a halt beside a church.

Survivors — mainly from the front and rear compartments — jumped to safety, then returned to help others out of the battered fuselage.

Venezuela Freedoms Suspended

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The Venezuelan government, reacting to the terrorist slaying of ex-social security chief Julio Iribarren Borges, decided Saturday to suspend constitutional freedoms only 48 hours after they had been restored.

The body of Iribarren Borges, 56, the brother of Venezuela's foreign minister, was found Friday night in a gully outside Caracas. Officials said he had been shot to death and cigarette burns on his legs indicated he had been tortured.

Authorities blamed a pro-Castro underground organization for the slaying.

The decision to again suspend the constitutional guarantees was announced after a Cabinet session called by President Raul Leoni. Interior Minister Reinaldo Leandro Mora said the move would stop "armed adventurism inspired by foreign ideas and fed from abroad by dictatorship."

'WILLPOWER' ANSWER TO MISUSE OF DRUGS

TORONTO (CP)—The best means of limiting the use of such drugs as LSD is willpower, Health Minister MacEachen said here Saturday.

Legislation against the drug would be like trying "to stuff a statute book in a vacuum that can only be filled by the exercise of personal responsibility," he said.

The minister told the centennial banquet of the International Order of Alhambra that the same thing applied to the "bizarre and dangerous" practice of glue-sniffing.

In fact, he said, it aplied to smoking, drinking and over-eating.

"Should the government make smoking an offence?"

"I think not," Mr. MacEachen said. It was the government's task to inform and to educate and, in some cases, to pass legislation "to lessen some of the temptations".

Water, Gas Hazards Outlined by Planner

Don't sleep in your basement; if the water doesn't get you, the gas might.

That's advice contained in the annual report of Oak Bay planner G. O. White.

He cited an instance in the recent storm of a man getting out of his basement bed and putting his foot down in 15 inches of water.

He recommended to council that because of flooding and because escaping gas collects in basements, sleeping in basements should be prohibited.

He noted that in 1956, basements were flooded and a number of furnace motors were put out of action. These were covered by insurance. But companies have now excluded furnace motors from coverage.

He said it is not desirable that storm sewer capacities should be increased to deal with storms that occur only once in 20 or 30 years.

Inspection of older homes has shown that many people have constructed suites or workshops with equipment which could be damaged by flood. He recommends that council should give publicity to these facts and that if such establishments are flooded, no claim would be entertained.

In the recent flood, 200 calls were received and there were many more complaints which weren't made officially.

School Bands Can Get Tickets

Greater Victoria Centennial Society is aiding the Victoria Symphony Society, and district music and choral students with the purchase of 250 tickets to Verdi's Requiem, March 12 and 13.

Members of any school band or choral group may pick up free tickets at the society's office, Centennial Square, any day this week.

AWAITS TELEGRAM ANSWER

'Prove It or Retract' Curtis Tells Bennett

Allegations of misuse of funds by municipalities must be substantiated or retracted, Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis said over the weekend.

In a telegram to Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, the reeve said he views "most seriously" a comment made by Premier Bennett Friday.

The premier, during debate on an amendment to the Municipalities Aid Act, said: "They have been mususing funds — they've caught themselves in their own glue."

Reeve Curtis said he sent the telegram to Mr. Campbell because he is the minister responsible for municipal affairs and the premeir's statement was about municipalities.

This mroning, Mr. Campbell said he has not received the telegram and had no comment.

Reeve Curtis, in his telegram hoped the comment was a hasty one made "in the heat of debate" in which case it should be retracted.

ALL CONDEMNED

But if the comment properly reflected the attitude of the premier and finance minister, "then it is essential that this allegation be supported by facts at the earliest possible monent."

The comment "condemns every level of municipal office," he said.

Mayors, reeves and council members have been ctiticized through innuendo and senior staff officials "through implication" have been charged with "inefficiency and carelessness" in their advice to councils.

SAME TREATMENT

Another view was expressed by Fred Boulter, former Sooke School Board trustee.

He said the premier's remarks reflect what the municipalities say to school boards when these boards present their annual budgets.

"Councils now are getting the same treatment they have been giving to school boards," said Mr. Boulter.

Get away in a Volkswagen Custom for $1798. (Maximum Suggested Retail Price). F.O.B. Port of Entry.

Get away cheap.

The trick to enjoying a vacation is to spend your money where you spend your vacation. And not in the car getting there.

In this respect, the Volkswagen is very tricky. It averages 32 miles on a gallon of gas. Regular gas. Hardly ever needs oil between changes. And goes about 35,000 miles on a set of tires.

The end result, a Volkswagen that can get you from Montreal to Miami Beach for $35.60. Or from Toronto to Banff for $44.36. Or from Vancouver to Expo for $59.46.

On the Volkswagen Family Plan, your wife and kids ride free.

Some other reasons for putting it all behind you in a Volkswagen:

(1) The Volkswagen engine is in the back of the car. It presses down on the drive wheels to give you superior traction in snow. (You can't get to Banff if you can't get out of your driveway.)

(2) The Volkswagen's rear-mounted engine is air-cooled. So you never buy anti-freeze. And you never start a vacation hiring a rent-a-car because your engine block is cracked. There's nothing in a VW engine to freeze up. Or to boil over in Acapulco.

For more fascinating lore on faraway places, see your friendly travel agent. Your local authorized Volkswagen dealer.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Association

This week's series will cover the problem of reopening the bidding when your opponents stop at a part score. We start with a horrible example from a match-point duplicate game.

2 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♥	Pass
Pass	Dble	Pass	3 ♠
Dble	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♦ K

There was nothing wrong with the first round of bidding. West had a sound opening bid and South was justified in reopening. He had spades and it was obvious after East's pass that North was going to show up with some strength.

West's two diamond bid was a trifle dangerous but West was looking at three aces and two kings. North's raise to two spades was sound. East's three-heart bid was typical duplicate tactics. He had passed to one heart and now was ready to compete. South and East had done all they could and North proceeded to double three hearts. His theory was that his partner would make two spades for a score 110 (60 plus 50 for the part score) and that if he set three hearts one trick he would only collect 100 points unless he doubled.

His analysis was correct. Playing at three hearts West would have to lose two heart tricks and one trick in each other suit. Unfortunately, North had reckoned without his partner. South was unwilling to defend against three hearts doubled and ran out to three spades.

West doubled this on general principles and five potential tricks. As the cards lay, West might actually have beaten South two tricks by opening the king of clubs although South could hold his loss to one by guessing the location of every card, but West started out by taking his high red cards and South was down one for the same bottom score that down two would have been.

145 BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

If You Like Peeling Potatoes and Wheeling Money to the Bank— READ THIS!

We are really excited about the potential of this listing. The owners bought this fish and chip shop last year, and although business has remained level, due to health and family reasons, they haven't captured all the available trade. In a shopping centre by one of the city's largest food outlets, on one of the city's busiest corners, with cars, cars all day long you can't miss. Equipment of about $5,000 in A-1 condition was all steam-cleaned in November. Hurry on this. Note we have listed this at a loss to the vendors but first one to put up cash to mortgage gets it. Asking ONLY [illegible]995 with approximately $2,300 [illegible] and assume mortgaging of about $7,700 on reasonable terms. Please hurry! J. MAYBIE and F. WILLS, 388-4271.

If You Like Selling Merchandise and Wheeling Money To The Bank— READ THIS!

Ron and I are nearly as excited as Jack and Frank about this traffic grabber. Another unwell vendor, with a housewares store in shopping centre with a "Safeway," wishes to sell quickly. For $13,000 you can purchase all fixtures (beautifully laid out by Toronto firm to appeal to lady shopper) equipment including paint machine, paint mixer, 100-lb. capacity scale, electric cash register with totals, Monarch rapid type pricing machine, 48" capacity glass cutting machine, "one-ton" nail vendor, heaters, etc., all in excellent condition. Traffic is very heavy and the landlord (one of the biggest) owns all adjacent land for future expansion. This is at a major intersection just inside 2-mile circle. Imperial oil are spending $750,000 just across the corner!! Two of the city's biggest drug stores, 5 gas stations, a Dairy Queen, 3 barbers, are a few of the happy business owners by this main intersection. The vendors wish to travel for health reasons, so must sell. Please no dickering. The price is fair. Stock is to be taken at time of sale and is about $20,000. 150 HOUSES FOR SALE

3 R'S

Housing critics have said "a man's home should be his castle—but it's more like a fish bowl." The concept of the home as a place of Refuge, Rest and Renewal has been lost. The problem of visual protection (privacy) and the achievement of the 3 R's has been accomplished in this home and at a cost comparable to the ordinary new housing we know today.
The Dean of the School of Design at Harvard University states that "more attention should be made to the concept of the Mediterranean court house." Heeding his erudite advice, we have used a garden court which serves as a private entrance, gives visual protection and creates a beautiful first impression. Privacy is also accomplished by the elimination of viewing windows facing the street. Unusual lighting of these front rooms has been accomplished with the use of colored luminescent panels in an architecturally-appealing design, focusing fascinating light patterns into the house.
One half level above the living room is the separate dining room. From this elevated room you can enjoy the garden court, the fireplace, the lighting of the colored panels and the special wall effects. Here in this glamorous setting, your friends and relatives will be as fascinated by your beautiful new home as you are.
On the other wing of the house, are three bedrooms, with a choice of one bathroom and double vanity, or an additional two-piece vanity bathroom and sunroom.
The family centre of the house, the kitchen, is also located at the centre of the house—the apex of the two wings. The kitchen has an L-shaped working area and a nook area. Other features such as a carport, basement with roughed in rumpus room area, complete this extraordinary home.
A house should influence the emotional life of you and your family. It must contribute to a better family life. All great homes have these qualities, but how many of these extraordinary homes can most of us afford? We think we have achieved a good result in our "House of All Seasons" which was featured in the Western Homes magazine, but even this house did not meet the cost requirements. We think the house of the 3 R's approaches the total result.
Tech Designed Homes is doing it's utmost to produce the best built, best designed home for your building dollar. Can we discuss building this House of the 3 R's for you and also show you some of our fine building sites?

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy got along together as two peas in a pod, according to movie producer Hal Roach.

Stephen

The words which exploded the myth that the hilarious pair were at each other's throats when off the movie set were music to these ears.

Roach was a guest on NBC-TV's Today show Friday when the program was given over to an exploration of the antics which made Laurel and Hardy the comic geniuses they are regarded as today.

He said they were different men off the screen. "Babe" Hardy was the country club type, always good for a golf game while Stan Laurel wasn't much for going out.

Together, they were the best visual comics of this century.

Their secret was echoed in the words of Hardy: "Any 8-year-old could feel superior to us."

That, explained Roach, is the secret of any good visual comedian because "they do things that children do thus making them funny."

He believes Jackie Gleason and Art Carney are tops in the motion picture vehicle. He doesn't think they're as good as Laurel and Hardy but only because television doesn't give them the chance. If Laurel and Hardy had tried television today they could only have done 10 minutes a week.

The reason is simple. Comedians spend years polishing and perfecting an act before intimate crowds in night clubs. This is blown with one television exposure seen by millions.

Roach feels the only reason Red Skelton is so popular is becuse he uses many characters so you never get tired of them.

Laurel, accordng to Roach, was the man with the ideas. Hardy, on the other hand, would follow the directions without objection. The team was perfect.

The program was spiced with classic comedy clips from some of the over 60 films the pair made. They have all been put together in a special Hal Roach production, "The Crazy World of Laurel and Hardy."

It will be released for theatrical distribution before it hits the small home screen.

The big drawback of the "Today" show is that itis

The big drawback of the "Today" show is that it is a two-hour program in its original form but the Seattle outlet (Channel 5) takes only the first hour. We miss a lot this way and in this case another hour with Laurel and Hardy.

SEVENTH HEAVEN 110 Acres At City's Front Door
SEA AND SKY
Hills, Valleys and Vales
Try Cash Try Trades
Try Anything

It is hard to believe that so close-in (just a hop, skip and a jump from the Colwood-Metchosin corner) one can buy 110 acres beautifully treed with a lake plus a few miles of road beds. Comprised of two 50 acres, a 6 acre plot, this holding has two road frontages with hydro to the property also the lower 5-acre piece now has water by it, and you can probably share in the cost of private line on Latoria Rd. Free of charge you get a lovely Scottish-sized mountain with 3 reinforced concrete buildings on the top. These could be the nicest hilltop homes with expansive views across the straits, Esquimalt harbour and all across the city. The 360° view defies description and is worth the price of the land alone. Vendor will sell one 50 acre parcel with option on other 50 acre parcel. Concurrently 5 acre plot can be bought with option on adjacent 50 acre plot. Options give right to use of land. The owner is a conservationist and has retained the lovely trees, and has not marred the terrain. Anyone would think they were in heaven with Victoria as a suburb. This is to be concurrently advertised in Vancouver. Owner is co-operative asking $20,000 down on whole tract, which can be by cash or trade of mortgages at cash value or offers can be subject to trade or sale of any commercial revenue producing property. For the facts call WILLS OF WHITTOME'S. Full price $89,500 cash or terms.
If you have any unique properties you wish advertised EXTENSIVELY call F. Wills for advice. J. H. Whittome & Co. Ltd., 706 Fort Street.

BEATLES NOT AT TOP YET, SAYS BRITAIN'S WHO'S WHO

LONDON (Reuters) — The Beatles and Mary Quant, an internationally - known dress designer, do not rate as top people in the latest edition of Britain's Who's Who.

Although the Queen honored them last year for helping to establish Britain's modern image abroad, they were still missing from the 400 pages of celebrities in the volume's 119th edition.

A spokesman for the Beatles said the "boys are not particularly concerned about that kind of recognition."

But Richard Lester, the American movie director who helped the Beatles to screen success in A Hard Day's Night and Help, was listed for the first time.

CONNERY GETS IN

So was Sean Connery, the Scottish actor widely known for his film roles as James Bond.

Veteran designer Cecil Beaton was the only fashion photographer officially recognized. He rated an exceptional 43 lines for achievements, including his staging of the movie and stage musical My Fair Lady.

New entries in Who's Who are chosen annually by the publishers, A. and C. Black.

Their biggest headache is people who show early brilliance in their careers and then faded from the scene.

"Once names are entered in the volume they are not erased until the person dies," said a spokesman. "This rule can cause embarrassment."

Hungarian Composer Kodaly Dies

ZOLTAN KODALY
. . . used folk melodies

BUDAPEST (AP) — Zoltan Kodaly, 84, the grand old man of Hungarian music and one of the foremost living composers, died today, the official Hungarian news agency MTI reported.

With the late Bela Bartok, Kodaly in the early years of the 20th century toured Hungary recording more than 6,000 folk melodies which formed the basis of Kodaly's compositions and played a large part in Bartok's.

Kodaly was best known in North America for his suite from his opera Harry Janos, the story of a Hungarian peasant equivalent of Baron Munchhausen, and for his Psalmus Hungaricus, for orchestra, chorus, soloists and organ.

He revolutionized music education in Hungary, developing a system of teaching by hand symbols, games and pictures with which thousands of children were taught to read and sing complex scores easily.

Kodaly was twice awarded the Kossuth Prize, Hungary's top cultural award, and Dec. 15, 1952, the day before his 70th birthday, Hungary's Communist government awarded him the order of merit, 1st grade, and the rank of "excellent artist."

Police Must Be Tough, Probe Told

Tolerant policemen are a luxury citizens cannot afford, Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council president Pat Belsher sai Friday.

He was reading a brief from the council to the royal commission on automobile insurance in which he criticized leniency toward traffic offenders.

Policemen are engaged first of all to enforce the law, he said.

"We cannot afford the luxury of a tolerant attitude towards traffic offences or to provide a personalized warning ticket service for negligent motorists," Mr. Belcher said.

The bried asked for changes in driver licensing, traffic law enforcement and driver training law, and asked for periodic medical examinations for drivers.

Suspect Remanded

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Wallace Bauman, 22, was remanded to Tuesday on $5,000 bail on a charge of possessing 306 tablets of LSD for the purpose of trafficking. The prosecution alleges the pills were worth $6,000 on the illicit market.

HOME GARDEN

Bells Ready to Ring at Easter

By HILDA BEASTALL

Every day as we search in the garden beds and borders we find another half dozen plants thrusting their spring growth upwards.

Hilda

And without even a search we can find leaf and blossom buds unfolding on trees and shrubs.

Fortunate it is that cool nights have held back new shoots so that they gradually strengthen, instead of becoming rampantly soft as they might in showery and mild weather.

The tall, showy Crown-imperials (Fritillaria imperialis) have their yellow or orange-red bells ready to ring for Easter, many varieties of daffodils will be at their best in three weeks time, early tulips will be adding their color, and the easy-to-grow rock-covering aubrieta, arabis and alyssum will be starting their display.

Just when all these things are most attractive, we shall be able to enjoy a display of a different calibre, though basically allied to it.

This will be the annual show of the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society on April 7 and 8.

We look forward to this show each year for it brings together in competition, plants which by their nature are not seen at other flower shows.

We see native woodland and bog plants, a wide range of the early primulas and ferns, all hardy material for our local gardens if the conditions there are made suitable.

We see also the rarer alpine plants and those true dwarf shrubs so right for rock gardens when they are correctly placed.

Each plant exhibited in the specimen classes bears a name label thus avoiding any chance of confusion for the newcomer or beginner wishing to add these treasures to his own garden.

A reminder will appear again nearer the show time, but meanwhile, mark the April calendar for this show on the 7th and 8th at the Memorial Hall, Christ Church Cathedral.

WANT STATION IN AUSTRALIA

Russians Seek Network To Track Space Vehicles

By THOMAS O'TOOLE
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Russians may be trying to extend their space tracking network into Australia.

If Australia agrees, it would bt the first time the Soviets have turned to the "West" for help in their space program.

More important, it could well be the first phase of a Russian effort to build up a global space tracking network along the lines of the one operated by the United States.

In its Periscope section this week, Newsweek Magazine reports that the Soviets have proposed building a tracking station in Western Australia. The magazine says the government of Prime Minister Harold Hole is "very interested in the suggestion."

For more than 400 million dollars the U.S. has built up a space tracking network that allows engineers to track and talk with spacecraft over almost any part of the globe. The largest stations in the U.S. network allow tracking and communication as far away as Mars and Venus.

In this network are stations in seven states, including Alaska and Hawaii. Besides those, the U.S. has stations on Bermuda and Antigua in the Caribbean, Ascension Island in the South Atlantic, the Canary Islands off the west coast of Africa, the large island republic of Malagasy in the Indian Ocean and Guam and Canton in the Pacific.

Tracking stations are also located in Spain, South Africa, Australia and Mexico, where they are operated under a partnership arrangement between the U.S. and the host nation.

Outside their own borders, the Russians are thought to have access only to small tracking stations, some of which can be used only to visually track satellites, not listen to their radio signals or send them radio commands. These stations are located in the eastern bloc nations, in the African nation of Mali, in the United Arab Republic and possibly in Cuba.

On manned missions, the Soviets have beefed up their network with ocean-going tracking ships — as many as 10 of them scattered across the Pacific and even into the Atlantic and Indian Oceans.

In contrast, the U.S. used only three tracking ships on manned Gemini missions, and plans to use no more than four for early Apollo flights.

A fleet of tracking vessels the size of the Soviet fleet might cost as much as 300 million dollars to build and another 50 million to 100 million dollars a year to operate, especially in years of multi-manned missions. Shipboard tracking is also an inefficient way to communicate with orbiting spacecraft — normal rolling of the ship sometimes interferes with the way signals are sent and received.

For these reasons alone, the Russians may have finally decided to expand their ground-based tracking network.

If they have, the Russian proposal to build a jointly owned and operated Australian station is just the beginning. From Australia, it might want to locate a ground station in the mid-Pacific, either in the New Zealand-owned Cook Islands or French Polynesia.

From there, the Soviets' most logical move would be eastward, to South America, then on across the Atlantic to West Africa.

The biggest stumbling block to Soviet expansion of its space tracking network are the Soviets themselves, who have long been reluctant to share any part of their space program with a foreign nation, especially one in the west.

But at least part of that mentality vanished when the Soviets signed the United Nations treaty on the peaceful uses of outer space last month. In the treaty is an article (No. 10) declaring that "to promote international co-operation," nations shall consider any request by another nation to build a space tracking station on its soil, provided the request is reasonable and the cost of constructing the station is shared equitably.

Twisted Spine Findings

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

All my medical life I have puzzled over why occasionally a girl, perhaps in her teens, will suddenly begin to get a twisted and humped spine. These cases have been particularly distressing because physicians have had so little knowledge as to the cause, and the orthopedic surgeons have found it so very hard to splint the spine, and to keep it from going on bending.

So often the disease has quickly put an end to the girl's chances of marrying and living a normal life. Fortunately some able orthopedists have now had considerable success in splinting these spines.

Now, I read a paper by Dr. R. L. Fisher of the Hospital for Special Surgery in New York, who says he has found that when this disease strikes one alike-twin, the other is very likely to get it. Also, he found four unalike twins (born at the same time, but conceived from two separate eggs in the mother's womb) of the same sex, who also had twisted spines. When a disease that is found in one alike-twin, it is almost always present in the other twin. That is very strong evidence that the trouble is inherited.

I was just reading that during the Second World War, 101 soldiers out of every 1,000 at the front broke down nervously and psychically. During the Korean War, 66 soldiers broke down out of every 1,000. And now, in Vietnam, only 15 out of 1,000 are breaking nervously.

There can be several reasons for this. One may be that better care has been taken in choosing the U.S. draftees; another is that there are more psychiatrists with the U.S. army; and another is that every so often some soldiers are sent away for a rest from battles. They may be sent to Singapore, Manila or Hong Kong, and this gives them a let-up from strain.

Recently, Dr. E. T. Wilkes said that before giving a hypodermic injection to a frightened child he sprays the area to be injected with a skin-freezing preparation, which lessens sensitiveness. As a result, the child soon has no fear of shots.

I have often wondered why this sort of thing isn't done more often, even for nervous adults who are much afraid of the needle. It would take only a few seconds to freeze the tiny area of skin, and this would be of much more value than the dab of alcohol.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Harvey Dalzell, age 12, of Selkirk, Manitoba, for his question:

What is the carbon dioxide cycle?

In nature, a cycle is a series of events with no end or beginning. Each event leads to the next and no one can say with which event the series ends and the next series begins. Such a cycle is economical because the same substance can be used and reused in a never-ending schedule of duties. One of life's vital substances is carbon dioxide and the carbon dioxide cycle is nature's method of keeping it circulating through its endless chores.

Day and night, we take in vital oxygen and return waste carbon dioxide to the air. So do all the animals and the plants. Tons of carbon dioxide are added to the atmosphere every hour and if this were the end of the story, life on our planet soon would suffocate. But it is merely one event in a series of events that dovetail together in an endless repeating cycle.

There is only one atom of difference between the two gases involved in the cycle. Oxygen gas occurs in molecules, each composed of two atoms of oxygen. A molecule of carbon dioxide is a package of one oxygen molecule plus an atom of carbon. When the carbon atom is removed, waste carbon dioxide is converted into life-giving oxygen. This chemical conversion is done automatically by the green plant world on a grand scale.

Basic Food

Plants manufacture their basic food from water and carbon dioxide. With the help of sunlight, the green chlorophyll in the foliage converts these raw materials into sugar. The elaborate chemical conversion is called photosynthesis. In the process, molecules of raw materials are broken down and remade into sugar molecules — and oxygen is a by-product. Every daylight hour, the green plant world uses tons of carbon dioxide and pours out tons of fresh oxygen. It blends with the air and breezes blow it around the globe. We take our quota of the life-giving gas and return carbon dioxide to the air—so do the plants and animals. And the two vital gases continue on in their cycle of changes.

In the normal process of respiration, the plant world gives off carbon dioxide—but not enough to supply the needs of photosynthesis. The thriving greenery also needs the carbon dioxide from animal respiration. In return for this gift from the animal world, the plant world pours out constant supplies of fresh oxygen for all the living things upon our teeming earth.

We can call this global interchanging of gases the carbon dioxide cycle or the oxygen cycle or perhaps the oxygen-carbon dioxide circle. The quiet give-and take goes on between plants and animals of the sea, just as it does on the land. Without surplus carbon dioxide from animals, plant survival would be feeble. But without a thriving plant world, the animals would not survive at all and neither would we. We depend upon plants for our vital oxygen and directly or indirectly for all of our life-giving food.

Full Naval Honors For Davy

Funeral services with full naval honors will be held Tuesday for former superintendent of HMC Dockyard, Commodore A. C. M. Davy.

The services will be in the Church of St. Andrew at Canadian Foces Base, Esquimalt, at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Commodore Davy died at his Sidney home, 725 Towner Park, Thursday, at the age of 65.

A graduate of the Royal Naval College and the Royal Naval Engineering College, he was appointed director of shipbuilding at naval headquarters in Ottawa at the outbreak of the Second World War.

DIRECTOR IN 1944

He was next appointed director of naval engineering development in 1944 and in 1946 became superintendent of Dockyard.

Following this appointment, he was awarded the Order of the British Empire.

He retired from the navy in 1955.

Shortly after retirement he was appointed western field secretary of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

He moved to Sidney in 1962 and at the time of his death was vice-chairman of the Sidney and North Saanich committee of Victoria Symphony Society. He was past secretary of Deep Cove Property Owners' Association.

Certification Bid Rejected At Hardwoods

The Labour Relations Board has rejected a certification application by the International Woodworkers of America for Island Hardwoods, 1020 Government.

The board said it was satisfied that "less than a majority" of the non-office employees were, at the date of application, members in good standing of the IWA.

But the board made three orders against the company to:

- "Cease and desist" from interfering with the formation of a trade union;
- Pay discharged employee Lamont Airney $80 in back wages and "cease" doing acts prohibited by the Labour Relations Act;
- Pay discharged employee William Davis $100 in back wages and again to "cease" doing acts prohibited by the law.

SPECIAL OBSERVANCES BY PUPILS PLANNED

British Columbia schools likely will be asked by the provincial government to hold special observances Wednesday when funeral services are held in Ottawa for the late Governor-General Georges Vanier.

No formal announcement was issued but there were indications that British Columbia would follow Ontario's footsteps where the education department had made the request to all schools. Premier Bennett was to pay a tribute to the late Governor-General at the opening of this afternoon's sitting.

State Funeral Wednesday For Gov.-General Vanier

Students arrived to find array of city and Oak Bay fire trucks surrounding school and a smouldering fire eating through attic areas. Youngsters were sent home until Tuesday. Stricken Sunday At Age 78

OTTAWA (CP) — Georges Philias Vanier, the frail, white-haired and keen-witted army general who in 1959 became Canada's second native-born head of state, died peacefully in his bedroom at Rideau Hall Sunday.

He was stricken by a heart seizure even as three heart specialists were assessing the results of tests taken last Wednesday to determine whether the 78-year-old Governor-General was fit for the gruelling schedule of Centennial Year ceremonies due to begin next month.

A state funeral here Wednesday and a simple service in Quebec City Thursday will be held for Governor-General Vanier. He will be buried later in the chapel of the Royal 22nd Regiment at the Citadel in Quebec.

Until the 11 a.m. state funeral Wednesday at the Basilica here, his body will lie in state in the mourning-draped Senate chamber where government officials, foreign dignitaries and the general public may pay their respects.

The body of Gen. Vanier was to be taken from Rideau Hall with a mounted RCMP escort to Parliament Hill later today.

At the request of the Vanier family, the state funeral service at the Basilica will be ecumenical. It will be conducted either by Maurice Cardinal Roy or Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger with participation of representatives of other Christian denominations.

TO TELEVISE FUNERAL

The family has given approval for full television coverage of state funeral services in the Basilica here.

Following services in Quebec City's Notre Dame Basilica, the body will be placed in the church crypt until a place is prepared in the Citadel chapel.

The Senate and Commons met at 2:30 p.m. today and adjourned to Thursday afternoon after paying tribute to General Vanier.

Prime Minister Pearson said the governor-general told him Friday that he would not be able to continue in office during Centennial Year.

The Prime Minister told a hushed House of Commons that the governor-general's health would not have been able to sustain the rigorous pressures of the Centennial celebration.

The Prime Minister said he immediately tried to think of some way of maintaining General Vanier's association with the historic celebration.

"What we should do is give you some position which would involve nothing to tax your

Terror-Stricken, 17 Orphans Die

TANINGES, France (CP) — Fire swept through a winter sports lodge for orphan boys in the French Alps early today, killing at least 17 boys.

Eye witnesses said 26 boys and four adult employees were taken to hospitals in nearby towns with critical injuries after they jumped out of upper-floor windows.

About 120 boys were in the lodge of Taninges, a settlement of about 2,000 persons 35 miles from Annecy.

Officials said the fire raged for almost five hours. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Cries of pain and appeals echoed through the crackling of the fire as the firemen fought the blaze.

The building was a 13th-century cloister that had been converted by the haute-savoie department into a winter orphanage. The children ranged from 8 to 16 years.

The dormitories were all on the top floor of the three-storey building. The blaze spread with alarming rapidity, and the boys panicked. Many leaped from the windows, as did the orphanage director and several of his assistants.

Others, terror-stricken, raced across the countryside through the pines and snow. Still others were caught by the collapse of huge ceiling beams which supported the roof, and died in the flames.

When the fire was finally extinguished only the shell of the building was still standing.

Reinforcements Called To Quell School Blaze

By PETE LOUDON

A smouldering fire blackened the attic areas of Victoria High School early today, closing it for classes until Tuesday.

It drew the greatest array of equipment marshalled for any fire in Victoria's recent history.

Some 1,400 students and teachers watched apprehensively from the school grounds as smoke billowed high over the four storey historic brick building.

No one was injured. And while damage was heavy, teaching areas were left almost untouched.

The fires was reported at 8:10 a.m. while Victoria firemen were already fighting a fire at Smith's Cedar Products. (See Page 21) A service truck and a pump which had been in use there were immediately sent to the school.

OAK BAY CALLED

Equipment was sent in from James Bay. Oak Bay department was called and sent a pump truck and crew, then a service truck.

An aerial truck fired its metal ladders to the school's roof. A service ambulance was sent in. In a matter of minutes eight trucks surrounded the school.

Two hoses were taken in the Grant Street main entrance. About a dozen early students helped firemen wrestle them up three flights of stairs.

HOLES CUT

Two more hoses were hoisted up the sheer front of the building to ventilators on the roof where firemen hacked holes in the slate tiles.

They said the attic was black with smoke and to find the fire they had to ventilate the area, create a draft to make the flames come to life so they could see and isolate the fire.

Fans and smoke masks were brought into use.

It was 9 a.m. before Deputy Fire Chief Carl Coates was able to report, "We've got it now, I think.

"It's a mess but we're lucky it's not worse."

The deserted corridors of the school were puddled by the snaking hoses. Water dripped from the ceiling of the fourth floor. A stairway leading to the attic storage area was white with broken plaster, black with

THIEVES STEAL TRUCK LOAD OF WHISKY

MONTREAL (CP)—Thieves hijacked a $50,000 tanker truck loaded with $152,000 worth of bourbon whisky in west-end Montreal early today and were believed headed for Ontario.

The truck, owned by Mercury Tank Lines of Calgary, was stolen from a motel parking lot where drivers Gordon Wyatt, 29, and Vern Funk, 35, both of Calgary, had stopped for the weekend before delivering the liquor today.

The 5,500 gallons of bourbon had been picked up in Bardstown, Ky., Friday and was to be delivered to Melchers Distilleries Ltd. in Berthierville, 50 miles northeast of here.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker lashed out at the Liberals, stressed the need for party loyalty and proposed new policies Saturday as Davie Fulton and George Hees listened.

He assailed the "mercenaries" he said were trying to undermine him and drive the party to "suicide."

But in speaking to reporters later at the British Columbia Progressive Conservative Association convention he declined to say whether he would stand for re-election as party leader.

He was not ready to announce his intentions "at this time or for some time to come."

Questioned about his reference at the start of his speech to "fellow candidates" — Mr. Hees and Mr. Fulton sat at the head table with him—Mr. Diefenbaker was noncommital.

Did this mean he was going to be a candidate at the September leadership convention in Toronto?

"If you want to interpret it that way, you are entirely on your own," said the Tory chief.

"It only deepened the mystery," commented Mr. Fulton when asked for his interpretation of Mr. Diefenbaker's speech.

The 600 B.C. Conservatives gave their national leader three standing ovations as he warned the party that unity was vital and "you don't build a party by placing mercenaries in the front seats."

The Conservative party is tearing itself apart and is in danger of committing political suicide," he said. There is a "gnawing at the vitals of the Conservative party from within."

He said he had remained silent despite personal and other attacks on him from outside and from within the party.

Turning his guns on the Liberals and Prime Minister Pearson, the Opposition leader said Mr. Pearson is going to Washington for talks with President Johnson on the condition that nothing is said about the Viet-nam war.

"We need something better than a leader with putty for a spine," he said.

The cabinet was divided three ways in its economic policies, as represented by Walter Gordon, Mitchell Sharp and middle-of-the-roader Paul Martin.

Mr. Diefenbaker also attacked what he called the Liberals' two-nation policy and said Canada is one nation.

He had some words for Defence Minister Hellyer—there's a "Hellyer of a mess" in Ottawa — and repeated that the Conservatives cannot accept his armed forces unification policy.

The development of rapid transit railway lines is vital to Canada and particularly to the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts, he said, and the government should make sure that an extra rail line is built in the west through 99-year loans.

Another resolution urging marketing of liquor by private retailers was approved by a narrow margin.

However, a similar motion urging substantial reforms in liquor legislation, including an

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain prices were firm in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Most of the dealings were confined to oilseeds with flax disclosing small export buying in early trade, but no confirmation was received at the close. Flax aided rallies in rapeseed and hedging sales were light in both commodities.

Some activity was reported in barley and although there was evidence of shipping interest, no business was confirmed.

Rye showed rallying tendencies and received some stimulation from upturns in Chicago wheat and rye.

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures prices advanced more than 4 cents on a wave of bullish sentiment that affected all other grain futures prices on the Chicago board of trade today.

Prices receded after the advance had been established up to about noon.

Continued lack of moisture in the winter-wheat belt of the U.S. southwest was one factor in wheat's forward movement. But it also had good buyer support from local traders and commercial interests. Purchases for export were virtually negligible.

Shares Delisted

TORONTO (CP) — Shares of Cariboo Gold Quartz Mining Co. Ltd. have been delisted by the Toronto Stock Exchange at the request of the company.

Increased costs and disappointing ore development resulted recently in closing the mine in British Columbia.

"RIGHT ON TOP" of job this morning at Smith's Cedar Products where fire broke out in centre of five drying kilns is city "smoke-eater" who had dense "meal" difficult to stomach. Firemen lugged hoses to kiln roof-top. dropped them through air vents and holes they punched.

Smoke Masks Worn To Fight Kiln Fire

By GLEN ALLEN

Night shift city firemen and day shift millworkers joined hands early this morning to lick a potentially explosive kiln fire at Smith's Cedar Products on Harbor Road.

Under Deputy Chief Carl Coates, four fire trucks responded to a call from the Point Ellice mill yard's night engineer at 6:32 a.m.

Firemen, some wearing masks in the thick steam and smoke coming from one of the five dry kilns at the plant, punched holes in the kiln roof for hose lines.

Other hoses were dropped through air vents in the roof.

By 7:15 a.m. the yard area was a lattice work of hoses and "bucket brigade" lines of millworkers, passing out the charred, wet bundles of shingles.

The kiln where the fire started, apparently by spontaneous combusion, held about 2,000 bundles of shingles, said a mill foreman.

TO SCHOOL FIRE

All but one of the trucks left the scene shortly after 8 a.m. for the fire at Victoria High School.

One truck remained at the yard pumping water into the kiln until 10 a.m.

The kiln was equipped with an automatic sprinkler system, which was activated but couldn't curb the intense heat and fire.

'NOT TOO BAD'

Smith's Cedar Products president Hershell Smith said no estimate of damage could be made until salvage operations are complete.

"But it's not too bad," he said. "We didn't lose much in shingles and there's only the roof to be patched up.

"These things start from time to time."

Mr. Smith said a hot spot develops in the middle of a pile of drying shingles, and begins to smoulder.

"The men have been through this before. They know what to do."

Normal mill operations were to begin again this afternoon.

CLOSED WEEK

The last major fire at Smith's, in April, 1960, closed the plant for a week and destroyed 5,000 bundles of shingle.

The 1960 fire was also confined to one drying kiln.

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. had a fire boat standing by off Smith's yard in case it was needed.

MINOR INJURIES

Other than cut hands and splinter injuries, no one was seriously hurt battling the blaze.

Deputy Chief Coates said most of the damage was done to stock. The interior of the kiln he said was only slightly burned.

The deputy said spontaneous combustion might have been caused by "one bundle of shingles being dryer than the others."

Shingles are dried in the kilns by heat from steam pipes.

He said the sprinkler system perhaps retarded the flames, "but couldn't get to the heart of the fire."

END OF ERA

School Board Set for Move To Lansdowne

This week marks the end of an era for Greater Victoria's two principal institutions of learning.

The University of Victoria will move the last of its staff from the Lansdowne campus and consolidate all its activities on the Gordon Head campus.

And Greater Victoria school board will move from stately Craigdarroch Castle to new premises vacated by the university at Lansdowne.

But the university will retain ownership of most of the Lansdowne property in case it should be needed in future, and the school board is also holding on to the castle in case it may be needed in the future.

The school board is moving into the Paul Building which it bought last year from Uvic. It has also rented the Ewing Building at Lansdowne for the use of the Institute of Adult Studies.

The third property at Lansdowne, the Young Building, now stands empty, except for a small section which houses the Victoria School of Art, a part of the Adult Institute.

The future use of the Young Building is now being considered by the university.

STUDIOS

One possibility is that it may be rented out as studios for such groups as the Arts Council of the Victoria Symphony Society.

But another possibility is that it may be used eventually to house a specialized school of the university. A university faculty committee is now studying proposals to establish a law school, a school of nursing, and a school of social work. If the decision is made to open any such schools then classes would likely be held in the Young Building.

In any case, Uvic wants to retain the property in case growing enrolment of students is eventually too big to be accommodated on the Gordon Head campus.

At present only two university offices are at Lansdowne — the university development office and the information service. These will move out Wednesday.

Ex-MLA Impaired, Car Hits Monument

Former alderman and MLA J. Donald Smith, 47, of 1651 St. Francis Wood, was fined $300 in central court today when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

He was arrested at about 3:30 a.m., February 25, after police found his car stuck on a low-lying monument in Pioneer Square, near Christ Church Cathedral.

The car had been eastbound on Broughton to where it ends at Quadra had crossed Quadra and gone over the sidewalk about 20 feet into the square, court was told.

Mr. Smith had pleaded not guilty in an earlier court apearance but today changed his plea to guilty. His driving licence was also suspended.

Juvenile Hurt In Gorge Crash

Youth's Borrowed Car Thrown Into Air, Spins Before Colliding With Utility Pole

A 15-year-old Saanich youth is in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital after a two-car collision at Gorge and Tillicum Sunday night demolished the auto he was driving.

The youth suffered a fractured foot in the crash which caused an estimated $3,400 damage.

Saanich police said the car driven by the youth was eastbound on the Gorge Road when it was in collision with an auto headed north on Tillicum and driven by William Van Buskirk, 32, of 206 Cadillac.

The youth's car, belonging to a relative, was thrown in the air, spun around and slammed into a utility pole.

Mr. Van Buskirk was released after treatment for minor injuries.

NECK INJURIES

Murray Hooper of 1839 Haultain was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital this morning for treatment to neck injuries after a rear-end collision on Government Street near Chatham.

Police said his car was southbound on Government and braked suddenly when an oncoming car turned in front of it. It was hit from behind by an auto driven by Gordon Burdge, 5151 Cordova Bay Road. Damage was estimated at $500.

Bruce Sharp, 775 Hillside, escaped uninjured Sunday night when his car plowed into a plate glass window after its brakes failed.

INTO ALLEY

Police said Mr. Sharp was eastbound on Hillside Avenue when he discovered his brakes had gone and swung into an alley. The car struck the six by 12-foot display window of McCall Davey Drugs, 3074 Shelbourne.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon, 4753 Rocky Point Road in Metchosin, were treated for minor injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday afternoon after a two-car crash on Kangaroo Road.

Colwood RCMP officers said damage was about $1,000 when their car was in collision with an auto driven by Donald Steigenberger, 22, of 256 Atkins.

BUTT BLAMED FOR FIRE AT SAFEWAY

A cigarette butt dropped in a trash container is thought to have started a fire which damaged a washroom at the Town and Country shopping plaza Saturday night.

About a dozen coats belonging to the staff at the Safeway store in the plaza received smoke and water damage when the blaze broke out in a women's washroom at the rear of the stock room.

Saanich firemen quickly extinguished the fire.

School Shift Protested By Trustees

The chairman of four school boards in this area have protested to Education Minister Leslie Peterson about a proposal to change the site of the projected Greater Victoria vocational school.

In a telegram to the minister they said any change now made in the site will result in further delay to the long-awaited school.

Construction of the school was supposed to have been started by now at Tillicum and Trans-Canada Highway, according to an announcement last year by the department of education.

But Education Minister Peterson says difficulty in acquiring a parcel of land owned by B.C. Hydro has held up the start of construction.

He now says his department is considering moving the site of the school to Wilkinson Road, although there are sewerage problems there.

TELEGRAM

The chairman of Greater Victoria, Sooke, Saanich and Gulf Island school boards today sent the minister the following telegram:

"Strongly recommend exploration of Tillicum site for vocational school. This site is preferred location by all areas. Has no sewage or rezoing problems.

"Four school boards of capital region consider that the government agreed on this site and commitment was made by the department of education on Jan. 15, 1966.

"Further delay would inevitably result if site was changed. Design and construction should proceed with great vigor. The need is great and time is short."

Talks Friday On Proposed Burns Unit

Representatives from labor, management and St. Joseph's Hospital will meet Friday to discuss possible mechanics in raising funds for a burns treatment unit.

The project has been under consideration for more than a year. Last summer, the Victoria Labour Council chose the burns unit as its Centennial project.

Since then, the strike-lockout involving carpenters and contractors, the pre-Christmas charity appeals and Christmas itself have delayed a firm start towards raising money.

Friday's meeting will be attended by three representatives from the Victoria Labour Council, three from the local branch of the Amalgamated Construction Association of B.C. and three from the hospital.

PLANS SHOWN

Pat Blewett, assistant administrator at St. Joseph's Hospital, said plans for the burns unit will be shown at the meeting.

These are different to the ones previously discussed.

Instead of a five-bed unit within the hospital, it is planned now as an extension.

This has increased the total cost to $156,000 from the $90,000 indicated earlier.

Federal and provincial contributions would amount to $77,000, leaving $79,000 to be raised locally.

Under the previous plan, $50,000 would have come from senior governments with $40,000 needing to be raised locally.

NO CENTENNIAL CASH

Because the burns unit is entitled to federal and provincial grants, it is not allowed anything in the form of Centennial money.

Of the total cost of $156,000, the new building of 2,800 square feet would cost $89,600 and equipment $66,400.

Plastic surgeon Dr. Paul Gareau will attend the meeting to explain details of the burns unit and its operation.

The unit would provide treatment not available here for severe burns. Elaborate ventilation and other equipment would keep it germ-free.

Lack of Funds Cancels Speech By Mrs. Oswald

The mother of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused killer of President Kennedy, will not be coming to speak in Victoria.

Her engagement to speak here has been cancelled because of lack of funds for her travelling expenses.

This was announced Sunday by Gordon Pollard, president of the Victoria Polical Forum, which was to sponsor her appearance.

Mrs. Marguerita Oswald was to outline the reasons why she thinks her son was innocent of President Kennedy's and was, in fact, an agent of the U.S. Central U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Children's Ombudsman Requested

The provincial government has been asked to appoint a "children's ombudsman."

The request was made among three recommendations forwarded to the cabinet at the weekend by the B.C. division of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Graydon Roberts, president of the division, said the government should name a senior government official as a "children's ombudsman" to serve as a liaison officer and consultant to various government and voluntary agencies.

"We have also proposed that the 'children's ombudsman' serve as secretary of a provincial committee on children's affairs," Mr. Roberts said.

The committee would advise the ministers of health, education, welfare and attorney-general on matters pertaining to the planning, co-ordination and operation of children's services in B.C.

In addition, the CMHA recommended that more funds be spent on training centres at B.C. universities where medical students, psychologists, social workers, nurses and teachers are prepared for work in the mental health field.

It also said the government should establish "a full range of services for the prevention and treatment of mental and emotional disorders in children."

Ask The Times

Q. What does F.M. stand for?

A. Probably Field-Marshal, says Cassell's Dictionary of Quotations. But it could also be Field Magnet, Flight Mechanic, Foreign Mission, Fraternitas Medicorum, Fraternite Mondiale, Frequency Modulation or Friars Minor.

Q. A friend argues that more immigrants to Canada settle in the western provinces than in the east. I think it's the other way around. Who's right. A. F.

A. You are. Of 146,000 immigrants who came to Canada in 1965, 113,000 settled in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. Of the West's share, however, B.C. took more than half, almost 19,000. This is still only one-quarter the number making Ontario their home.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

CANADA COUNCIL

Fellowship Of $5,000 For Artist

A Victoria artist has been awarded a $5,000 senior Canada Council fellowship for study of print techniques in Europe, Eastern Canada and the United States.

Pat Martin Bates, 959 Clent, whose work is widely known and exhibited in North America, says she will use the grant to "investigate different approaches" used in workshops and art schools she visits.

WINNER

Mrs. Martin Bates, married to Lieut, C. A. Bates of the Queen's Own Rifles, has won several awards for her paintings, prints, collages and drawings, notably a Canadian Society of Painter-Etchers and Engravers award and an Ingram-Merril scholarship.

A former teacher at the University of Vicoria, she has an exhibition of the work in May in Montreal.

Fog Delays Arrival Of California Envoys

Fog in Seattle caused Mayor Ed McCoubrey of Palm Springs, California, to miss his lunch at the Union Club today.

Mayor McCoubrey, along with Jerry Hunt, general manager of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, was to have been the luncheon guest of the B.C. government.

With fog delaying the take-off from Seattle airport the visiting dignitaries were due to arrive sometime this afternoon.

While in the city Mayor McCoubrey will discuss with government and civic officials the suggestion that Palm Springs and Victoria become sister cities in the tourist business.

If the plan meets no objections Victoria will launch a campaign to encourage its citizens to go south to Palm Springs for winter vacations, while Palm Springs will encourage its citizens to spend their long hot summers in pleasanter Victoria.

'Gross Contempt' Driver Jailed

A man caught twice in the same week driving while his licence was under suspension was jailed for three months today.

George Emsley, 24, of 1205 Juno, had shown "a gross contempt" for the law, said Magistrate Byers in passing sentence.

City police stopped Emsley's car on Blanshard Feb. 25 and again on Yates Street March 4.

HAVE WE GOT NEWS FOR THEM!

California, Here We Come...on the March

By GLEN ALLEN

Boy, is California in trouble.

Announcement that a delegation of Palm Springs civic elders is en route to Victoria to cement tourist and trade ties, has brought a long pent-up roar of outrage from a local historian.

Or call it a declaration of war.

Maritime museum trustee A. G. "Lofty" Coning, keeper of a 400-year-old secret, says California legally, historically and morally actually belongs to Victoria.

"Well to the British Empire, anyway," says Mr. Coning a tall, usually good-humored sage of maritime history.

"These California people have been getting away with this 'you visit us and we'll visit you" nonsense altogether too long."

"California, mountains, surf, desert and even (ugh) Hollywood, belongs to us — and I've got proof."

His "proof" is a five by eight-inch brass plaque at the museum here from the hand of Sir Francis Drake.

Made in 1578, and found cn a shore near San Francisco a few years ago, it reads — (if you can make out its exotic spelling):

"Be it knowne unto all men by these presents — By the grace of God and in the name of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth of England for ever I take possession of this kingdom whose king and peoples freely resign their right and title in the whole land unto her Majesties' keeping. Now named by me and to bee knowne to all men as Nova Albion. — Francis Drake.

"Drake landed near San Francisco to repair the Golden Hind," says Mr. Coning and was the first European in California. This claim stands."

"I think we should send a delegation ourselves and not such a friendly one — and to let them know we still hold the option.

"Better yet, once we get our services either integrated or non-integrated we should send a task force south.

"I wonder if 'California Here I Come' makes a good march?"

A. G. CONING
. . . "This is war!"

Ex-Minister PM Aide Here Tonight

One of Canada's elder statesmen, and one of its outstanding young men in politics, will take part in a seminar tonight at the University of Victoria.
nial affairs minister, and Pierre-

Howard Green, former exter-
Elliot Trudeau, parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson, will appear in the third event of the Canada 99 series.

They will discuss Canada's role in international affairs. The seminar, open free to the public, will start at 8 p.m. in the Students' Union Building.

SMOKE AND HEAT blackened and chipped plaster at top of stairs leading to Victoria High School attic area. Firemen found smoke intense, required fans and masks before they could get at the fire. Water damaged ceilings of third floor but classrooms were almost unhurt. Old slate tile roof had to be wrecked as holes were chopped for ventilation and hoses. Oak Bay sent firemen to assist city crews, while students watched. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

VIC HIGH FIRE 'SHORTS'

Arson Eyed in School Blaze

SCOOP for editor of Victoria Senior Secondary School newspaper was claimed by Camosunette editor Allard Van Veen, 17. He came to school early for a meeting, went to fourth floor and was surrounded by smoke and ash. He found the attic in flames and raced to turn in the alarm. He says it was second fire in paper storeroom in recent months. Staff and students doused last one. (Times photo by Irving Strickland.)

The possibility of arson in the fire which closed Victoria High School today will be fully investigated.

An official of the fire marshal's office at Vancouver will head the probe, it was unofficially learned at presstime today.

Fire officials here had no comment on whether there were any indications of arson, but one official confirmed it is always considered in school fires.

* * *

The aura of tragedy which surrounded Victoria High as firemen swung into action this morning was heightened by a heavy mist. Before they were able to claim the battle won, the sun came out. Amid the smoke pouring from the rooftop could be seen the Canadian flag, flying sadly at half mast. But the grieving flag was denoting the passing Sunday of Canadian Governor-General Georges Vanier.

* * *

Teachers circulated among students watching the school fire on Fernwood, Grant and Gladstone at 8:30 a.m., telling them they could go home. The teachers themselves were told to return at noon. Later it was announced regular classes will begin again Tuesday morning.

* * *

Some of the youngsters greeted the closing announcement with cheers. Others were singing their school song. Most wandered off before the excitment was over. Most of those who stayed appeared relieved the damage was not worse.

* * *

A school fire is a nightmare for firemen at any time. Today's had the advantage that it was reported before the student body assembled for classes. But it also came while city firemen were mopping up another fire at a shingle mill.

That's why Oak Bay was called up for help. It was the first time since the destruction of two city churches almost simultaneously in 1960 that so much extra equipment was required.

* * *

Victoria High School's main building was built in 1914. There were three previous schools by that name in Victoria and it ranks as the oldest high school in British Columbia. The first was built in 1876 on Yates Street.

The present school was described as a "handsome brick biulding" when it was opened May 1, 1914, by Lieutenant-Governor Thomas V. Patterson for 600 students. There are 1,331 today.

* * *

The roof was constructed of slate tiles, a rarity in construction today. About 25 to 30 squares of tile were wrecked in today's fire. Some old tile was saved when the old Central School was demolished. Building and grounds supervisor R. H. Smith said these old tiles might fit the job.

If they don't it might be necessary to obtain more from Vermont.

Neither school nor fire officials were prepared to place a dollar value on the damage inflicted by the fire until after insurance investigations are completed.

"What about my personal possessions — my oboe, my clothes, my books?" asked a student during the fire. Is there any insurance protection for losses by students or teachers? School district superintendent Joseph Chell was unable to answer the question immediately but promised to look into the matter.

* * *

M. A. Hinton, a specialist in alcohol education from Vancouver arrived at Vic High this morning to begin a course of instruction. He arrived almost simultaneously with the fire department. He walked up to the front door, took in the scene and commented, "I guess I'd better go home again."

COME BACK AT NOON, said Victoria High principal Duncan Lorimer, extreme right, to a group of teachers at classtime today. They arrived to find school afire. Students waited on sidewalks outside grounds until teachers circulated and told them they could go home. Most classrooms will be back in use Tuesday. Temporary patches will cover roof damage. WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

'Your Marriage Should Be Beginning of Long Romance

Marriage should be the beginning rather than the end of romance. However, the relationship between husband and wife is so subtle that unless real thought and effort are spent on its cultivation, the strains and stresses of everyday life may make routine what began as an ardent alliance.

Lowman

Many psychologists believe that generally speaking, men are more romantic than women. However, I feel sure that women are better fitted by nature for the job of keeping romance alive. They usually have more tact, more finesse, and more talent in creating a pleasant atmosphere. They are more aware of the little niceties which add charm to daily life. They are probably more perceptive and intuitive concerning the moods and needs of others.

Then too, a woman's husband, children, and home are, if not her whole life, at least the most important part of her life. Why then do some women settle down on marriage like a hen on a nest?

In some instances it may be because a woman married more for the security of a home and for a family than because of a great love. In most instances this probably happened because life became so complex and busy that the woman lost sight of herself as an individual and therefore, lost sight of the importance of her companionship with her husband.

Often the relationship between husband and wife begins to deteriorate when the first child arrives. Of course, the opposite should be true! However, motherhood is such a tremendous experience and so demanding as well as heartwarming, that this can easily happen unless the wife and mother gets things in focus. Without realizing it and with the best intentions, many women begin putting the children first and the husband second in their consideration and the way they plan their lives.

This is a terrific mistake because children are only loaned to us for a few years. In what seems like just a very short time, they will leave home and go out into the world to lead their own lives and build their future and find their happiness.

I know that this is a mistake because I receive thousands of letters from women who feel that life is over, that they are no longer needed, when the last child leaves home. They have lost the feeling of rapport with their husbands, and it is a shock to discover that the children were the main band between them. Marriage shoud mean shared laughter as well as shared tears.

Now, before you write me those letters, let me go on record as saying, that I realize it takes two to build a wonderful companionship. The husband must also be willing and eager to invest time and consideration in the project. A woman could be lovely to see, fun to be with, an expert in thrift, understanding and thoughtfulness and it would all be wasted on some men, and what a waste it is! However, I think that most men respond enthusiastically when they are not taken for granted by their wives.

If you feel that your marriage is not as you had hoped it would be, my leaflet "Keeping Romance Alive" may be of help. If you would like to have it, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Nothing Will Match This Ideal Lighter

By Penny Saver

I've often heard stories about modern day "Robinson Crusoes" who, during a hunting or fishing trip, find they've left some necessity behind and must stretch their ingenuity to the hilt to make up for the missing item. My neighbor and I were practically reduced to tears of laughter during an "over-the-fence chat" the other day. She was telling me of a trip her husband and his friend took to the family's old cabin at an up-Island lake. The pair spent the two days huddled miserably in the cabin. It rained the whole weekend—and the cabin's roof leaked. Trying to keep warm, they were about to build a fire until they discovered that neither of them had brought anything to light it with.

Both are covered with mustard plaster now, taking all kinds of cough and sniffle remedies. Every now and then, my neighbor says she hears a disgusted grunt from her hubby and he looks at the little "get-well" gift that she gave him.

This little item is a "permanent match" that's perfect for all household and outdoor needs. It resembles an ordinary lighter and it uses lighter fluid as fuel. The metal "match" fits tightly inside the base and to use, you simply strike it on the side of the lighter.

Another special feature of these lighters, which sell for $1.39 in one shop, is the design. They have our province's Centennial Sam 'n' Sue painted on the side.

Obviously, my neighbor's husband likes his new handy lighter. She just dropped in to show me a dainty little dish of fine china that he just added to her collection.

My neighbor has been saving these Irish china pieces for years. Her new addition is in a creamy white shade with soft pink accents. It's in a rounded heart shape, and price is $4.25 in this shop. Pieces of this exquisite china are perfect for gift items. There are various patterns and hues to choose from, including pieces with rich gold highlights.

Drop in and browse in this shop, and be sure to have a close look at this dainty china. If you want to know where it is, give me a call at 382-3131.

Does Friend Tip Waiter He Knows?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Ours is a very odd problem and I hope you can help us with it. My wife and I have a friend who is a waiter in a place where we dine occasionally.

We would like to know if it is proper to tip this waiter in the usual manner when he waits on us? Because we are friends, do you think it might be considered poor taste? Thank you.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: When in doubt, offer a tip. You will know at once by your friend's reaction if he is genuinely offended. If he is, give in immediately and don't attempt to tip again.

Better to make the mistake of offering a tip when none is expected than failing to offer one when it is. (P.S. I would appreciate the opinions of waiters and waitresses who have been on the other end of this problem. I could be wrong.)

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps my experience will be helpful to the young mother who was told it would be "bad luck" to name her baby after his brother who had died in infancy.

I was named for my brother who lived only 14 months, and I have been very lucky. Some years ago when I visited the cemetery where he is buried and saw "our" name on his tiny granite headstone with the words "Born December 17, 1890. Died February 6, 1892" a strange feeling came over me. I felt that I had lived the life he never lived.

Today I am 74 and it will not be long before I shall join the brother whose name I bear. And when we meet I shall salute him and say, "Well, Ted, I did the best I could for both of us."

GRATEFUL

DEAR ABBY: For the mother who wanted to give her newborn child the same name she had given to a previous child who had died in infancy:

I am sure it has been done by many who were eager to pass their name on to a member of the younger generation. One famous case comes to mind: The late Franklin Delano Roosevelt named a son "Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr." but that child did not survive. Later another son was born, and he was given that name.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

Because of pant suits and straight hairdos, it's sometimes difficult to separate the girls from the boys. This is why I cast a vote for the coming trend toward figure-flattering dresses, feminine fabrics, hair that looks like hair. It may have been fun to look kooky, but down through the ages femininity has always won out.

What is femininity, anyway? Learn to recognize the signs. Lace, for example. Anything softly ruffly. The shimmer of silk. Velvet. A scented hankie. It's the way you look, your eyes, your voice, a smile that says, "I enjoy being a girl."

Talk like a girl. Keep screeches of laughter or anger to an absolute minimum. Your voice should be soft, low, well-modulated. Try to make it sound as if it's smiling.

Walk like a girl. Don't clump along like a member of "Mule Train." Sit like a girl should, keeping knees close together and legs slightly to one side. If your skirt length permits you to cross your legs, do it sedately.

If you're married, employ your most feminine touches. Straighten up the house before your husband comes home. Slip into a fresh frock or hostess gown. Spray on some perfume. Put candles and flowers on the table. He's sure to appreciate your efforts.

Listening is a very feminine art, too. The next time a member of the opposite sex begins a long dissertation on the stock market or the latest baseball game, force yourself to look interested. Keep your eyes on his face. Compliment him on his superior knowledge. Ask questions.

To help develop your femininity even further, remember your manners. Show genuine appreciation for courtesies received.

It's hard, in our high-key modern world, not to be aggressive. But it's not very pretty to see two women screaming like fishwives over who was first in line. Or to watch the pushing and shoving that goes on in subways and buses. Try to remain a lady, no matter what the situation.

Take Time Off Your Hands!

Every Woman May Now Quickly

LIFT HER FACE OUT OF WINTER LINES, WRINKLES and Aging DRYNESS

...thanks to the "Wiesbaden Discovery" CEF-600

Helps Every Complexion Regain and Retain The Younger Look by Immediately Counteracting Effects of Winter's Icy Grip

No matter if your skin is typed dry, normal or even oily ... no matter whether you enjoy being outdoors or prefer indoor protection ... both frigid arctic air and overheated dry rooms dehydrate, drain skin of water and deprive it of the necessary moisture that pushes skin up and out to keep it as smooth, firm and wrinkle-free as the day you were married. And now, during the social season, when you particularly want to look your youngest best, "old man winter" works overtime to dry out and make your skin on face and neck flabby, sagging, rough, chapped and weatherbeaten. You look and feel years older than your age. And your husband ... it makes him feel older too!

Your Chance for a Quicker Winter Youth

Medical journals have acclaimed the "Wiesbaden Discovery" known scientifically as CEF-600 and now embodied as the active ingredient in the cosmetic-like lotion named "2ND DEBUT." Apply "2ND DEBUT" nightly before retiring and daily before make-up. Day and night, it is constantly carrying water into the skin ... counteracting all the skin drying effects of outside cold and inside overheating that chaps, dries, wrinkles your skin and makes it sag.

How 2ND DEBUT Works Quickly

Once again skin is moisturized, fresh, dewey radiant. Once again those aging lines and wrinkles are pushed up and out. Once again skin on face and throat is smoother and years younger in appearance. No matter how weather beaten your complexion may be, a youth-like color glows from within. Your complexion seems to have been born beautiful. Only 2ND DEBUT can bring about this fantastic skin youthifying miracle ... in spite of winter's drying action!

For Extra Dry Skin—Or Mi-Lady In A Hurry—2ND DEBUT With Double Strength CEF 1200

New DOUBLE STRENGTH 2ND DEBUT contains CEF 1200 instead of CEF 600. It acts much faster to smooth and flatten skin made scaly by winter's icy grip ... and it works quicker to push up and out the more deeply seated lines and wrinkles.

Important To Regular Users of 2ND DEBUT

Particularly in these winter months, in time will your skin revert to the lined and wrinkled condition it was, unless you keep using 2ND DEBUT day and night. Your skin is constantly exfoliating ... old skin flakes off and away and new skin is constantly being born. In winter weather it is more important than ever that you keep applying 2ND DEBUT before retiring and before make-up if you want to retain your soft, smooth youthful looking complexion. Users of 2ND DEBUT with CEF 600 are urged to switch to 2ND DEBUT with CEF 1200 ... double strength and to use it all winter long.

38 DIE ON AIRLINER

Blasts Heard Before Crash

KENTON, Ohio (UPI)—Residents of this northwestern Ohio farm area said they heard one or more explosions Sunday night before a Lake Central Airlines passenger plane plunged into a bean patch, killing all 38 persons aboard.

The airline, which never before had a fatal crash, received a telephone bomb threat last week against another airliner. That threat proved unfounded.

The FBI, which joined other agencies at the crash scene, usually is called in to help make identification of bodies and to investigate the possibility of a bomb explosion. There was no fire at the crash and identification was not expected to be difficult.

FREEZING RAIN

Investigators today combed a snow-covered soybean field for pieces of wreckage and clues to determine why the twin-engine prop jet slammed to earth in a freezing rain.

Last week in Pittsburgh an anonymous caller warned a bomb had been planted on a Lake Central plane that had taken off from that city. A search of the plane was made at Youngstown, Ohio, but no bomb was found.

The crash occurred about eight miles northeast of here on a farm owned by Charles Redding. The scene was sealed off while the wreckage, scattered over an area a mile wide, was searched by FBI agents, the state highway patrol and a 12-member team from the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Most of the dead were still strapped in their seats.

Air Crash Kills 56 In Liberia

MONROVIA, Liberia (CP) — A Brazilain airliner carrying 89 persons crashed into a plantation settlement while trying to land at Monrolia's International Airport Sunday, killing 65 persons including five Liberian villagers.

There were 38 survivors, officals reported, including a U.S. serviceman returning on leave from Vietnam.

The four-engined DC-8 jetliner of Varig Airlines carried 70 passengers and a crew of 19. Revising earlier casualty figures, the Rome office of the airline said 50 passengers and one crew member were killed while 20 passengers and 18 crew members survived.

The plane plunged into the plantation workers' village two miles short of the runway while attempting a landing in fog.

Wings and engines sheared off as the plane destroyed two mud huts, and burst into flames before slithering to a halt beside a church.

Survivors — mainly from the front and rear compartments — jumped to safety, then returned to help others out of the battered fuselage.

Venezuela Freedoms Suspended

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The Venezuelan government, reacting to the terrorist slaying of ex-social security chief Julio Iribarren Borges, decided Saturday to suspend constitutional freedoms only 48 hours after they had been restored.

The body of Iribarren Borges, 56, the brother of Venezuela's foreign minister, was found Friday night in a gully outside Caracas. Officials said he had been shot to death and cigarette burns on his legs indicated he had been tortured.

Authorities blamed a pro-Castro underground organization for the slaying.

The decision to again suspend the constitutional guarantees was announced after a Cabinet session called by President Raul Leoni. Interior Minister Reinal do Leandro Mora said the move would stop "armed adventurism inspired by foreign ideas and fed from abroad by dictatorship."

'WILLPOWER' ANSWER TO MISUSE OF DRUGS

TORONTO (CP)—The best means of limiting the use of such drugs as LSD is willpower, Health Minister MacEachen said here Saturday.

Legislation against the drug would be like trying "to stuff a statute book in a vacuum that can only be filled by the exercise of personal responsibility," he said.

The minister told the centennial banquet of the International Order of Alhambra that the same thing applied to the "bizarre and dangerous" practice of glue-sniffing.

In fact, he said, it aplied to smoking, drinking and overeating.

"Should the government make smoking an offence?"

"I think not," Mr. MacEachen said. It was the government's task to inform and to educate and, in some cases, to pass legislation "to lessen some of the temptations".

Water, Gas Hazards Outlined by Planner

Don't sleep in your basement; if the water doesn't get you, the gas might.

That's advice contained in the annual report of Oak Bay planner G. O. White.

He cited an instance in the recent storm of a man getting out of his basement bed and putting his foot down in 15 inches of water.

He recommended to council that because of flooding and because escaping gas collects in basements, sleeping in basements should be prohibited.

He noted that in 1956, basements were flooded and a number of furnace motors were put out of action. These were covered by insurance. But companies have now excluded furnace motors from coverage.

He said it is not desirable that storm sewer capacities should be increased to deal with storms that occur only once in 20 or 30 years.

Inspection of older homes has shown that many people have constructed suites or workshops with equipment which could be damaged by flood. He recommends that council should give publicity to these facts and that if such establishments are flooded, no claim would be entertained.

In the recent flood, 200 calls were received and there were many more complaints which weren't made officially.

School Bands Can Get Tickets

Greater Victoria Centennial Society is aiding the Victoria Symphony Society, and district music and choral students with the purchase of 250 tickets to Verdi's Requiem, March 12 and 13.

Otto Werner-Mueller will conduct the symphony orchestra, the 100-voice choral group and four soloists in the two performances at the Royal Theatre.

AWAITS TELEGRAM ANSWER

'Prove It or Retract' Curtis Tells Bennett

Allegations of misuse of funds by municipalities must be substantiated or retracted, Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis said over the weekend.

In a telegram to Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, the reeve said he views "most seriously" a comment made by Premier Bennett Friday.

The premier, during debate on an amendment to the Municipalities Aid Act, said: "They have been mususing funds — they've caught themselves in their own glue."

Reeve Curtis said he sent the telegram to Mr. Campbell because he is the minister responsible for municipal affairs and the premeir's statement was about municipalities.

This mroning, Mr. Campbell said he has not received the telegram and had no comment.

Reeve Curtis, in his telegram hoped the comment was a hasty one made "in the heat of debate" in which case it should be retracted.

ALL CONDEMNED

But if the comment properly reflected the attitude of the premier and finance minister, "then it is essential that this allegation be supported by facts at the earliest possible monent."

The comment "condemns every level of municipal office," he said.

Mayors, reeves and council members have been ctiticized through innuendo and senior staff officials "through implication" have been charged with "inefficiency and carelessness" in their advice to councils.

SAME TREATMENT

Another view was expressed by Fred Boulter, former Sooke School Board trustee.

He said the premier's remarks reflect what the municipalities say to school boards when these boards present their annual budgets.

"Councils now are getting the same treatment they have been giving to school boards," said Mr. Boulter.

Get away in a Volkswagen Custom for $1798. (Maximum Suggested Retail Price). F.O.B. Port of Entry.

Get away cheap.

The trick to enjoying a vacation is to spend your money where you spend your vacation. And not in the car getting there.

In this respect, the Volkswagen is very tricky. It averages 32 miles on a gallon of gas. Regular gas. Hardly ever needs oil between changes. And goes about 35,000 miles on a set of tires.

The end result, a Volkswagen that can get you from Montreal to Miami Beach for $35.60. Or from Toronto to Banff for $44.36. Or from Vancouver to Expo for $59.46.

On the Volkswagen Family Plan, your wife and kids ride free.

Some other reasons for putting it all behind you in a Volkswagen:

(1) The Volkswagen engine is in the back of the car. It presses down on the drive wheels to give you superior traction in snow. (You can't get to Banff if you can't get out of your driveway.)

(2) The Volkswagen's rear-mounted engine is air-cooled. So you never buy anti-freeze. And you never start a vacation hiring a rent-a-car because your engine block is cracked. There's nothing in a VW engine to freeze up. Or to boil over in Acapulco.

Hungarian Composer Kodaly Dies

ZOLTAN KODALY
. . . used folk melodies

BUDAPEST (AP) — Zoltan Kodaly, 84, the grand old man of Hungarian music and one of the foremost living composers, died today, the official Hungarian news agency MTI reported.

With the late Bela Bartok, Kodaly in the early years of the 20th century toured Hungary recording more than 6,000 folk melodies which formed the basis of Kodaly's compositions and played a large part in Bartok's.

Kodaly was best known in North America for his suite from his opera Harry Janos, the story of a Hungarian peasant equivalent of Baron Munchhausen, and for his Psalmus Hungaricus, for orchestra, chorus, soloists and organ.

He revolutionized music education in Hungary, developing a system of teaching by hand symbols, games and pictures with which thousands of children were taught to read and sing complex scores easily.

Kodaly was twice awarded the Kossuth Prize, Hungary's top cultural award, and Dec. 15, 1952, the day before his 70th birthday, Hungary's Communist government awarded him the order of merit, 1st grade, and the rank of "excellent artist."

Police Must Be Tough, Probe Told

Tolerant policemen are a luxury citizens cannot afford, Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council president Pat Belcher said Friday.

He was reading a brief from the council to the royal commission on automobile insurance in which he criticized leniency toward traffic offenders.

Policemen are engaged first of all to enforce the law, he said.

"We cannot afford the luxury of a tolerant attitude towards traffic offences or to provide a personalized warning ticket service for negligent motorists," Mr. Belcher said.

The brief asked for changes in driver licensing, traffic law enforcement and driver training law, and asked for periodic medical examinations for drivers.

Suspect Remanded

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Wallace Bauman, 22, was remanded to Tuesday on $5,000 bail on a charge of possessing 306 tablets of LSD for the purpose of trafficking. The prosecution alleges the pills were worth $6,000 on the illicit market.

BEATLES NOT AT TOP YET, SAYS BRITAIN'S WHO'S WHO

LONDON (Reuters) — The Beatles and Mary Quant, an internationally-known dress designer, do not rate as top people in the latest edition of Britain's Who's Who.

Although the Queen honored them last year for helping to establish Britain's modern image abroad, they were still missing from the 400 pages of celebrities in the volume's 119th edition.

A spokesman for the Beatles said the "boys are not particularly concerned about that kind of recognition."

But Richard Lester, the American movie director who helped the Beatles to screen success in A Hard Day's Night and Help, was listed for the first time.

CONNERY GETS IN

So was Sean Connery, the Scottish actor widely known for his film roles as James Bond.

Veteran designer Cecil Beaton was the only fashion photographer officially recognized. He rated an exceptional 43 lines for achievements, including his staging of the movie and stage musical My Fair Lady.

New entries in Who's Who are chosen annually by the publishers, A. and C. Black.

Their biggest headache is people who show early brilliance in their careers and then faded from the scene.

"Once names are entered in the volume they are not erased until the person dies," said a spokesman. "This rule can cause embarrassment."

HOME GARDEN

Bells Ready to Ring at Easter

By HILDA BEASTALL

Hilda

Every day as we search in the garden beds and borders we find another half dozen plants thrusting their spring growth upwards.

And without even a search we can find leaf and blossom buds unfolding on trees and shrubs.

Fortunate it is that cool nights have held back new shoots so that they gradually strengthen, instead of becoming rampantly soft as they might in showery and mild weather.

The tall, showy Crown-imperials (Fritillaria imperialis) have their yellow or orange-red bells ready to ring for Easter, many varieties of daffodils will be at their best in three weeks time, early tulips will be adding their color, and the easy-to-grow rock-covering aubrieta, arabis and alyssum will be starting their display.

Just when all these things are most attractive, we shall be able to enjoy a display of a different calibre, though basically allied to it.

This will be the annual show of the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society on April 7 and 8.

We look forward to this show each year for it brings together in competition, plants which by their nature are not seen at other flower shows.

We see native woodland and bog plants, a wide range of the early, primulas and ferns, all hardy material for our local gardens if the conditions there are made suitable.

We see also the rarer alpine plants and those true dwarf shrubs so right for rock gardens when they are correctly placed.

Each plant exhibited in the specimen classes bears a name label thus avoiding any chance of confusion for the newcomer or beginner wishing to add these treasures to his own garden.

A reminder will appear again nearer the show time, but meanwhile, mark the April calendar for this show on the 7th and 8th at the Memorial Hall, Christ Church Cathedral.

WANT STATION IN AUSTRALIA

Russians Seek Network To Track Space Vehicles

By THOMAS O'TOOLE
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Russians may be trying to extend their space tracking network into Australia.

If Australia agrees, it would bt the first time the Soviets have turned to the "West" for help in their space program.

More important, it could well be the first phase of a Russian effort to build up a global space tracking network along the lines of the one operated by the United States.

In its Periscope section this week, Newsweek Magazine reports that the Soviets have proposed building a tracking station in Western Australia. The magazine says the government of Prime Minister Harold Hole is "very interested in the suggestion."

For more than 400 million dollars the U.S. has built up a space tracking network that allows engineers to track and talk with spacecraft over almost any part of the globe. The largest stations in the U.S. network allow tracking and communication as far away as Mars and Venus.

In this network are stations in seven states, including Alaska and Hawaii. Besides those, the U.S. has stations on Bermuda and Antigua in the Caribbean, Ascension Island in the South Atlantic, the Canary Islands off the west coast of Africa, the large island republic of Malagasy in the Indian Ocean and Guam and Canton in the Pacific.

Tracking stations are also located in Spain, South Africa, Australia and Mexico, where they are operated under a partnership arrangement between the U.S. and the host nation.

Outside their own borders, the Russians are thought to have access only to small tracking stations, some of which can be used only to visually track satellites, not listen to their radio signals or send them radio commands. These stations are located in the eastern bloc nations, in the African nation of Mali, in the United Arab Republic and possibly in Cuba.

On manned missions, the Soviets have beefed up their network with ocean-going tracking ships — as many as 10 of them scattered across the Pacific and even into the Atlantic and Indian Oceans.

In contrast, the U.S. used only three tracking ships on manned Gemini missions, and plans to use no more than four for early Apollo flights.

A fleet of tracking vessels the size of the Soviet fleet might cost as much as 300 million dollars to build and another 50 million to 100 million dollars a year to operate, especially in years of multi-manned missions. Shipboard tracking is also an inefficient way to communicate with orbiting spacecraft — normal rolling of the ship sometimes interferes with the way signals are sent and received.

For these reasons alone, the Russians may have finally decided to expand their ground-based tracking network.

If they have, the Russian proposal to build a jointly owned and operated Australian station is just the beginning. From Australia, it might want to locate a ground station in the mid-Pacific, either in the New Zealand-owned Cook Islands or French Polynesia.

From there, the Soviets' most logical move would be eastward, to South America, then on across the Atlantic to West Africa.

The biggest stumbling block to Soviet expansion of its space tracking network are the Soviets themselves, who have long been reluctant to share any part of their space program with a foreign nation, especially one in the west.

But at least part of that mentality vanished when the Soviets signed the United Nations treaty on the peaceful uses of outer space last month. In the treaty is an article (No. 10) declaring that "to promote international co-operation," nations shall consider any request by another nation to build a space tracking station on its soil, provided the request is reasonable and the cost of constructing the station is shared equitably.

Doctors Found Guilty

NAPLES (AP) — An Italian appeals court Sunday found two doctors and a nurse guilty of causing deaths of three children and a woman by using deteriorated blood in transfusions in 1960. The court ordered prison sentences of 15 months for each of the defendants but suspended them under an amnesty.

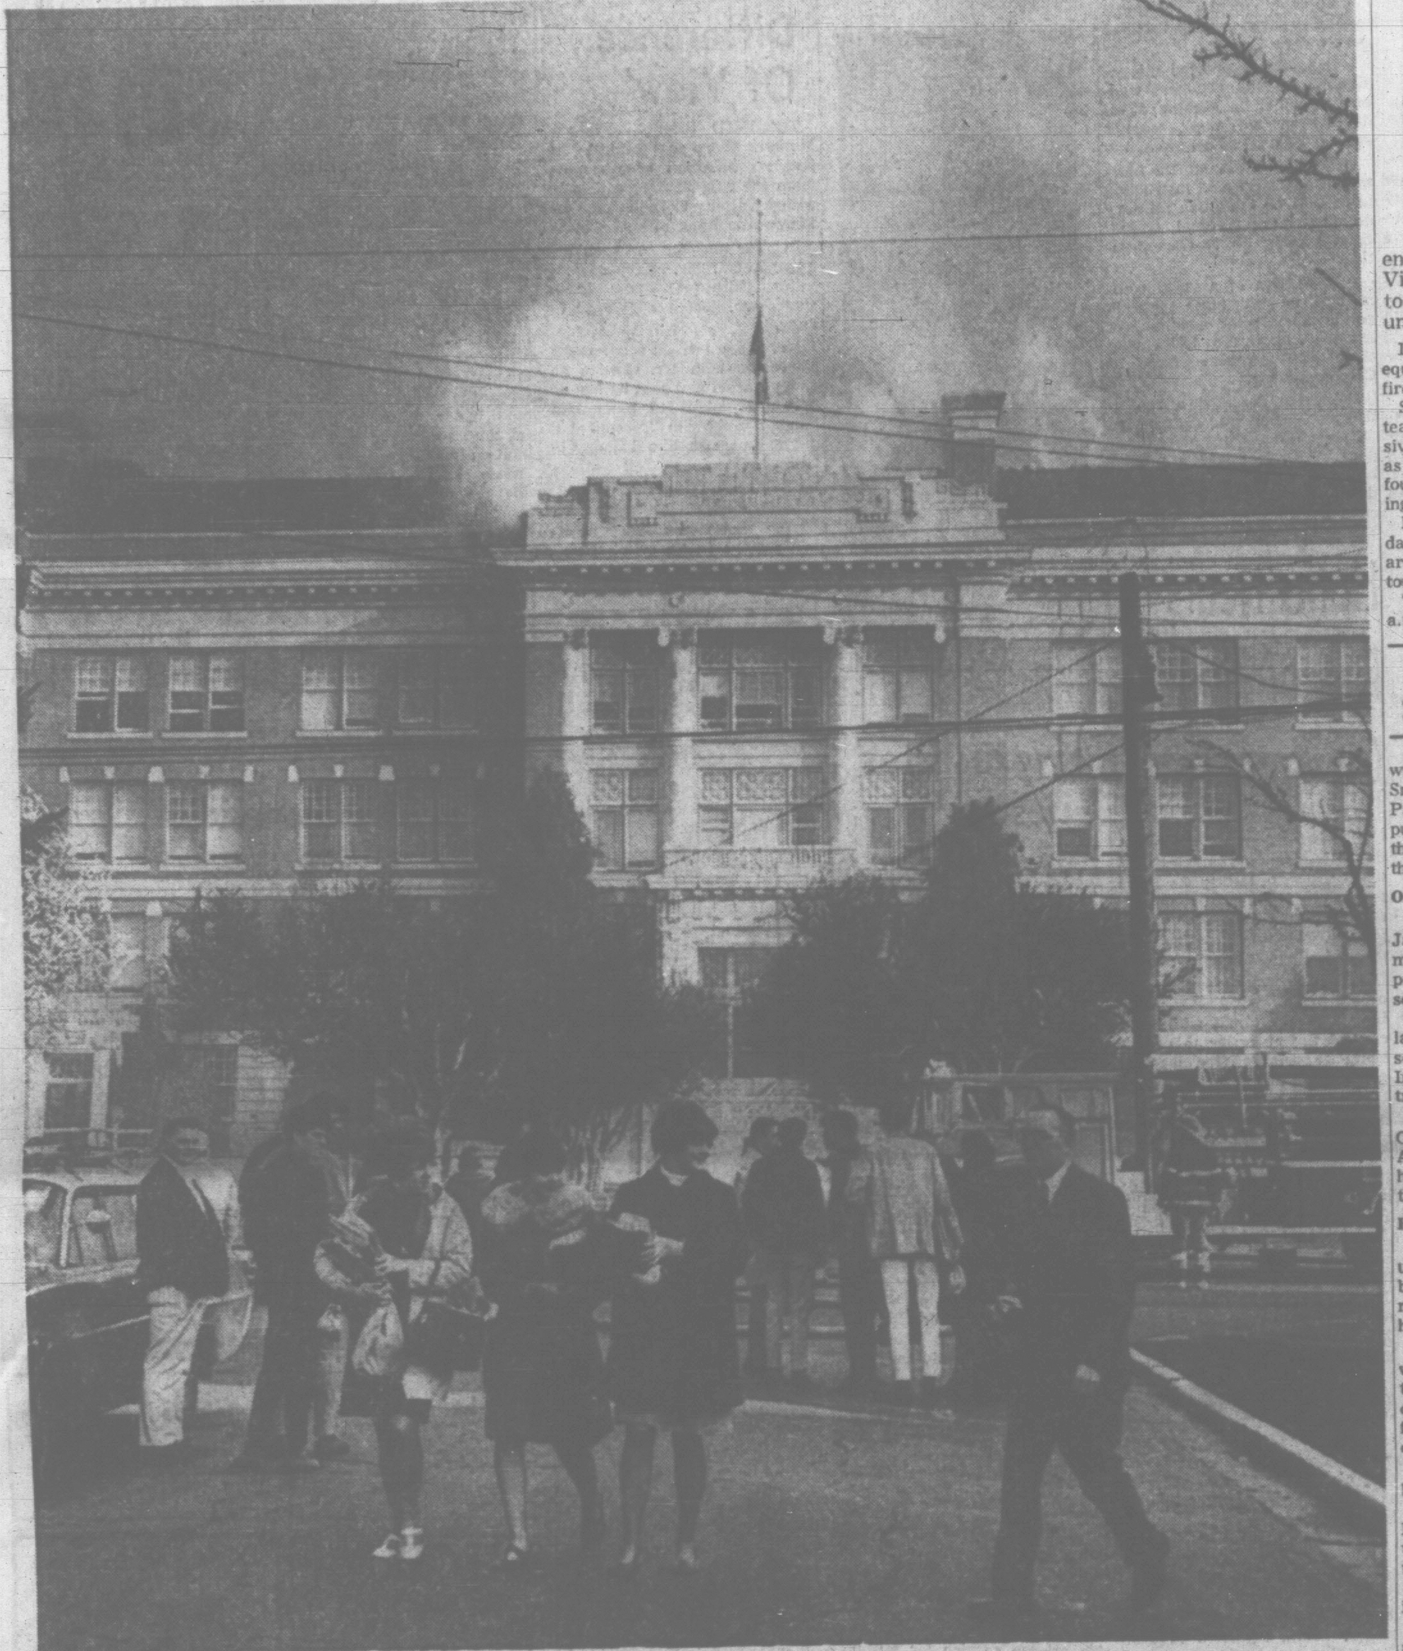
Fire Sends Students Home



CROWN OF SMOKE covered roof of four-storey Victoria High School this morning. Students arrived to find array of city and Oak Bay fire trucks surrounding school and a smouldering fire eating through attic areas. Youngsters were sent home until Tuesday. Damage in class areas was light, attic storage area was charred and blackened and rare slate tiled roof suffered when firemen battered holes for ventilation and hoses. Flag flies dolefully at half mast for Governor-General Vanier, who died Sunday. (Times Photo.)

Vic High Attic Burns

By PETE LOUDON

A smouldering fire blackened the attic areas of Victoria High School early today, closing it for classes until Tuesday.

It drew the greatest array of equipment marshalled for any fire in Victoria's recent history.

Some 1,400 students and teachers watched apprehensively from the school grounds as smoke billowed high over the four storey historic brick building.

No one was injured. And while damage was heavy, teaching areas were left almost untouched.

The fires was reported at 8:10 a.m. while Victoria firemen were already fighting a fire at Smith's Cedar Products. (See Page 21) A service truck and a pump which had been in use there were immediately sent to the school.

OAK BAY CALLED

Equipment was sent in from James Bay. Oak Bay department was called and sent a pump truck and crew, then a service truck.

An aerial truck fired its metal ladders to the school's roof. A service ambulance was sent in. In a matter of minutes eight trucks surrounded the school.

Two hoses were taken in the Grant Street main entrance. About a dozen early students helped firemen wrestle them up three flights of stairs.

HOLES CUT

Two more hoses were hoisted up the sheer front of the building to ventilators on the roof where firemen hacked holes in the slate tiles.

They said the attic was black with smoke and to find the fire they had to ventilate the area, create a draft to make the flames come to life so they could see and isolate the fire.

Fans and smoke masks were brought into use.

It was 9 a.m. before Deputy Fire Chief Carl Coates was able to report, "We've got it now, I think.

"It's a mess but we're lucky it's not worse."

The deserted corridors of the school were puddled by the snaking hoses. Water dripped from the ceiling of the fourth floor. A stairway leading to the attic storage area was white with broken plaster, black with

GOVERNOR-GENERAL VANIER

DIES AT 78

State Funeral Set for 'Vanier

OTTAWA (CP)—Georges Philias Vanier, the frail white-haired and keen-witted army general who in 1959 became Canadas' second native-born head of state, died peacefully in his bedroom at Rideau Hall Sunday.

He was stricken by a heart seizure even as three heart specialists were assessing the results of tests taken last Wedneday to determine whether the 78-year-old Governor - General was fit for the gruelling schedule of Centennial Year ceremonies due to begin next month.

A state funeral here Wednesday and a simple service in Quebec City Thursday will be held for Governor-General Vanier. He will be buried later in the chapel of the Royal 22nd Regiment at the Citadel in Quebec.

Until the 11 a.m. state funeral Wednesday at the Basilica here, his body will lie in state in the mourning-draped Senate chamber where government officials, foreign dignitaries and the general public may pay their respects.

The body of Gen. Vanier was to be taken from Rideau Hall with a mounted RCMP escort to Parliament Hill later today.

At the request of the Vanier family, the state funeral service at the Basilica will be ecumenical. It will be conducted either by Maurice Cardinal Roy or Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger with participation of representatives of other Christian denominations.

TO TELEVISE FUNERAL

The family has given approval for full television coverage of state funeral services in the Basilica here.

Following services in Quebec City's Notre Dame Basilica, the body will be placed in the church crypt until a place is prepared in the Citadel chapel.

The Senate and Commons met at 2:30 p.m. today and adjourned to Thursday afternoon after paying tribute to General Vanier.

Prime Minister Pearson said the Governor-General told him Friday that he would not be able to continue in office during Centennial Year.

The Prime Minister told all hushed House of Commons that the Governor-General's health would not have been able to sustain the rigorous pressures of the Centennial celebration.

The Prime Minister said he immediately tried to think of some way of maintaining General Vanier's association with the historic celebration.

"What we should do is give you some position which would involve nothing to tax your

There's Gnawing at Vitals Of PCs From Within: Dief

(See Page 20)

VANCOUVER (CP) — Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker lashed out at the Liberals, stressed the need for party loyalty and proposed new policies Saturday as Davie Fulton and George Hees listened.

He assailed the "mercenaries" he said were trying to undermine him and drive the party to "suicide."

But in speaking to reporters later at the British Columbia Progressive Conservative Association convention he declined to say whether he would stand for re-election as party leader.

He was not ready to announce his intentions "at this time or for some time to come."

Questioned about his reference at the start of his speech to "fellow candidates" — Mr. Hees and Mr. Fulton sat at the head table with him—Mr. Diefenbaker was noncommital.

Did this mean he was going to be a candidate at the September leadership convention in Toronto?

"If you want to interpret it that way, you are entirely on your own," said the Tory chief.

"It only deepened the mystery," commented Mr. Fulton when asked for his interpretation of Mr. Diefenbaker's speech.

The 600 B.C. Conservatives gave their national leader three standing ovations as he warned the party that unity was vital and "you don't build a party by placing mercenaries in the front seats."

"The Conservative party is tearing itself apart and is in danger of committing political suicide," he said. There is a "gnawing at the vitals of the Conservative party from within."

He said he had remained silent despite personal and other attacks on him from outside and from within the party.

Turning his guns on the Liberals and Prime Minister Pearson, the Opposition leader said Mr. Pearson is going to Washington for talks with President Johnson on the condition that nothing is said about the Vietnam war.

"We need something better than a leader with putty for a spine," he said.

The cabinet was divided three ways in its economic policies, as represented by Walter Gordon, Mitchell Sharp and middle-of-the-roader Paul Martin.

Mr. Diefenbaker also attacked what he called the Liberals' two-nation policy and said Canada is one nation.

He had some words for Defence Minister Hellyer—there's a "Hellyer of a mess" in Ottawa — and repeated that the Conservatives cannot accept his armed forces unification policy.

The development of rapid transit railway lines is vital to Canada and particularly to the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts, he said, and the government should make sure that an extra rail line is built in the west through 99-year loans.

Another resolution urging marketing of liquor by private retailers was approved by a narrow margin.

However, a similar motion urging substantial reforms in liquor legislation, including an

THIEVES STEAL TRUCK LOAD OF WHISKY

MONTREAL (CP)—Thieves hijacked a $50,000 tanker truck loaded with $152,000 worth of bourbon whisky in west-end Montreal early today and were believed headed for Ontario.

The truck, owned by Mercury Tank Lines of Calgary, was stolen from a motel parking lot where drivers Gordon Wyatt, 29, and Vern Funk, 35, both of Calgary, had stopped for the weekend before delivering the liquor today.

The 5,500 gallons of bourbon had been picked up in Bardstown, Ky., Friday.

18 Orphans Killed In Blaze

TANINGES, France (UPI)—A 700 - year - old orphanage which had been scheduled for demolition burned like a tinder box early today, killing at least 18 children trapped by blazing wooden beams.

Thirty-three other children and teachers were injured when burning beams of the massive vaulted roof collapsed. The 28 children and five supervisors were hospitalized, four of the children in serious condition.

The victims ranged in age from 6 to 14.

Officials said the fire raged for almost five hours. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Cries of pain and appeals echoed through the crackling of the fire as the firemen fought the blaze.

The building was a 13th-century cloister that had been converted by the haute - savoie department into a winter orphanage.

The dormitories were all on the top floor of the three-storey building. The blaze spread with alarming rapidity, and the boys panicked. Many leaped from the windows, as did the orphanage director and several of his assistants.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto, Vancouver Slide with Wall St.

Prices on Vancouver and Toronto exchanges slipped lower today following the lead of Wall Street.

New York prices started strongly in fairly active trading but this afternoon blue chips lagged, bringing the Dow Jones average down.

AT VANCOUVER biggest loser of the day was Bata, off .12 to $2.08 in the oils.

In the mines list Brenda lost .10 to $7.30 and Silver Titan was down .07 to $1.51.

Off .04 each to 55 and 36 respectively were Brenmac and Galaxy. San Doh was down .03 to .25.

The industrials were quiet.

AT TORONTO Inco dropped 1¼ to 93¾, MacMillan Bloedel 1 to 28¾ and Alcan and Massey-Ferguson ⅝ each to 33½ and 25⅜. Tamblyn gained 1½ to 25.

Trading fell off as only 1,853,000 shares changed hands by 2 p.m. compared with 2,170,000 at the same time Friday.

As a result of the market's weakness declines outnumbered advances 213 to 155 with 233 issues unchanged.

Western oils slumped as Dome retreated 1½ to 46, Central-Del Rio ½ to 12⅛ and Scurry-Rainbow ⅜ to 24½. Canadian Superior moved up ⅝ to 31½.

Campbell Red Lake declined ¾ to 19 in golds while PGE Explorations added 3 at 75 cents on 309,000 shares in speculative mines.

AT NEW YORK Banquet, a fractional gainer, paced the list on volume, followed by American Motors, up nearly a point, and Pan American World Airways, ahead about 1½.

Losses of a point or so were taken by a variety of leading issues including American Smelting, International Nickel, United Aircraft, Avco and McDonnell Co.

Among Canadian issues, Hudson Bay Mining was up ⅝, Canadian Pacific ¼, Distillers Seagrams ⅛, Granby Mining was down 1½, International Nickel ½, Massey-Ferguson ⅝, Alcan ¾, Walker-Gooderham ¼.

AT MONTREAL prices were fractionally lower.

Noranda fell ¼ to 57½, International Nickel ¾ to 94¼, Husky Oil ⅛ to 13¼, Consolidated Paper one point to 43 and Algoma ⅜ to 24⅜.

AT LONDON the stock market was quiet today. The undertone appeared firm but it was left to company news to provide the few features.

Dollar stocks were mixed. Consolidated paper and Consolidated Mining improved but most Canadian issues moved irregularly around pre-weekend levels. Bank of Nova Scotia and Royal Bank of Canada were firm in mixed Canadian banks. Oil shares were quiet.

Shares Delisted

TORONTO (CP) — Shares of Cariboo Gold Quartz Mining Co. Ltd. have been delisted by the Toronto Stock Exchange at the request of the company.

Increased costs and disappointing ore development resulted recently in closing the mine in British Columbia.
